

RETURN TO WORK

FREIGHT HANDLERS' STRIKE IS AT AN END.

ACCEPT TERMS OF JULY 1

RAILROADS MAKE NO OTHER AGREEMENT.

MEN VOTE TO RESUME WORK

TEAMSTERS ALSO GO BACK AND ACTIVITY REIGNS.

Chicago, July 16.—The Association of Railway General Managers, embracing every road which enters Chicago, have issued the following signed statement:

"All of our old men, not before on hand for work, reported at the freight houses at noon today and were put to work. No conference was held with any committee or otherwise since Tuesday, and no agreement was made with the union or with any committee. The men simply reported for work and they doubtless expect and will receive the pay offered July 1, and which the railroad companies have been willing all along to pay."

VOTED TO RESUME WORK.

Chicago, July 16.—After two days of strife the Chicago freight handlers' strike terminated today in an unqualified victory for the railroads. A meeting of the strikers, presided over by President Curran, resulted in an almost unanimous vote to return to work, leaving the wage scale and other questions for settlement between the men and their respective roads.

At the conclusion of the meeting the strikers went by hundreds to the warehouses to apply for their old positions, and the teamsters who have remained out in sympathy again took up their reins. By noon immense quantities of freight which had been held back for days were being rushed to the railroads, or taken from warehouses and cars. Where stagnation had ruled commercial activity again reigned. Chicago merchants expressed unbounded relief at the termination of hostilities, but they were scarcely less happy than the men themselves, although the strike is estimated to have cost them $10,000,000, to say nothing of the trade that has been permanently lost to them.

The little hall where the meeting of strikers took place was jammed to suffocation, and thousands were unable to obtain entrance. It was a brief meeting, only long enough for an angry speech by Curran and the vote which followed.

CURRAN'S ANGRY WORDS.

"Men," said Curran, "we came out like men; we have acted like men, and we should not go back like sheep, but there has been treachery in our camp. Yesterday, when I was about to use the telephone, the wire got crossed and I heard one of the members of our executive committee talking with a railroad manager. He was encouraging the manager to hold out, for he told him that the strike was almost broken. That is a sample of the faith that has been kept with me. The officials of the truck drivers' union have not kept faith, either, and it seems useless to continue the fight any longer. Shall we go back and ask for our old jobs?"

In this simple form the matter was put to a vote and almost immediately a great chorus of ayes had brought to a peaceful end one of Chicago's most serious and threatening labor situations. It is believed the roads generally will allow the truckers seven cents an hour and minor concessions granted by the proposition of July 1. The proposition accepted by the men was in effect the one given to President Curran by the state board of arbitration earlier in the day, although the proposition in its proper form was not placed before the men.

WILL TAKE OLD MEN BACK.

The railroad managers, when told of the vote to return to work, said that wherever possible the old men would be taken back. A small percentage of the new men, however, will be retained for a time at least. Nowhere was the news of the settlement received with more pleasure than the warehouses where thousands of men, gathered from other points of the various roads to take the places of the strikers, were longing to return to their homes. They had been well fed and given good sleeping quarters, but the big majority of them, being accustomed to the comfort of their homes, were tired of being "herded."

WERE WEDDED AT NOON.

William Earl Flowers, of Sturgis, Mich., and Miss Edna M. Bunker, of Huntington, were united in marriage at noon today, the ceremony being performed at the parsonage of the Wayne street M. E. church, by Rev. A. S. Preston. Accompanying the bride party were the bride's mother and Harry O. Dungan and Miss Maud Murray, of Huntington. Fort Wayne is becoming quite a Green Green for Huntington bride couples. This is the fourth Huntington couple wedded by Rev. Preston within the past few weeks.

WILL MEET TONIGHT.

The special council committee, consisting of Bauer, Glenn and Hoxey, appointed by the committee of the whole last night, will meet tomorrow night to consider the extension clause of the Fort Wayne Traction company's proposed new franchise.

ARE NOT IN THE NEW COMBINE

LOCAL WHOLESALE GROCERS DISCREDIT A STORY.

Fort Wayne Firms Believe Reported Organization is Very Largely Fiction.

So far as can be learned none of the wholesale grocery houses in Fort Wayne are in any way connected with the proposed combination of big wholesale grocery dealers, said to have been organized by Chicago capitalists, with Harlow N. Higginbotham at its head. More than this the Fort Wayne institutions doubt very much whether any such merger has been accomplished.

The new combination, capitalized at $5,000,000 and known as the National Grocer company, was presumed to include all the prominent firms in Illinois, Ohio, Missouri and Michigan. The Fort Wayne wholesale houses questioned today disclaimed any knowledge of the merger and all asserted that they were in no way connected with any such project.

It is learned, however, that several months ago a representative of the plan visited Fort Wayne and endeavored to enlist the sympathy of wholesalers here with the organization and at its earnest solicitation one of the local wholesale houses, A. H. Perfect & Co., sent a representative to New York to attend a preliminary meeting. The result was that the firm decided there was nothing in the proposition and dropped the matter.

DETAILS ARE MEAGER.

St. Paul, July 16.—Telegraph communication with the Red River valley is still interrupted, but a brief telephone conversation with Grand Forks at noon brought the news that the storm was very widespread and did much small damage, which will be heavy in the aggregate, but there is yet no confirmation of the reports that several towns have been destroyed.

MR. BEALL PROMOTED.

Washington, July 16.—Special.—Marion E. Beall, formerly one of the editors of the Fort Wayne Gazette, appointed to the insular division of the war department three years ago, has been promoted to chief of the division of translation and compilation. The promotion was due to merit.

JOSEPH PASSINO DEAD.

Joseph Passino, a pioneer citizen of Fort Wayne and very widely known, died last afternoon at his home, 2115 Lafayette street, at the age of 79 years. Mr. Passino had long been a sufferer from paralysis.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Frank Cox and Catherine Stanger. Archie Otterman and Agnes Burk.

TAKING DOWN THE POLES.

The decided stand taken by the board of works has evidently spurred the Bell Telephone company to a realization that the pole ordinance goes. A force of men was at work today removing the wires from Columbia street and all the poles between Calhoun and Clinton street have been completely stripped.

The Young People's society of Trinity Lutheran church will give an ice cream social Thursday evening, July 17, at the corner of Hoffman and Oakland streets. The Walther League orchestra of the church will furnish music.

DIE IN THE MINE

TWO SCORE LIVES LOST IN THE BIG DALY-WEST.

POWDER MAGAZINES EXPLODE

TERRIBLE CATASTROPHE NEAR PARK CITY, UTAH.

MANY OF DEAD TAKEN OUT

FUMES OF EXPLOSION CAUSED

MOST OF DEATHS.

Park City, Utah, July 16.—Two powder magazines at the 1,200-foot level of the Daly-West mine exploded about 1 o'clock this morning, causing a loss of life variously estimated at from thirty-six to fifty.

The latest message from the mine by telephone says that up to 10 o'clock thirty-three bodies had been recovered.

THE DEAD.

The following is a list of the dead:

At the Ontario—Geo. Garvin. William Swevel. Chris. Saderrup. Steve Baratti. Charles Neime. W. F. Thomas. At the Daly West—Thomas A. Kelly. R. Jackman. J. B. Kindall. John Featherstone. John Gill. William Lane. C. E. Nelson. John Gablin. Harry Gablin. Wm. Sims. John Maloney. Ike Crowley. John McAniff. John Lively. John McGurvin. Chris. Collen. John Burg. W. A. Wigland. James Murnin. Richard Dillon. Pat O'Neill. Peter Haran. Charles McLinden. Thomas McKee. Mike Conlon. John Ertum. John McKeaglin.

MORE BODIES IN THE MINE.

Officials of the Daly-West state that only three more bodies are in the mine. Miners, however, assert that there are twelve or fifteen still unaccounted for.

The fumes from the explosion were overpowering and caused most of the deaths. Several miners were recovered in a half-dazed condition. These were all brought out through the Ontario mine shaft, which is a mile distant from the Daly-West, in which the explosion occurred. The 1,200 level of the Daly-West corresponds to and is connected by tunnel with the 800 level of the Ontario.

In the Daly-West mine between 100 and 150 men were at work. In the Ontario were nearly 100, it is believed.

TWO POWDER MAGAZINES.

There are two powder magazines at the 1,200 level of the Daly-West, one at each side of the shaft, with a capacity of from one to two cars of powder each. A car of powder was added to the supply within the past few days.

The explosion, which occurred at 1 o'clock, was so tremendous that it awakened everyone within a radius of miles. As an example of its awful force, it is said that two horses in the ore tunnel one and a half miles away were killed by it.

Women and children are thronging to the Ontario shaft house, which is midway between Park City and the Daly-West. Nearly all of them have husbands or fathers in the mines and their grief is pitiable. All of the doctors in town are at the mines. They are doing what they can to resuscitate the unconscious men as they are taken out, but it is difficult to obtain information down town, as the telephone to the mine has failed.

A RESCUER DIES.

Members of the relief party who went into the Ontario mine shortly after the explosion occurred have not yet returned and fears are entertained for their safety.

McKeaglin was one of the rescuers who went down the second time to help and died on being brought to the surface. He was asphyxiated.

Eight miners escaped through the Anchor tunnel unhurt.

SLUMP OF DALY-WEST.

Salt Lake, Utah, July 16.—On the local mining stock exchange, the morning Daly-West dropped from $54 to $45, a loss of over $1,000,000 on the entire capital stock.

A PROMISING OUTLOOK FOR

PRESIDENT'S COMING.

TO COURT HOUSE DEDICATION

SECRETARY CORTLEYOU RE-

SPONDS TO INVITATION.

ROOSEVELT HOPES TO COME

SCHEDULE OF NORTHWESTERN

TRIP IS GIVEN OUT.

Present indications are regarded as very favorable for the coming of President Roosevelt to Fort Wayne to participate in the dedication of the Allen county court house in September.

Information received today from the president's home at Oyster Bay makes it evident that the itinerary for the executive's western trip has not yet been made up, and that the invitation extended by the county commissioners a few days ago reached President Roosevelt in ample time to be taken into consideration in making up the schedule for the western tour, which has been contemplated by the president for some time.

IT IS ACKNOWLEDGED.

Acknowledgement of the invitation forwarded on Friday was received at noon today by President Orr, of the board of county commissioners, in the form of a letter from the president's secretary. The letter follows:

"Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 14, 1902.—My Dear Sir: I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th instant, with enclosures, and to state that the matter of which you write will be given the fullest consideration when the plans for the trip to which you refer are taken up for action. Very truly yours, "Geo. B. Cortleyou, "Secretary to the President."

"Mr. Chas. E. Orr, Fort Wayne, Ind."

Lieutenant Governor Gilbert is also in receipt of advice from another source indicating that the president very much desires to accept the Fort Wayne invitation, and will make an earnest effort to do so.

MAY BE SEPTEMBER 23.

The Sentinel's dispatches this afternoon announce that President Roosevelt will be in Detroit September 22 to attend a meeting of Spanish-American war veterans, and the schedule provides that he is to be in Indianapolis on the day following—Tuesday, Sept. 23. It is not impossible that the president may arrange to stop in Fort Wayne en route, reaching this city during the morning hours, spend a short time here and then proceed to the state capital. However, nothing more definite will be known until further advices are received from Washington.

SENATOR BEVERIDGE HEARS.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 16.—(Special.)—Senator Beveridge today received a letter from Secretary Cortleyou stating that the invitation to President Roosevelt to attend the dedication of the court house at Fort Wayne had been received by the president, and that the latter hopes to be able to consider it favorably.

ARRANGING FOR THE TRIP.

Washington, July 16.—Secretary Cortleyou was at his desk in the temporary white house today. Mr. Cortleyou will remain here several days and will then take his family away for a vacation. The vacation will be the first of any length Mr. Cortleyou has taken in several years.

Mr. Cortleyou's principal business in returning to Washington is to submit to Secretary Shaw a schedule of payments to be made on account of the illness and death of President McKinley.

Secretary Cortleyou has completed the itinerary of two trips to be made by President Roosevelt, one to the New England states in August and the other to the northwest in September. The president will leave Oyster Bay August 22 and will visit all of the New England states on that journey. The New England trip will take about ten days and the president will be back in Oyster Bay about the first of September.

He will remain at his home until September 19, when he will leave on his northwestern trip. The trip will last two weeks and four days and will take in many places in the northwest. The president will stop first at Cincinnati on his way out and then his next important stop will be Detroit, to which place he goes to attend the annual convention of the Spanish war veterans on September 22. From Detroit the president will go to Indianapolis to attend the meeting in that city of the other organization of the Spanish war veterans. This will be on the day following his visit to Detroit.

ORDERED A CLEAN-UP.

Several days ago the county health officer, Dr. Carl Proegler, discovered in two houses occupied by Syrians, on Spy Run avenue, a condition of filth that called for immediate action, and Dr. Proegler ordered an immediate cleaning up of the premises. Members of the colony at once set about scrubbing at a vehement rate, and when the officer again visited the place today there was little cause for complaint. The inhabitants were warned that if the premises were again permitted to resume their former condition, prosecution would at once follow.

A SNEAK THIEF'S BIG HAUL

ROBS AN EXPRESS OFFICE IN NEW YORK.

In Broad Daylight and in Presence of Half a Hundred Clerks He Gets Away With Over $5,000.

New York, July 16.—A sneak thief has marched into the offices of the Southern Pacific railroad at 34 Broadway, this city, and, although there were half a hundred people there at the time, he calmly marched out again, taking with him the cashier's money box.

The box contained the day's receipts. Usually it holds $25,000 to $50,000 in negotiable paper and cash. On this occasion, however, it held only about $5,000 in checks and notes, and, the cashier thinks, less than $100 in cash.

As a rule the box is kept in the safe of the office, but the cashier had taken it out and placed it on his desk, intending to return it to the safe in a moment. He left his compartment for a short time and when he got back the box was gone and no trace of the thief could be found.
The checks can, it is thought, be readily cashed, as many of them are for small amounts and the cashier has no record whereby he can stop payment.

A PORCH-CLIMBER'S JOB.

San Francisco, Cal., July 16.—A porch-climber entered the residence of French Consul General De Lemagne last night and got away with diamonds and jewelry worth $3,600.
Altogether thirty-three pieces of jewelry were stolen, many of them heirlooms and gifts from rulers of nations to whose courts M. De Lemagne had been sent in the diplomatic service of France. One loser by the thief is the sublime porte.
The robber took the green crown of Turkey, a gold and enameled emblem with which M. De Lemagne had been decorated. This decoration is merely loaned and upon the death of the recipient is to be returned to the sultan. This was a heavy piece, worth as gold $400.

DESTRUCTION OF HAI CHEE.

Victoria, B. C., July 16.—News was received by the steamer Empress of India of the destruction of the Chinese cruiser Hai Chee, at Hanking, by an explosion. The Japanese cruiser Atago arrived at Hsia Kuan on June 21 and the magazine of the Hai Chee was opened to salute her.

Then came the explosion. Of the crew of 200 to 250 but two escaped.
The cruiser went up like a flash, the explosion being heard for five miles and showers of debris were scattered far and wide. Three small boats lying alongside were destroyed with their occupants. The United States cruiser Helene, which was in the vicinity, picked up the two survivors from the wreckage.

BRIDE TRIES TO END LIFE.

South Bend, Ind., July 16.—Mrs.

suicidal intent. The vigorous efforts of a physician saved her life. Mr.

CITY REPEALS FRANCHISE.

Marion, Ind., July 16.—The city council last night passed an ordinance repealing the franchise of the Marion Transit company, now held by the Union Traction company, and ordering the Union Traction company to remove the tracks, which have been abandoned on Gallatin street. The Union Traction company is given thirty days to take up the tracks, poles and wires and repair the streets. The council holds that the Union Traction company has violated the contract made with the city by Ethan A. Huffman when the franchise under which the Marion Transit company operated was granted, and that the Union Traction company is trespassing on public property in running cars over portions of

A DOUBLE WEDDING.

A double wedding took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
Squires, corner of Barr and Main streets, the contracting parties being Miss Florence Squires and Emmett
Leah, Miss Nina O. Warner and Edward Revert. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in the presence of a few invited friends, Rev. A.
K. Zultman, of Grace Reformed church, officiating. The two couples were married at the same time, making the responses together. After

Wayne Dry Goods Co.

The July Stock Reduction Sale

Moves with its usual Magnet-like power---It draws.

We do not claim to have bale after bale, case upon case and thousands of yards of surplus goods that we have mistakenly bought, and are forced to get rid of at half the price we paid for them. We know that kind of advertising, to you, is amusing, but not creditable.

We have our usual amount of surplus stock in a number of departments, and in order to induce you to help us to out this down, we make a general and genuine reduction in price on every article in our whole stock, with the greatest cut upon that portion which we wish especially to move.

This is reasonable advertising, reasonable selling, that wins the confidence of the public.

When you buy a yard of silk from us at 48c, you can be certain that it was not goods that we had been selling at 50c, advertised as worth 65c, to be sold at 48c.

When you buy anything in our suit and cloak room as a greater than usual bargain, you can depend upon it as being such, and not an article that has been advertised at a fictitious price and a supposedly startling reduction made on that price.

Goods bought at this month's prices are likely to prove bargains of more than ordinary value. Owing to present and expected labor troubles, the closing of a number of mills in many lines, will have a tendency to make goods scarce and, therefore, to say the least, no cheaper.

Purchases at our prices this month will be good investments for you.

Mrs. C. L. Byron.

Mrs. C. L. Byron, of 546 Lincoln avenue, Chicago, Ill., is President of the Chicago German Woman's Club. She has the following to say of Peruna, the great catarrh remedy, which relieved her of a serious case of catarrh of the bladder:

Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.
Gentlemen—'I was cured of a very severe case of bladder trouble which the doctors did not know how to reach. I had severe headache and dragging pains with it, but before the second bottle was used I felt much relieved, and after having used the fifth bottle life looked different to me. This was nearly a year ago, and I have had no recurrence of the trouble. I cannot praise Peruna too highly.'—MRS. C. L. BYRON.

NEW CARS ON THE WAY.

Four handsome new cars just purchased by the Fort Wayne and Southwestern Traction company are en route from the factory, and it is hoped to complete their equipment and place them in service on the line within the next few weeks. The cars are combination cars, sixty feet in length, and as those now in service are but forty-eight feet, the difference will be quite noticeable. One section of the cars is partitioned off and will be devoted to express and light freight business. Instead of bearing the names of states, as do the cars now in use, the combination cars are designated by number, starting with "301."

GETTING RIGHT-OF-WAY.

Less than two miles of the right-of-way remains to be secured for the new electric line to be constructed between Huntington and Warren by S. H. Nelson, of this city. It is only a matter of a few days when the work will be completed, and the actual work of construction will begin very shortly.

Concerning the case, the Grand Rapids Evening Post says: "The coroner's jury sitting in the case of Edward E. Parker, of Fort Wayne, the spiritualist medium who died at the American hotel Sunday, returned a verdict this morning that the man 'came to his death from an overdose of morphine, accidentally taken for relief of stomach trouble.' George Jones, clerk at the hotel, testified that when he awoke the man, the latter said he was addicted to the morphine habit and that he had taken some. Jones, thinking that the man was perhaps under the influence of liquor, took him to a room as he requested. The chemist who analyzed the contents of the stomach testified that he found a large quantity of the drug still unabsorbed."

(Bluffton Banner.)

Mrs. John Ulmer is in receipt of a letter from Walter B. Fulton, dated Ego Cebu, P. I., May 25, 1902. For some time the impression has been current that Fulton was dead, and even his father, who lives in Fort Wayne, held to this belief. However, his letter, written three months ago, sets all doubts at rest and accounts for his whereabouts. He states that he is located about 400 miles south of Manila and is so well pleased with the country that he intends locating there permanently after the war.

CREDIT.

CRUTCH-BOUND

The crutch is a poor substitute for legs, and affords a very inconvenient and tiresome mode of locomotion—there is no more pathetic sight than a person slowly and painfully moving along the street supported by these artificial limbs.

When Rheumatism settles in the bones and muscles of the legs, it is safe to predict that the victim will eventually become helpless and crutch-bound. The corrosive, irritating matter that is deposited in the joints and muscles causes the most intense pain, the knees and ankles swell, and when the natural oils and fluids that lubricate these parts are completely destroyed the joints become locked and the muscles drawn and stiff, and crutches a necessity.

The acid poisons that produce rheumatic pains form in the blood, and are distributed through the system, and lodged in the arms, shoulders, hands, back and feet, or other parts of the body—resulting often in total disability. A permanent cure of Rheumatism can be effected only by a complete cleansing of the blood, and no other remedy so surely accomplishes this as S. S. S. It neutralizes the acid effects, purifies and invigorates the stagnant blood, and the gritty particles are washed out or dislodged by the new rich blood, and relief comes to the pain-racked sufferer. S. S. S. leaves no morbid, irritating matter in the blood to reunite and produce another attack, but expels every atom of it from the system. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, and does not impair the digestion or general health like alkali or potash remedies.

Write for our special free book on Rheumatism, and if any medical advice or other information is wanted, our physicians will gladly furnish it without charge.

SMITH IS RETIRED

AUTHOR OF "KILL AND BURN"
ORDER IN DISGRACE.

PRESIDENT REVIEWS CASE

APPROVES FINDING OF THE COURT MARTIAL.

AMERICAN NAME IS SULLIED

GEN. JACOB H. SMITH GOES TO RETIRED LIST.

Washington, July 16.—Secretary Root brought from Oyster Bay the case of Gen. Jacob H. Smith, tried by court martial at Manila on account of orders issued by Major Waller. General Smith was found guilty of the charges by the court and sentenced to be admonished by the reviewing authority. The president has so admonished General Smith and retired him under the law which provides that officers having reached the age of 62 years may be retired at will by the president. Secretary Root supplements the reprimand of President Roosevelt in a long circular, in which he explains the conditions which resulted in the court martial of General Smith, and shows that although Smith issued the "kill and burn" order, as a matter of fact very few persons were killed as a result of that order, the casualties being confined almost wholly to the eleven natives killed under Major Waller's direction.

TEXT OF THE REVIEW.

Following is the text of the president's review of the case:

"White House, Washington, July 14, 1902. By the president: The findings and sentence of the court are approved. I am well aware of the danger and great difficulty of the task our army has had in the Philippine islands and of the well nigh intolerable provocations it has received from the cruelty, treachery and total disregard of the rules and customs of civilized warfare on the part of its foes. I also heartily approve the employment of the sternest measures necessary to put a stop to such atrocities and to bring this war to a close. It would be culpable to show weakness in dealing with such foes or to fail to use all legitimate and honorable methods to overcome them. But the very fact that warfare is of such character as to afford infinite provocation for the commission of acts of cruelty by junior officers and the enlisted men, must make the officers in high and responsible positions peculiarly careful in their bearing and conduct as to keep a moral check over any acts of an improper character by their subordinates. Almost universally the higher officers have so borne themselves as to supply this necessary check; and with but few exceptions the officers and soldiers of the army have shown wonderful kindness and forbearance in dealing with their foes. But there have been exceptions; there have been instances of the use of torture and of improper heartlessness in warfare on the part of individuals or small detachments.

SULLIED AMERICAN NAME.

"In the recent campaign ordered by General Smith, the shooting of the native bearers by the orders of Major Waller was an act which sullied the American name and can be but partly excused because of Major Waller's mental condition at the time; this mental condition being due to the fearful hardship and suffering which he had undergone in his campaign. It is impossible to tell exactly how much influence language like that used by General Smith may have had in preparing the minds of those under him for the commission of the deeds which we regret. Loose and violent talk by an officer of high rank is always likely to excite to wrong-doing those among his subordinates whose wills are weak or whose passions are strong.

ORDERS SMITH'S RETIREMENT.

"General Smith has behind him a long career distinguished for gallantry and on the whole for good conduct. Taken in the full, his work has been such as to reflect credit upon the nation; and it is deeply to be regretted that he should have so acted in this instance as to interfere with his further usefulness in the army. I hereby direct that he be retired from the active list.

(Signed.)

"Theodore Roosevelt."

REPUBLICAN CALL.

The republicans of Wayne township and the city of Fort Wayne will meet at their usual places at 7:30 o'clock this evening for the purpose of selecting delegates to the township convention to be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the assembly hall of the court house at Fort Wayne, Ind.

E. V. HARRIS, Chairman.

A fight was reported at the corner of Holman and Oakhoun streets last night. Prior to the fight a couple of fellows and a couple of girls were standing on the corner, looking on.

other and things like that. A stranger came along and was asked what time it was. He pulled out his watch and informed the party that it was just 11:30. Then somebody grabbed his watch and handed it to one of the girls and both girls started to run north, turning west on Douglas avenue. The man did not appreciate his sudden separation from his chronometer and started a rough house with the fellow who did the grabbing. Before the police arrived the watch was returned and an effort to patch the matter up was made. The police have the names of the girls and arrests are likely to be made.

RELIC OF NOTED DESPERADO

FRANK RAND'S DEADLY GUN IN POLICE MUSEUM.

Weapon Presented to the Superintendent—Some Drunks in Police Court—The Police News.

Superintendent Gorsline's collection of revolvers and other weapons was augmented this morning by the addition of a well-preserved, old-fashioned Smith & Wesson navy revolver of 32-calibre. The gun was presented to the superintendent by Max Rubin, who has had it in his possession for about fifteen years. The gun has a record and is responsible for the death of no less than eight people, and it did not belong to Tracy either. It was the property of Frank Rand, the well known Indiana desperado, whose name is familiar to all the older residents of Fort Wayne and who made this city his headquarters during the '70s.

In the spring of 1877 Rand shot two officers in St. Louis who were trying to arrest him, one of them, Officer White, dying of his wounds. Rand crossed into Illinois and renewed his depredations while a posse was for many days in hot pursuit. The chase in many features resembled that now going on for the capture of Tracy, the Oregon desperado. Rand killed several of his pursuers before he was finally taken, his capture being effected in Knox county, Ill., where one or more of his murders was committed. He was tried for murder at Galesburg, and sentenced to life imprisonment. He hanged himself with a noose improvised from his suspenders in the Joliet penitentiary in the winter of 1884. Rand was one of the most desperate outlaws who ever operated in the central west and was popularly credited with from seven to a dozen murders.

IN POLICE COURT.

Judge Dreibeiss got back from the seaside yesterday and presided at police court this morning. He was in a rather benignant mood and when John Wilhelm pleaded guilty to having been drunk yesterday he said he would let him off at $1 and costs, the regular cut-rate price for burglars. Mr. Wilhelm was landed yesterday afternoon on Holman street. The patrol wagon got a call late in the afternoon to come to Holman street to pick up a sick man. When the officers investigated the case they found that Mr. Wilhelm was more tired than sick and took him to the station.

Thomas Jones, whose name is Kinsley, was arrested on a charge of public intoxication, to which he pleaded guilty this morning and stayed the docket for $11. He was arrested about midnight on Columbia street and the affidavit suggested that he had been associating with prostitutes. Inasmuch as the women were conveniently absent the plea to intoxication was accepted. "Jones" was in the party which made things merry around the corner of Columbia and Calhoun streets and during an exhibition of playful prankishness of something of that kind fired a brick through the plate glass front of Stein's liquor store at 122 East Columbia street. There were five in the party, but "Jones" was the only one unfortunate enough to get caught. Warrants are out for the other four and they will probably be brought in tow in the morning.

CLAIMS ROYAL KINSHIP.

After police court had adjourned a man who said his name is Phillip McGovern, and who claims relationship with the light-weight prize-fighter, was brought in as a hobo and slated for vagrancy. He had on his person when arrested about a mile of galvanized wire, a screw-driver and a pair of pliers. He was recognized as a fellow who has been peddling coat hangers about town for several days and said that he made the articles himself, which accounted for his possession of tools. He was locked up for safe keeping until morning.

POLICE NOTES.

The officer on the beat yesterday discovered the front door of E. F. Yarnelle's residence at 1110 West Wayne street unlocked. He made an investigation, found nothing in the house disturbed, locked the door and reported the matter. Mr. Yarnelle and family are out of the city and it is presumed that some authorized person, having a key had entered the house and forgot to lock it on retiring.

A SAFETY DEVICE.

The Hocking Valley road has completed a test of a device intended to insure the carrying out of train orders, though the engineer in the cab be negligent, asleep or dead.

This wonderful device has been under severe test for six weeks, traveling over 10,000 miles in that time, and has proven itself abundantly able to perform all duties its inventor intended it for. The device consists of a large clock-like structure with a double dial. This is connected by a rod and by a belt to the truck under the pilot. This registers the mileage in the same manner that a cyclometer does on a bicycle. The first service it does, then, is to inform the engineer of this distance from his starting point when it is dark and he cannot see customary landmarks. But the interesting feature is the inner or second dial. This is fitted up with a series of ten dogs or catches, and each of these catches can move over a period of ten notches. These catches and notches are used to set the dial for any given distance, much as an alarm clock is set, except that it can be set for ten different stops at the same time and the ten different orders will be executed in succession without interference. When the engine has run the distance set for the first order it sounds a warning whistle on the airbrake. It then gives the engineer 1,000 feet in which to obey his summons. If he does not do this the action of the clock continues and the airbrakes are applied automatically and the train comes to a full stop. If a slow-down is all that is desired, when the engineer gets the note of warning he can reduce steam, and then, by pulling out a little plunger, prevent the train from stopping. Furthermore, should for any reason the machine get out of order and not register properly, it will also sound the warning. Before the train leaves a city the dial of the machine can be set to give warning at any station up to the tenth, and thus all the danger to a train of an engineer becoming mentally deranged or being killed would seem to be obviated, for on the first failure to obey orders the train would be brought to a full stop, when in the nature of things an investigation would be made.

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock the Grand Rapids and Indiana road will bring in from the south a big party of excursionists, who will go to Winona to spend the day. The party will travel on a special train over both roads.

PENNSYLVANIA PAY DAY.

The Pennsylvania pay car will arrive in the city tomorrow evening and remain here until Saturday morning, paying the shopmen on Friday. June was a busy month and the pay roll is large.

UNFORTUNATE BRAKEMAN.

Brakeman John S. DeWitt will be off duty several days as the result of an accident that happened to him yesterday. His left thumb was caught back of the coupling lever in a manner that bruised and sprained it painfully. Brakemen George E. Clark and W. C. Fleming are off duty on account of sickness. These men are employed on the Pittsburgh road.

COMPANY WAS POOR THEN.

The Benton Harbor Palladium publishes the following, which illustrates the wonderful growth in a financial way of a well known railway: "In going through his father's papers E. E. Beckley found one which shows that in 1878, when Norman Beckley first took hold of the old Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan road, its entire earnings one month were only $10,000. Since then the station at Benton Harbor has in some months paid the Big Four more than that amount. Many a time in those struggling days Superintendent Beckley failed to draw his own pay in order that there might be money enough to pay the men."

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Supt. S. K. Blair is greatly improved and will be at his office in a few days.

John Rail, yard man at the factory of the Anthony Wayne Manufacturing company, is sick and off duty.

Motive Power Superintendent D. F. Crawford, of the Pennsylvania, has returned from a business trip east.

O. L. Snyder, a truckman at the Pittsburg freight house, is kept at home by the sickness of his wife.

Supt. Ira Evans, of Rhineland & Simonson's, is confined to his home by sickness, which is not of a serious character.

George Block and Charles Horst-meyer are new men at the Wabash shops. E. J. Crowl resigned his position in that shop.

Engineer Joseph Schachtel, of the Nickel Plate, has recovered from injuries sustained by a fall from his engine ten days ago.

Nathan Cohen, traveling agent for the Fort Wayne Electric company, has gone to Philadelphia in the interest of the company.

Two car loads of delegates to a meeting in Tacoma, Wash., passed through the city last evening on Pennsylvania train No. 9.

A new name on Foreman Daniel Petgen's list of workmen at the Pittsburg copper shop is A. McCormick, who recently came to the city from the country.

All stations on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern main line in Indiana will, on August 1, come under the jurisdiction of the Indiana Car Service association.

Day Yardmaster John Repine and Coppersmith H. C. Mennewisch, of the Pittsburg, have returned home after a two weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Philadelphia.

The anthracite coal strike is telling seriously on the earnings of the Chesapeake and Ohio, the road the first week in July earning $195,870, a decrease as compared with last year of $70,728.

Two immense steel shells for tile manufacturing purposes, one seventy inches by sixty feet, and the other thirty-six inches by sixty feet, left the Bass works this morning for Willsborough, Ohio.

Nickel Plate passenger engine No. 170 is out of the shops and as soon as the engine tamer completes his tests of the valve mechanism and other parts it will be turned over to the Fourth district for service.

This is the last year that glass workers in the gas belt will be given low rates east. The reason assigned is that the privilege has been grossly abused and this year was carried to greater extent than ever before.

Brakeman F. E. Todd, who had a finger pinched on the Nickel Plate a week ago, has recovered and yesterday resumed his duties on the road.

Brakeman A. Bressler, who was sick a few days, also reported for duty.

After a pleasant visit of a week with his old Fort Wayne friends, William Salters returned to his home in Joliet yesterday. He is now employed on the Elgin, Joliet and East-can road; he was formerly employed on the Nickel Plate.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ninde arrived in the city last evening and are temporarily stopping on East Wayne street. They were married at Rome, N. Y., two or three weeks ago. Mr. Ninde, who is chief draughtsman at the Bass works, resumed his duties there this morning.

In addition to changing the numbers of the Pennsylvania engines on the northwestern system, the lettering on the tanks is also changed and will hereafter read "Pennsylvania Lines." The first tank to be so lettered was the No. 7207, which, with its engine, will be turned out Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. George Scheid, of Wellsville, who were visiting his father, Foreman P. J. Scheid, of the Pittsburg round house, returned to their home yesterday. Grover Scheid accompanied his brother to Wellsville to remain a portion of his school vacation term. George Scheid is employed in the Pennsylvania shops at Wellsville.

J. O. Langston, of the Pittsburg planing mills, stepped upon a nail and painfully injured one of his feet yesterday. He will be unable to work for several days. W. Greigh, of the machine shop, slightly hurt one of his hands yesterday and is off duty in consequence, and C. Engelking, Ed Mennewisch and Jacob Waldschmidt are off duty on account of sickness.

The passage of the bill prohibiting Virginia state officials from accepting free transportation on railways and steamboats has resulted in a number of retirements from public office. It seems that in that state there were a number of non-salaried officers whose only remuneration was free transportation, and now that his has been denied them, they will no longer serve their state. The non-pass law became effective last Friday.

By an oversight The Sentinel omitted notice of a most enjoyable affair that occurred at the home of the venerable patternmaker, Charles F. Barner, on Montgomery street, last Saturday night. The occasion was the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Mr. Barner's arrival in Fort Wayne. He came here on a canal boat, the only means of travel to and from the outer world in those days, landing at the dock at the foot of Lafayette street, where the Arlington hotel now stands. In the party were nine other persons, all of whom, excepting Mrs. William Wiers, of Middletown, Ohio, are dead. That lady was in attendance at the celebration and contributed some interesting reminiscences for the entertainment of the guests. The Barner collection, composed of members of the family, also added to the enjoyment of the occasion by rendering some fine selections. Mr. Barner has been employed at the Kerr Murray works since 1879.

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

A new lodge of Elks is to be instituted at Goshen.

Wabash is enforcing the curfew ordinance rigorously.

Auburn is to have a new national bank. The names of the promoters are not yet made public.

Old settlers of Randolph and Jay counties will meet at Portland August 14, and Senator Fairbanks will speak.

Frank Touhey, the Bluffton balloonist, has made contracts for three ascensions at Rome City in the two weeks following July 23.

Mrs. Frank Judd, of Magley, who swallowed carbolic acid July 4, died Tuesday afternoon after many days of suffering. She was insane.

W. P. Cummings, an Elkhart man of meager means, has started to tramp to England to claim an estate to which he has fallen heir. He is afraid to trust his case to lawyers.

Three frame buildings at Hartford City, occupied by Fulton Bros. grocery, E. M. Roberts' ice cream parlor and Elliott Roush's restaurant, were almost totally destroyed by fire Monday night. The loss will be about $4,000, covered by insurance.

Judge John C. Nelson, of Logansport, has been unanimously nominated for congress by the democrats of the Eleventh district. The nominee is a son-in-law of Judge James Cheney and is well known in Fort Wayne. Nelson's opponent is Fred Erick Landis.

John Cain, of Royal Center, a village north of Logansport, was visited by whitecaps Sunday night. They bound Cain, rubbed lampblack over his face, placed a noose about his neck and hoisted him into the air several times. Then he promised to leave the vicinity and never return.

While the family of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Weaver, of Harrison township, Elkhart county, was seated in their home during a storm Monday afternoon lightning crashed down the chimney, instantly killing a 8-year-old son, Roscoe. None of the other members of the family were injured.

James T. Harper, an old-time circus man and one-legged acrobat, died in the county infirmary near Warsaw Monday. Harper was widely known and had a checked career. For many years he was a star attraction with the leading circuses, and on several occasions was at the head of amusement enterprises of his own.

Good fortune has smiled upon the family of Jacob Cox, formerly in the lumber business at Peabody, Whiteley county, but now living in Illinois. Many years ago the family of Mr. Cox's wife befriended Charles Hill, who was poor and in adverse circumstances generally. Now Hill has just died at Los Angeles, Cal., leaving Mrs. Cox $142,000 in cool cash. About seventy-five heirs have bobbed up, however, and will insist upon a divide.

BASE BALL

Things came rocky for Boston yesterday when both clubs were shut out without a run, in the National league team not a man getting beyond first base. Brooklyn straightened out Chicago again and the great Matthewson was sent to the stable in two innings by Cincinnati, who piled up five tallies in the second. The attendance at four cities was 6,563. In the American league Philadelphia beat Chicago without trouble, the Quakers making 17 hits off Griffith while Waddell kept his old comrades down to 8; Cleveland gave the royal beanaters from Boston town a sinking chill and Detroit clutched its hold on the tail end. Mullin pitched for Detroit yesterday and held Washington down to 8 hits, but at that could not win, although he had only one error behind him. The attendance at four games was 12,986. In the American association Columbus lost again, Toledo beat the leaders handsomely, Minneapolis laid down to Milwaukee, the poor cripples at St. Paul surprised themselves by hitting the ball and beating Kansas City. Only 3,559 persons attended the four games, St. Paul being low with 250. The results are given below:

RHYTHMIC LANDS BIG STAKE

WINS THE $10,000 M. & M. EVENT AT DETROIT.

Takes the Great Harness Classic in Straight Heats—Winner Not Pressed to Win.

Detroit, July 16.—Rhythmic, a blind horse, won the Merchants and Manufacturers' $10,000 stake for 2:24 trotters at the Grosse Pointe track yesterday in straight heats. He won it easily and at all times had the field smothered with his speed. Zephyr, the advance favorite for the race, did not start because she was unfit to race. She went lame in warming up. Rhythmic's best time was 2:11½, which is two and one-quarter seconds slower than the record set by Eleata last year.

When the time came to call the race Starter Hoyt announced that Zephyr had been drawn, veterinarians pronouncing her unfit to race. Stories began to circulate as to the real cause of the withdrawal, and one that got the most believers was that the Zephyr people "chucked it up" because they were afraid of the blind horse.

EASY FOR DIRECT HAL.

Direct Hal took the third heat in the Chamber of Commerce pace, postponed from Monday, turning the course in 2:07¼. Eldorado being again the contender. The Denver horse Silver Sign took the postponed 2:15 trot. General Johnson won the third heat, but Silver Sign took the fourth and fifth, the latter in a nose-to-nose finish with Pug, who took a heat yesterday.

The 2:07 pace had a bunch of good ones in, but the Hamlin tucked the purse away with Shadow Chimes, Fannie Dillard and Riley B. being the only ones to take a strong bid for first honors. Shadow Chimes finished easy in 2:05 and 2:05½.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, July 16.—Corn opened today with a poor show of interest. The admitted finale of the powerfully influential corner in July options left the trade with little to talk about save how it all happened. Yesterday's severe break in all grains and the announcement by the Gates clique that their interest in July was at an end had its effect in the foreign markets. Prices abroad were all lower and fairly favorable early weather gave little show of a rally in corn. July traders were at sea as was indicated by the manner in which that option opened—2c lower to 1½c higher at 63½c to 66c. Receipts were still large at 453 cars, 145 of contract grade. Private elevators turned out enough to make total contract stuff on the market today about 400,000 bushels. There was a fair growing demand in September toward the close of the first hour when rains were predicted and prices strengthened a bit. Wheat also showed some signs of rallying and helped corn a trifle. September opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 59½c to 59½c, dipped to 58½c and later sold at 59½c to 59½c. July hung rather steady around 66c.

There was still a fair show of strength in corn at the close, considering the expected renewal of yesterday's slump and the weakness of the cash situation. The Gates crowd refused to offer cash stuff in competition with shippers in the east, indicating, some experts said, a possibility of high prices before the close of the month. July closed steady ½c up at 65½c. September touched 61½c and closed unchanged at 59½c.

September wheat opened ½c to ½c higher at 71½c to 72½c on a fair demand by shorts. Ombles were lower, but did not respond fully to the slump here yesterday. With July corn congestion almost dissipated there was a freer and more buoyant tone in the pit. The weather was rather favorable early, but local showers put the crowd in something of a bullish temper and after dipping to 71½c September rallied to its higher price and held steady. Local receipts were 125 cars, 2 of contract grade and practically all new stuff. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 215 cars, making a total for the three points of 340 cars, against 259 last week and 860 a year ago.

The hot weather northwest was one of the early bullish incentives. Added to this was heavy buying of September during the early hours. September was advanced to 72½c, but on free selling by the early buyers and the passing of the weather scare September slid off to 71½c to 71½c and closed weak, ¼c down, at 71½c to 71½c.

Oats showed very good early strength on reports of a few showers and of lodging in some of the fields. The cash demand was improved and added to the bullish impulse. September opened ¼c to ½c up at 31½c to 31½c and easily advanced to 32½c to 32½c. Receipts were small at 66 cars.

Provisions were dull and steady early. Prices at the yards were rather firm and started a fair recovery of yesterday's losses. September opened a shade to 2½c up at $18.67½ to $18.65; September hard $18.75c lower at $11.17½ to $11.20 on free offerings, but rallied to $11.22½, and September ribs unchanged at $10.85 and sold at $10.90.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.
New York, July 16.—Heavy buying was in evidence in various portions of the list at the opening, advancing prices a fraction all around. In the Steel stocks the individual blocks ran as high as 3,000 shares, the common rising ¾ and the preferred ½. Chicago and Alton and Tennessee Coal rose over a point, Atchison preferred about a point and Amalgamated Copper a large fraction. A sale of 1,000 shares of St. Paul carried it off a fraction, but the purchase of another 1,000 shares carried it up again.

Opening gains in the principal grain-carrying stocks were pretty well wiped out when the traders realized. Enormous offerings met the higher bids for United States Steel stocks. Chicago and Alton was advanced vigorously, the price touching 43½, a rise over night of 2½. The preferred also rose a point. Some minor stocks were lifted. Great Northern preferred, the Chicago Terminal stocks, New Haven, Ice preferred, Third Avenue, Detroit Gas and International Silver advancing 1 to 1½. Pullman jumped 6. General Electric lost 1½ and Hooking Valley nearly a point. Near 11 o'clock the low-priced southwestern and the Readings were bid up slightly and the market steadied.

There was an irregular advance in prices, a few stocks rising above the opening while others fell a trifle short. Realizing caused one-point reactions in Rock Island, St. Louis Southwestern preferred and Chicago and Alton, the last named rising again over 3 points. The Readings, Delaware and Hudson, Erie first preferred and second preferred, Chicago Great Western, Texas and Pacific, Kansas and Texas preferred, St. Joseph and Grand Island first preferred, Brooklyn Transit and Colorado Fuel rose a point or over and New York Central advanced to 160. Missouri Pacific took up the advance at 12 o'clock.

Bonds were steady.

FALSE FILIPINOS

CATHOLIC PROVINCIAL SAYS
THEY HATE AMERICA.

PEACE ONLY - A PRETENSE

BUT A FRACTION OF THE PEOPLE OPPOSED TO FRIARS.

BIG LADRONE DRIVE IS ON

ROUNDING UP BAD NATIVES IN CAVITE PROVINCE.

Rome, July 17.—Father Santiago Paya, provincial of the dominicans in the Philippines, who is staying here, when informed by the correspondent of the Associated Press of the result of Governor Taft's negotiations with the vatican on the subject of the friars and their land, expressed satisfaction at the acceptance of the first proposal of Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state, that the matter be discussed at Manila between an apostolic delegate and the governor in Manila. When asked what was likely to be the outcome, Father Paya replied:

"It is more important to know what will be the outcome of the matters between the Americans and Filipinos. Although the war is almost over, and the Filipinos now protest friendship for the Americans, they in reality dislike them just as they disliked the Spaniards. The Filipinos say they did not struggle against Spain to calmly surrender their independence."

Rather Paya concluded with declaring that it was not true that the people were against the friars. The latter, he further asserted, were hated only by the native clergy, and a fraction of the people.

BIG LADRONE DRIVE.

Manila, July 17.—An extensive drive, with the object of capturing the Ladrone chiefs, Montallon and Felizardo, and fifty of their followers, is progressing in Cavite province. Twelve hundred constabulary, commanded by Captain Baker, moved today at daylight, forming a complete angle-shaped cordon, covering sixty square miles. Patrol launches are guarding the rivers. It is expected to close the cordon Saturday. The entire male population of the towns and farms will be included in the concentration movement. When it is completed the lardrons will be arrested and the others will be released.

FRETZ WAS AT INDIANAPOLIS

MISSING MAN WAS SEEN THERE ON SATURDAY.

An Auburn Acquaintance Talked With Him—Fort Wayne Friends Have No News.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Auburn, Ind., July 17.—Yesterday Capt. Moses B. Willis, of this city, received a letter from his son, Lew Willis, who resides at Indianapolis, stating that he saw Lewis B. Fretz in Indianapolis on Saturday afternoon and had a talk with him. Mr. Willis does not indicate where Fretz may be at the present time.

Fort Wayne friends of the missing man have had no trace of him since he left the Davis home, on McClellan street, very early on Saturday morning, and when a reporter for The Sentinel gave members of the family the contents of the above dispatch this afternoon it was the first news they had received. The fact that Fretz was seen in Indianapolis at the time indicated would tend to show that fears of his suicide are groundless.

ABANDONED TEMPORARILY.

The project of erecting a club house for the young men of Emmaus Lutheran church has been temporarily abandoned in compliance with the wishes of several members of Emmaus congregation, who are unwilling to incur additional debt until the church debt is paid. The debt against the church will be liquidated by January 1st, when the plan of building the club house will be taken up again.

THE WEATHER.

Chicago, July 17.—Forecast for Indiana: Partly cloudy tonight and Friday, with probably local thunderstorms in central and northern portion this afternoon or tonight.

slightly cooler in north portion Friday; southwest to northwest winds.

SNATCHED PURSE AND RAN.
Jennie Walker, a domestic, met a male friend by appointment last night and after strolling about the city for awhile, the young fellow became enamored of Jennie's pocket-book, which he snatched and safely got away with. The purse contained between $6 and $7 and a few trinkets. The girl says the robbery was committed on Brackenridge street and admits that she does not know the correct name of the young fellow with whom she was walking. She gave a fair description of the fellow, however, together with the name which he gave, and the police are pretty well satisfied that they can locate the lad.

WHEAT YIELD CONTINUES ITS GRATIFYING SHOWING.

C. S. Bash Says Allen County Crop
Is Most Satisfactory in the County's History.

Charles S. Bash, who is recognized as excellent authority in the grain business in all its phases, today expressed the opinion that the wheat crop now being harvested will prove the most satisfactory in the history of Allen county.

The yield is furnishing some large surprises. From the very first the crop showing has been much in advance of previous estimates based upon the outlook, and Mr. Bash says that the earlier good showing is being fully sustained as the harvest progresses. He believes that upon an average of the entire county no previous year can be cited in which the wheat crop was more gratifying to the farmers.

The yield is showing from thirty to thirty-five bushels to the acre, and occasional pieces turn up with thirty-eight bushels. The berry is large and plump, and the quality is excellent.

AUTOMOBILES WILL RACE

INTERESTING EVENT AT DRIVING PARK SATURDAY.

Race Will be Given in Connection
With Pennsylvania Sports—
Four Entries.

An automobile race will be given at the Driving park on Saturday afternoon in connection with the annual field sports of the Pennsylvania company, and considerable interest centers in the event, as it is the first of the kind ever held in Fort Wayne. There are four entries in this event, two of the vehicles being propelled by steam and the other two by gasoline, and the four carriages are supposed to be the swiftest in their class in the city. The result of the race will, of course, depend largely on the chauffeurs, and as the gentlemen who will handle the levers are possessed of surpassing skill, a fine race is assured. Harry Meyer and A. L. Randall are entered with gasoline carriages and Thomas Baxter and C. H. Doebler with steam vehicles.

Five miles is the distance to be run, the starters to finish within a time limit. Each vehicle will contain two men, one to look after guiding the vehicle and the other to attend to the levers and act as ballast on the turns. Four handsome prizes have been secured for this race, the first being a valuable vase donated by August Bruder.

There will also be a motorcycle race, in which there are several outside entries.

In the morning at League park there will be a base ball game between teams from the Pennsylvania shops in Fort Wayne and Allegheny City, Pa. The game will be called at 9 o'clock and admission will be free.

JOINS NEWSPAPER GANG.

Rud H. Dieterich, a gifted young Cincinnati newspaper man, has arrived in the city and today began work in Fort Wayne as a reporter on the Journal-Gazette. Mr. Dieterich has been for several years on the staff of the Cincinnati Times-Star. He was presented a handsome loving cup by his newspaper associates on the occasion of his leaving Cincinnati.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of Wayne street M. E. church will meet Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. A. B. Walter, 912 West Creighton avenue.

WAYNE TOWNSHIP REPUBLICANS MEET TONIGHT.

CONVENTION AT COURT HOUSE

SOME SCRAMBLE FOR PLACE AS JUSTICES.

SAY B. W. SKELTON WILL WIN

SOME OF THE DELEGATES
CHOSEN LAST EVENING.

This evening the republicans of Wayne township will place in nomination two candidates for justice of the peace, two candidates for constable, three candidates for places on the advisory board and four for supervisor.

The convention will be called to order at 7:30 o'clock in the court house assembly room, and Thomas D. DeVilliss will doubtless be chosen chairman. Nothing of an exciting nature is anticipated, and the only interest manifested is in the case of the justices of the peace. It is practically certain that Benjamin W. Skelton will get one of these places.

Mr. Skelton has been doing some campaigning, and he had a slate of delegates in every ward in the city. A majority of the ward gave instructions for Skelton, while other delegations will go into the convention divided. In addition to Mr. Skelton the list of candidates was augmented today when it was announced that Joseph Lombard, the veteran ex-mail carrier, and John B. Kelley, a grocer on Columbia avenue, were candidates for justice of the peace. Other candidates under consideration include Col. C. B. Oakley, C. C. Casterline, Emanuel Stress and Louis P. Huser, elected as a democrat and now closing his term of office. With one of the two justice's places conceded to Skelton, it looks like a fight between about six candidates for the other.

SOME OF THE DELEGATES.

Caucuses for the selection of delegates were held in all the wards of the city last evening. The delegates chosen, so far as had been reported to Chairman Harris up to noon today, were as follows:

First Ward—George Miller, James Orr, John Pfeiffer, Charles W. Buck.
Second Ward—J. B. Harper, R. B. Hanna, W. D. Shaffer, Erastus Shuman, I. Sluss.
Third Ward—Wilbur Carpenter, Louis Heck, W. S. Patten, Dr. G. C. Keel, Wm. B. C. Kayser.

Fourth Ward—Col. B. S. Robertson, Judge R. B. Dreibels, D. L. Reaher, F. W. Keil, H. C. Maderwell, M. J. Bittz.

Fifth Ward—Harry Templar, C. B. Woodworth, W. F. Geller, Eph. P. Dalley, Theo. Frank, W. C. Etzold.

Sixth Ward—J. H. Bilderback, Fred Stetler, Floyd Golden, W. M. Glenn, J. W. Hayden, William Griebel, Ed N. Detzer.

Seventh Ward—J. N. Medsker, Peter Hamilton, William Schultz, Ed. White.

Eighth Ward—S. D. Bitler, G. W. Soliday, Henry Kessler, Fred Schmeling.

Ninth Ward—George Motz, George Brower, Elmer Young, Ed. Schoch.

Tenth Ward—T. D. DeVilliss, Frank Beahm, William Knoch, Jasper Edsall.

LADIES ON A TROLLEY TRIP.

About fifty Fort Wayne ladies, guests of the Misses Swinney, left the city at 11 o'clock this morning in the special car Illinois over the Fort Wayne and Southwestern electric line to spend the day along that system. Conductor Saylor is in charge of the car. It is chartered for the day and is absolutely at the pleasure of the ladies regarding its movements. It is probable that the trip will be extended over the new sections of the road west of Huntington, and it is certain to be a very delightful affair.

MEETING OF FAIR PROMOTERS.

The stockholders of the Fort Wayne Fair association will hold a meeting in the Commercial club rooms, Wayne and Calhoun street, on Friday afternoon, at which officers will be elected and plans for the fair discussed. The fair will be held at the Driving park September 9 to 13 and the sum of $10,000 has been raised to insure its success.

OSMOND-RAUNER.

Miss Frances Rauner and Frank Osmond were quietly married last evening at the residence of Father Roche, at 8 o'clock. The young people had intended that the affair should be very quiet, but their friends accidentally heard of the event and arranged a pleasant surprise. When Mr. and Mrs. Osmond went to their new home, 825 West DeWald street, they found a large number of friends awaiting them and an impromptu reception was held. The guests brought many handsome gifts, together with refreshments, and the festivities continued until a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. Osmond have gone east on a wedding trip and will be at home after August 15. The groom is a machinist at the Bass works.

STEEL COMPANY ORGANIZED

OFFICERS ELECTED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

G. Max Hofmann Is President—
Company Capitalized at $200,000 and Will Employ 200 Men.

A meeting of the stockholders of the new Fort Wayne Steel Foundry company was held yesterday afternoon in the offices of the Fort Wayne Trust company, and an organization was perfected. The following officers were elected:

President—Max Hofmann.
Vice President—Louis Fox.
Secretary—F. E. W. Schimann.
Treasurer—Charles S. Bash.
The board of directors consists of the above mentioned officers and Messrs. William Stephan, J. R. Sinclair, E. H. Coombs, J. B. Reuss, J. W. White and Charles McCulloch.

A call for the first payment of stock was made at the meeting and a levy of 20 per cent will be made, payable August 1.

The steel company is the first concern to locate on the ground recently purchased from the Rockhill estate by the Commercial Land company and it will erect its plant at the junction of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie tracks. The plant will require fifteen acres of ground, and it is believed that at least 200 men will be employed from the start.

The Fort Wayne Steel Foundry company is strictly a Fort Wayne concern, backed by Fort Wayne capital and having as stockholders the leading business men of Fort Wayne. The Montpelier steel plant, of which Mr. Hofmann is head, will be merged with the Fort Wayne company.

TURNERS ELECT OFFICERS.

The Turnverein Vorwaerts met last evening for the purpose of electing officers and making some changes in the constitution. The following officers were elected: President, Victor Katterer; vice president, Leonhart Jaxtheimer; corresponding secretary, Adolph Roggen; recording secretary, Adolph Puff; financial secretary, Gus Kedchum; treasurer, Dan Clemens; first turnwart, Louis Gaurert; second turnwart, John Wagner; zeugwart, Arthur Lobse, and flag-bearer, John Koch. Mr. Koch was also elected trustee for the next three years.

WARRANT IS ISSUED.

A warrant was issued by Judge Dreibels this afternoon for the arrest of William Oetting, a dairyman residing on Walton avenue, on a charge of selling impure milk, preferred by Health Commissioner Macbeth. A sample of the milk sold by Oetting, which was tested by Dr. Macbeth, is alleged to have shown that it had been skimmed and that water had been added. Oetting will have a hearing before Judge Dreibels tomorrow morning.

A LUNATIC'S DEED.

New York, July 17.—An insane man, whose name is thought to be Henry F. Kane, entered the New York Foundling Asylum today and shot Sister Serella in the left breast and Sister Angela in the fleshy part of the right arm.

Kane then ran into the grounds of the asylum and shot himself in the breast, making a flesh wound. Sister Serella is not expected to live.

EASTERN MEN COMING.

S. B. Fleming and his associates, who are to construct an electric railway between Fort Wayne and New Haven, are at work upon details for the organization of the company. It is announced that a number of eastern capitalists who are interested in the proposition will be in the city within a few days and it is probable the organization will be completed at that time. Work will then begin immediately.

Robert, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fooby, is dangerously ill with cholera infantum.

OPPOSE A STRIKE

THAT IS THE SENTIMENT OF THE COAL MINERS.

IS NOT LIKELY TO CHANGE

RESPECT FOR CONTRACT THE DOMINATING NOTE.

BIG CONVENTION IS BEGUN

MITCHELL OPPOSES STRIKE AND PRESENTS PLAN.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 17.—At the meeting of the United Mine Workers today President John J. Mitchell strongly opposed the ordering of a sympathetic strike and advocated in its place the following policy:

1. That the treasurer of the order be directed to appropriate $50,000 for the relief of the anthracite miners.
2. That the unions appropriate for the same purpose as large a sum as they can afford.
3. That an assessment of $1.00 per week be levied on all members of unions.
4. That all officers of the National districts drawing a salary of $60 a month or over contribute 25 per cent of their salaries.
5. That an appeal be made to all trade unions and citizens generally to aid the cause of the miners.
6. That an address to the American people be issued appealing to the American people to bring such pressure to bear as will compel the operators to submit to arbitration.

At the conclusion of the president's address a motion was made by W. D. Ryan, of Illinois, that the suggestions of Mr. Mitchell be adopted. A long and animated discussion followed.

THE DOMINANT FEELING.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 17.—With all the delegates who are to take part in the convention of the United Mine Workers on the ground, there is no more sentiment in favor of a strike than there was last night.

The opinion is steadily gaining ground among the delegates that a strike would lessen the chances of the anthracite miners to win their fight, for the reason that it would take from them all the support that the soft coal men will be able to extend if they continue at work. Then, too, there is a genuine dislike among the soft coal men to take action that will place them in the position of violating their contracts with the mine-owners. While it is impossible to predict what any body of the men will do with a given question when there is a chance that the gathering may be swept from its feet by a few impassioned speeches, the aspect of the convention when it opened this morning was adverse to a strike.

FIRST SESSION OPEN.

The convention began in Tomlinson hall, with an attendance of about 900 delegates. Nearly every man on the floor was the possessor of several proxies, some holding as high as five and others from four to two.

The first session was not of an executive character and there were many spectators present anxious to witness the proceedings of what has been heralded as one of the most important gatherings of laboring men held in recent years. The first part of the session was devoted to addresses of welcome from municipal officers of Indianapolis and responses in behalf of the union.

CHEERS GREET MITCHELL.

President Mitchell was greeted with cheers when he appeared on the platform. Secretary Wilson, following close after, shared the applause. Prompt to the second President Mitchell brought down his gavel, saying: "The hour of 10 having arrived, the convention will be in order." Secretary Wilson then read the call for the convention and President Mitchell called for the report of the committee on credentials. The reading of this by Michael McGart, of the committee, consumed much time, as the report contained the name of every delegate, with a statement of the number of votes possessed by each man.

Delegate Campbell, a colored man from Kentucky, moved the acceptance of the report and the continuation of the committee. This was done and the convention adjourned until 1:30 p. m.

BROCKERMANN-STANDARD.

Miss Anna E. Standard and William C. Brockerman were married this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Wayne street M. E. parsonage by Rev. Asher S. Preston. Mr. and Mrs. Brockerman will reside on Eagle avenue.

MISHAP BLOCKED TRAFFIC.

Wednesday afternoon an immense load of hay was accidentally overturned at the intersection of Fulton and Sturgis streets, blocking traffic for a time on the Southwestern. When the interurban car reached the obstruction, employees and passengers alighted and assisted the unfortunate farmer in getting his hay off the tracks.

KINGMORE GOT THIRD MONEY.

Frank Pearce returned at noon today from Lima, O., where he was in attendance upon the harness races. Kingmore, now in charge of Pearce Brothers, started in the 2:25 class there yesterday and came second twice and fourth once, getting away with third money.

AN ORGANIZATION EFFECTED

FALL FESTIVAL ASSOCIATION
ELECTS OFFICERS.

Festival Will Be the Biggest Gala
Event Since the Centennial—Opens August 25.

The promoters of the fall festival met last evening in the Commercial club and organized, electing the following officers:

President and Director General—L. C. Hunter.
Vice President—L. A. Centlivre.
Secretary—J. B. Mouning.
Treasurer—Henry A. Wiebke.
Executive Board—Ora Seaney, Frank Falck, Frank Edmunds, John Lassus, C. B. Woodworth, August Jackson, Dr. J. A. Williams, Charles Bryson and William Malle.
Committee on Selection of Grounds—L. C. Hunter, Ed Kleindinst and Bert Lichtenwalter.

Another meeting of the association will be held in the Commercial club rooms on Friday evening, when the committee on grounds, for the Gaskill-Mundy attractions will report. A number of sub-committees will be appointed at this meeting.

The fall festival will be held during the week beginning Monday, August 25, and the promoters say it will be a gala affair, surpassing anything ever attempted in Fort Wayne, with the probable exception of the centennial. A different program will be given every day and there will be mardi gras, industrial and other parades, and attractions of every kind such as hand contests, games, fireworks, etc.

The association has closed a contract with the Gaskill-Mundy company, which controls fifteen shows of the highest class. This company has been exhibiting its attractions in many of the towns and cities in Indiana and Ohio and the shows are most highly spoken of.

The week selected in which to hold the festival is at a time when Fort Wayne merchants are least busy and when farmers have most leisure to come to the city. That there will be many thousands of visitors in Fort Wayne during the festival is an assured fact, the Central Traffic association having granted a rate of a fare and a third in the district within a radius of 100 miles of Fort Wayne. The association will open an office in a few days and will begin advertising the festival extensively. Every town within fifty miles will be billed, and it is probable that envelopes similar to those used during the street fair will be issued.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Andrew F. Ausman and Frances J. M. Rauner.
James K. Smithers and Dora Derr.
William C. Brockerman and Anna E. Standard.

LOCAL LINES.

The Women's Missionary society of Westminster Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. M. Gerard, 45 Wagner street, Friday afternoon at 2:30.

A member of the family stated to The Sentinel today that Fred Vordermark's condition was somewhat improved and there is expectation of his being able to be about in a few days.

J. M. Jillich, traveling passenger agent for the "Frisco" system, was in the city yesterday and last evening the guest of Col. R. G. Thompson, of the Wabash line, and other friends.

Miss Gertrude Wesel gave a 9 o'clock dinner last evening in honor of Georgia and Corinne Forling, of Shreveport, La., and Eleanor and Gertrude Forling, of Decatur. The young people went to Decatur on a visit today.

FREIGHT HANDLERS STRIKE IS AT AN END.

ACCEPT TERMS OF JULY 1

RAILROADS MAKE NO OTHER AGREEMENT.

MEN VOTE TO RESUME WORK

TRAINMEN ALSO GO BACK AND ACTIVITY RESUMES.

Chicago, July 16.—The Association of Railway General Managers, embracing every road which enters Chicago, have issued the following signed statement:

"All of our old men, not before on hand for work, reported at the freight houses at noon today and were put to work. No conference was held with any committee or otherwise since Tuesday, and no agreement was made with the union or with any committee. The men simply reported for work and they doubtless expect and will receive the pay offered July 1, and which the railroad companies have been willing all along to pay."

VOTED TO RESUME WORK.

Chicago, July 16.—After two days of strife the Chicago freight handlers' strike terminated today in an unqualified victory for the railroads. A meeting of the strikers, presided over by President Curran, resulted in an almost unanimous vote to return to work, leaving the wage scale and other questions for settlement between the men and their respective roads.

At the conclusion of the meeting the strikers went by hundreds to the warehouses to apply for their old positions, and the teamsters who have remained out in sympathy again took up their reins. By noon immense quantities of freight which had been held back for days were being rushed to the railroads, as taken from warehouses and cars. Where stagnation had ruled commercial activity again resumed. Chicago merchants expressed unbounded relief at the termination of hostilities, but they were scarcely less happy than the men themselves, although the strike is estimated to have cost them $10,000,000, to say nothing of the trade that has been permanently lost to them.

The little hall where the meeting of strikers took place was jammed to suffocation, and thousands were unable to obtain entrance. It was a brief meeting, only long enough for an angry speech by Curran and the vote which followed.

CURRAN'S ANGRY WORDS.

"Men," said Curran, "we came out like men; we have acted like men, and we should not go back like sheep, but there has been treachery in our camp. Yesterday, when I was about to use the telephone, the wire got crossed and I heard one of the members of our executive committee talking with a railroad manager. He was encouraging the manager to hold out, for he told him that the strike was almost broken. That is a sample of the faith that has been kept with me. The officials of the truck drivers' union have not kept faith, either, and it seems useless to continue the fight any longer. Shall we go back and ask for our old jobs?"

In this simple form the matter was put to a vote and almost immediately a great chorus of ayes had brought to a peaceful end one of Chicago's most serious and threatening labor situations. It is believed the roads generally will allow the truckers seven cents an hour and minor concessions granted by the proposition of July 1. The proposition accepted by the men was in effect the one given to President Curran by the state board of arbitration earlier in the day, although the proposition in its proper form was not placed before the men.

WILL TAKE OLD MEN BACK.

The railroad managers, when told of the vote to return to work, said that wherever possible the old men would be taken back. A small percentage of the new men, however, will be retained for a time at least. Nowhere was the news of the settlement received with more pleasure than the warehouses where thousands of men, gathered from other points of the various roads to take the places of the strikers, were longing to return to their homes. They had been well fed and given good sleeping quarters, but the big majority of them, being accustomed to the comfort of their homes, were tired of being "herded."

WERE WEDDED AT NOON.

William Earl Flowers, of Sturgis, Mich., and Miss Edna M. Bender, of Huntington, were united in marriage at noon today, the ceremony being performed at the parsonage of the Wayne street M. E. church, by Rev. A. S. Preston. Accompanying the bride party were the bride's mother and Harry O. Dungan and Miss Maud Murray, of Huntington. Fort Wayne is becoming quite a Greenha Green for Huntington brides. This is the fourth Huntington couple wedded by Rev. Preston within the past few weeks.

WILL MEET TONIGHT.

The special council committee, consisting of Baker, Glenn and Hoesy, appointed by the committee of the whole last night, will meet tomorrow night to consider the extension clause of the Fort Wayne Traction company's proposed new franchise.

ARE NOT IN THE NEW COMBINE

LOCAL WHOLESALE GROCERS DISCREDIT A STORY.

Fort Wayne Firms Believe Reported Organization is Very Largely Fiction.

So far as can be learned none of the wholesale grocery houses in Fort Wayne are in any way connected with the proposed combination of big wholesale grocery dealers, said to have been organized by Chicago capitalists, with Harlow N. Higgins, both at its head. More than this the Fort Wayne institutions doubt very much whether any such merger has been accomplished.

The new combination, capitalized at $5,000,000 and known as the National Grocer company, was presumed to include all the prominent firms in Illinois, Ohio, Missouri and Michigan. The Fort Wayne wholesale houses questioned today disclaimed any knowledge of the merger and all asserted that they were in no way connected with any such project.

It is learned, however, that several months ago a representative of the plan visited Fort Wayne and endeavored to enlist the sympathy of wholesalers here with the organization and at his earnest solicitation one of the local wholesale houses, A. H. Perfoot & Co., sent a representative to New York to attend a preliminary meeting. The result was that the firm decided there was nothing in the proposition and dropped the matter.

DETAILS ARE MEAGER.

St. Paul, July 16.—Telegraph communication with the Red River valley is still interrupted, but a brief telephone conversation with Grand Forks at noon brought the news that the storm was very widespread and did much small damage, which will be heavy in the aggregate, but there is yet no confirmation of the reports that several towns have been destroyed.

MR. BEALL PROMOTED.

Washington, July 16.—Special.—Marion E. Beall, formerly one of the editors of the Fort Wayne Gazette, appointed to the insular division of the war department three years ago, has been promoted to chief of the division of translation and compilation. The promotion was due to merit.

JOSEPH PASSINO DEAD.

Joseph Passino, a pioneer citizen of Fort Wayne and very widely known, died late this afternoon at his home, 2115 Lafayette street, at the age of 78 years. Mr. Passino had long been a sufferer from paralysis.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Frank Cox and Catherine Stanger. Archie Otterman and Agnes Burk.

TAKING DOWN THE POLES.

The decided stand taken by the board of works has evidently spurred the Bell Telephone company to a realization that the pole ordinance was a force of men was at work today removing the wires from Columbia street and all the poles between Calhoun and Clinton street have been completely stripped.

The Young People's society of Trinity Lutheran church will give an ice cream social Thursday evening, July 17, at the corner of Hoffman and Oakland streets. The Walther League orchestra of the church will furnish music.

DIE IN THE MINE

TWO SCORE LIVES LOST IN THE BIG DALY-WEST.

POWDER MAGAZINES EXPLODE

TERRIBLE CATASTROPHE NEAR PARK CITY, UTAH.

MANY OF DEAD TAKEN OUT

FUMES OF EXPLOSION CAUSED MOST OF DEATHS.

Park City, Utah, July 16.—Two powder magazines at the 1,900-foot level of the Daly-West mine exploded about 1 o'clock this morning, causing a loss of life variously estimated at from thirty-six to fifty.

The latest message from the mine by telephone says that up to 10 o'clock thirty-three bodies had been recovered.

THE DEAD.

The following is a list of the dead: At the Ontario—Geo. Garvin, William Sewell, Chris. Sedgwick, Steve Baratti, Charles Heime, W. F. Thomas. At the Daly West—Thomas A. Kelly, R. Jackman, J. B. Kindell, John Featherstone, John Gill, William Lane, C. E. Nelson, John Gabbia, Harry Gabbia, Wm. Sims, John Maloney, Ike Crowley, John McLaughlin, John Lively, John McQuinn, Chris. Colten, John Burg, W. A. Wigland, James Murnin, Richard Dillon, Pat O'Neill, Peter Barran, Charles McLinden, Thomas McKown, Mike Conlon, John Extram, John McLaughlin.

Officials of the Daly-West state that only three more bodies are in the mine. Miners, however, assert that there are twelve or fifteen still unaccounted for.

The fumes from the explosion were overpowering and caused most of the deaths. Several miners were recovered in a half-dazed condition. These were all brought out through the Ontario mine shaft, which is a mile distant from the Daly-West, in which the explosion occurred. The 1,900 level of the Daly-West corresponds to and is connected by tunnel with the 800 level of the Ontario.

In the Daly-West mine between 100 and 150 men were at work. In the Ontario were nearly 100, it is believed.

TWO POWDER MAGAZINES. There are two powder magazines at the 1,900 level of the Daly-West, one at each side of the shaft, with a capacity of from one to two cars of powder each. A car of powder was added to the supply within the past few days.

The explosion, which occurred at 1 o'clock, was so tremendous that it awakened everyone within a radius of miles. As an example of its awful force, it is said that two horses in the ore tunnel one and a half miles away were killed by it.

Women and children are thronging to the Ontario shaft house, which is midway between Park City and the Daly-West. Nearly all of them have husbands or fathers in the mines, and their grief is pitiable. All of the doctors in town are at the mines. They are doing what they can to resuscitate the unconscious men as they are taken out, but it is difficult to obtain information down town, as the telephone to the mine has failed.

A RESCUE DIES.

Members of the relief party who went into the Ontario mine shortly after the explosion occurred have not yet returned and fears are entertained for their safety. McLaughlin was one of the rescuers who went down the second time to help and died on being brought to the surface. He was asphyxiated. Eight miners escaped through the anchor tunnel unhurt.

SLUMP OF DALY-WEST.

Salt Lake, Utah, July 16.—On the local mining stock exchange this morning Daly-West dropped from $54 to $48 a share, a loss of over

$1,000,000 on the entire capital stock.

A PROMISING OUTLOOK FOR PRESIDENT'S COMING.

TO COURT HOUSE DEDICATION

SECRETARY CORTELYOU RESPONDS TO INVITATION.

ROOSEVELT HOPES TO COME

SCHEDULE OF NORTHWESTERN TRIP IS GIVEN OUT.

Present indications are regarded as very favorable for the coming of President Roosevelt to Fort Wayne to participate in the dedication of the Allen county court house in September.

Information received today from the president's home at Oyster Bay makes it evident that the itinerary for the executive's western trip has not yet been made up, and that the invitation extended by the county commissioners a few days ago reached President Roosevelt in ample time to be taken into consideration in making up the schedule for the western tour, which has been contemplated by the president for some time.

IT IS ACKNOWLEDGED.

Acknowledgment of the invitation forwarded on Friday was received at noon today by President Ort, of the board of county commissioners, in the form of a letter from the president's secretary. The letter follows: "Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 14, 1902. My Dear Sir: I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 11th instant, with enclosure, and to state that the matter of which you write will be given the fullest consideration when the plans for the trip to which you refer are taken up for action. Very truly yours, "Geo. B. Cortelyou, "Secretary to the President."

"Mr. Chas. E. Ort, Fort Wayne, Ind." Lieutenant Governor Gilbert is also in receipt of advice from another source indicating that the president very much desires to accept the Fort Wayne invitation, and will make an earnest effort to do so.

MAY BE SEPTEMBER 23.

The Sentinel's dispatches this afternoon announce that President Roosevelt will be in Detroit September 23 to attend a meeting of Spanish-American war veterans, and the schedule provides that he is to be in Indianapolis on the day following—Tuesday, Sept. 23. It is not impossible that the president may arrange to stop in Fort Wayne en route, reaching this city during the morning hours, spend a short time here and then proceed to the state capital. However, nothing more definite will be known until further advice is received from Washington.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 16.—(Special.)—Senator Beveridge today received a letter from Secretary Cortelyou stating that the invitation to President Roosevelt to attend the dedication of the court house at Fort Wayne had been received by the president, and that the latter hopes to be able to consider it favorably.

ARRANGING FOR THE TRIP.

Washington, July 16.—Secretary Cortelyou was at his desk in the temporary white house today. Mr. Cortelyou will remain here several days and will then take his family away for a vacation. The vacation will be the first of any length Mr. Cortelyou has taken in several years.

Mr. Cortelyou's principal business in returning to Washington is to submit to Secretary Shaw a schedule of payments to be made on account of the illness and death of President McKinley.

Secretary Cortelyou has completed the itinerary of two trips to be made by President Roosevelt, one to the New England states in August and the other to the northwest in September. The president will leave Oyster Bay August 23 and will visit all of the New England states on that journey. The New England trip will take about ten days and the president will be back in Oyster Bay about the first of September. He will remain at his home until September 19, when he will leave on his northwestern trip.

The trip will last two weeks and four days and will take in many places in the northwest. The president will stop first at Cincinnati on his way out and then his next important stop will be Detroit, to which place he goes to attend the annual convention of the Spanish war veterans on September 26. From Detroit the president will go to Indianapolis to attend the meeting in that city of the other organization of the Spanish war veterans. This will be on the day following his visit to Detroit.

ORDERED A CLEAN-UP.

Several days ago the county health officer, Dr. Carl Froeger, discovered in two houses occupied by Syrians, on Epy Run avenue, a condition of filth that called for immediate action, and Dr. Froeger ordered an immediate cleaning up of the premises. Members of the colony at once set about scrubbing at a vehement rate, and when the officer again visited the place today there was little cause for complaint. The inhabitants were warned that if the premises were again permitted to resume their former condition, prosecution would at once follow.

FREED OF CHARGE

HONORABLE MARIOTTE EXONERATED AT HEARING.

EVIDENCE FAILED TO SHOW

RECEPTION AND CONCEALMENT

OF STOLEN GOODS.

MRS. DAVIS IS UNDER BOND

BANKRUPTCY PETITION IN FEDERAL COURT.

Honorable Mariotte, the pawnbroker, arrested on an affidavit made by postoffice inspectors last week, charging him with having received, secreted and concealed goods which he knew to have been stolen from the United States mails, was discharged after a preliminary hearing before Commissioner Logan this morning. The government officials utterly failed to bring evidence to substantiate their charge against Mr. Mariotte.

The case was one which grew out of the action against Harvey Davis and Earl Reed, now in jail to await the action of the federal grand jury on a charge of having stolen merchandise from the mails at the Fort Wayne postoffice. Davis was a mail wagon driver and Reed was his chum. Both have made confessions.

Reed asserts that he sold to Mr. Mariotte a new razor which had been stolen from the mails and given him by Davis. He identified Mr. Mariotte as the man who purchased the razor, giving him 25 cents for it. Postoffice Inspectors Kile and Foster, in looking up the case against the boys, found the razor in the window of Mariotte's establishment, which they asserted was the one sold by Reed. The latter also identified the razor.

Mr. Mariotte, on the other hand, contended that the razor found in his place had been in stock before the robbery of the mails occurred, and neither he nor his employee had any recollection of ever having bought a razor from Reed. The evidence was gone into at much length in the hearing today, among the witnesses examined being Inspectors Kile and Foster, Col. John A. Scott, Mr. Dygert, an employee of Mariotte's and Earl Reed, also a clerk at that establishment. Assistant District Attorney Lafayette represented the government, while Attorney A. H. Bittinger defended Mr. Mariotte.

Commissioner Logan, in his decision discharging Mr. Mariotte, held that the identification of the razor had been established, but that there was no evidence to show that Mr. Mariotte knew the razor had been stolen at the time of his purchase, and that the charge of "receiving and concealing" stolen goods, which constituted the strongest portion of the offense charged, was effectively disproved in the fact that the razor in question was on prominent display in Mr. Mariotte's window.

MRS. DAVIS IS HELD.

Mrs. Harriet E. Davis, mother of the young man charged with having stolen from the mails, was held to await the action of the federal grand jury, on a charge of secreting stolen property, but she was given her liberty upon her own recognizance in the sum of $500. Mrs. Davis admitted to the commissioner that at the request of her son she had taken a box containing the stolen plunder from an outbuilding and secreted it beneath her house on Chicago street, where it was later found by Inspector Kile.

A SNEAK THIEF'S BIG HAUL

ROBS AN EXPRESS OFFICE IN NEW YORK.

In Broad Daylight and in Presence of Half a Hundred Clerks He Gets Away With Over $5,000.

New York, July 16.—A sneak thief has marched into the offices of the Southern Pacific railroad at 34 Broadway, this city, and, although there were half a hundred people there at the time, he calmly marched out again, taking with him the cashier's money box.

The box contained the day's receipts. Usually it holds $25,000 to $50,000 in negotiable paper and cash. On this occasion, however, it held only about $5,000 in checks and notes, and, the cashier thinks, less than $100 in cash.

As a rule the box is kept in the safe of the office, but the cashier had taken it out and placed it on his desk, intending to return it to the safe in a moment. He left his compartment for a short time and when he got back the box was gone and no trace of the thief could be found. The checks can, it is thought, be readily cashed, as many of them are for small amounts and the cashier has no record whereby he can stop payment.

A PORCH-CLIMBER'S JOB.

San Francisco, Cal., July 16.—A porch-climber entered the residence of French Consul General De Lemaigre last night and got away with diamonds and jewelry worth $3,000. Altogether thirty-three pieces of jewelry were stolen, many of them heirlooms and gifts from rulers of nations to whose courts M. De Lemaigre had been sent in the diplomatic service of France. One loser by the thief is the sublime porte. The robber took the green crown of Turkey, a gold and enameled emblem with which M. De Lemaigre had been decorated. This decoration is merely loaned and upon the death of the recipient is to be returned to the sultan. This was a heavy piece, worth no gold $400.

DESTRUCTION OF HAI CHEE.

Victoria, B. C., July 16.—News was received by the steamer Empress of India of the destruction of the Chinese cruiser Hai Chee, at Hongkong, by an explosion. The Japanese cruiser Atago arrived at Haikuan on June 21 and the magazine of the Hai Chee was opened to salute her. Then came the explosion. Of the crew of 200 to 250 but two escaped. The cruiser went up like a flash, the explosion being heard for five miles and showers of debris were scattered far and wide. Three small boats lying alongside were destroyed with their occupants. The United States cruiser Helene, which was in the vicinity, picked up the two survivors from the wreckage.

Marion, Ind., July 16.—The city council last night passed an ordinance repealing the franchise of the Marion Transit company, now held by the Union Traction company, and ordering the Union Traction company to remove the tracks, which have been abandoned on Gallatin street. The Union Traction company is given thirty days to take up the tracks, poles and wires and repair the streets. The July Stock Reduction Sale Moves with its usual Magnet-like power—It draws.

We do not claim to have bale after bale, case upon case and thousands of yards of surplus goods that we have mistakenly bought, and are forced to get rid of at half the price we paid for them. We know that kind of advertising, to you, is amusing, but not creditable.

We have our usual amount of surplus stock in a number of departments, and in order to induce you to help us to cut this down, we make a general and genuine reduction in price on every article in our whole stock, with the greatest cut upon that portion which we wish especially to move.

This is reasonable advertising, reasonable selling, that wins the confidence of the public.

When you buy a yard of silk from us at 48c, you can be certain that it was not goods that we had been selling at 50c, advertised as worth 65c, to be sold at 48c.

When you buy anything in our suit and cloak room as a greater than usual bargain, you can depend upon it as being such, and not an article that has been advertised at a fictitious price and a supposedly startling reduction made on that price.

Goods bought at this month's prices are likely to prove bargains of more than ordinary value. Owing to present and expected labor troubles, the closing of a number of mills in many lines, will have a tendency to make goods scarce and, therefore, to say the least, no cheaper.

Purchases at our prices this month will be good investments for you.

The city council seems willing enough to settle the traction matter, for it holds meetings enough to guarantee good faith.

At the same time it will strike the public that the board of works is not suffering any travail it cannot find means to remedy if it likes and has the backbone to employ.

Mr. Wu might round out his diplomatic career in this country by writing a book on "The Impressions I Have Made on America." He ought to know, for there was perfect design in his way of doing it.

The frequent recurrence of mine disasters is calculated to impress on the general public that the miner is pretty nearly justified in wringing all he can from the mine-owners for his uninviting and perilous toil.

Mr. Bryan did not get his invitation to the Tilden club dinner until several weeks after that notable function had passed. He makes it, however, stand for the text of discourse on the perfidy of Mr. Cleveland and takes renewed occasion to announce that he would not have accepted the invitation even if he had received it on time.

Tom L. Johnson should not go too far west to find wind for his presidential boom. When the time comes it doubtless will be discovered that the states between the Mississippi and the Alleghenies and several of the southern states will be in a tolerable state of harmony with the east on the question of issues and the consideration of candidates. The far west will not be the factor it has been in the last two national conventions, if the present situation is a criterion.

The board of works is doing considerable complaining because public improvements are not hurried along by contractors. It often happens that public work is delayed through the fault of no one in particular, but in the present instance the board appears to think somebody is to blame. The board can remedy the evil by compelling contractors to furnish forfeit bond for expeditions performance of work. This kind of bond should be exacted in the case of street paving improvements. It is a great hardship, especially in the business district, to have streets torn up and rendered impassable while there is a long delay because of a lack of material or from other causes.

More than ever it seems probable the city council and the Fort Wayne Traction company will yet be able to resolve the rather complex differences that for months have stood in the way of much needed and loudly demanded railway improvements in this city. At last night's meeting of the council there was given some evidence that the traction company will yet accept a thirty-five year franchise in lieu of the grants for fifty years that were at first asked for. To our mind this is a most important concession and one the council can well afford to accept in exchange for some of the concessions demanded by the company. We believe the traction company's position on the question of compulsory extensions hereafter is only such as sound business judgment would dictate in this city or elsewhere and affords poor ground for the objections of the captious. As Manager Scott points out, if the option of determining when and where street railway extensions shall be made is lodged entirely in the council, it would lie within the power of that body to bankrupt the corporation. The suggested provision for arbitration might solve the difficulty. However, there should be in the franchise a provision to compel extensions where absolutely needed. The best measure for achieving this without placing the city wholly at the mercy of the corporation's inclination or discretion and at the same time protecting the company from any unreasonable or hostile exactions of future councils is an affair the council and traction company probably can devise in good time.

TO MAKE PERSONAL CANVASS

FOR SALE OF LOTS IN NEW FACTORY ADDITION.

Some Plans of the Commercial Improvement Company for Beautifying Fort Wayne.

The Commercial Improvement company, which recently purchased a sixty-acre tract of the Bookhill and Swinney land at the southwestern edge of the city, held a meeting last evening at which plans were discussed for placing the lots upon the market to assist in locating factories there.

Thirty acres have been reserved for factory sites and the remainder platted into about 170 lots, which are to be sold at $250 each. It is proposed that a personal canvass shall first be made to see if the lots can be disposed of in this manner. If this plan fails, then a public meeting will be held, at which the object of the sale will be set forth and an appeal made to citizens to invest in the property.

The new Fort Wayne steel casting plant will be located adjacent to these lots and the industry promises to be one of the largest in the city. It is desired that two hundred houses be erected there at once in order that workmen in the big shops, covering fifteen acres, may be accommodated with homes. Another large company, promising to give employment to 400 men at an average wage of $2.50 per day, is also negotiating for a site here.

The company proposes to grade and gravel the streets, build sidewalks and construct a main sewer. The Southwestern Interurban line passes through the addition, and efforts are on foot to have the cars of the Fort Wayne Traction company also reach this territory. A gentleman of much experience in real estate matters, in discussing the situation, today said: "One of the finest opportunities ever offered for the making of money in Fort Wayne real estate is in these lots. Very moderate prices have been placed upon the lots and there is no doubt that they will be worth double the price asked for them inside of a year. This new addition will prove a revelation in city building here. It will be a perfect hive of industry and real estate in that vicinity will be more valuable than in any addition added to the city in recent years."

TALK TO PURPOSE

COUNCIL AND TRACTION REP.

REPRESENTATIVES CONFER.

NOTHING DEFINITE IS DONE

BUT LIGHT IS BREAKING ON THE SITUATION.

A THIRTY-FIVE-YEAR GRANT

THAT MAY BE ACCEPTED BY THE CORPORATION.

The city council met last evening in adjourned session, resolved itself into a committee of the whole to discuss Fort Wayne Traction company franchises and extensions, talked with Attorney Barrett and Manager Scott until 11 o'clock and took a recess until Friday night to further consider the matter and as a matter of fact did nothing else officially except appoint a committee consisting of Councilmen Bauer, Glenn and Hoesy and the city attorney to further confer with Attorney Barrett and Manager Scott with regard to changing the section of the franchise making it obligatory upon the company to build future extensions when in the opinion of the city officials public necessities demanded extensions.

The most vital point of the evening's discussion was raised by Councilman Miller, who demanded to know then and there whether the company would accept the thirty-five year franchise. Attorney Barrett did not want to make immediate answer, but upon Councilman Miller's insisting that a positive answer be given before the council proceeded to waste any further time, Mr. Barrett, after a brief consultation with Mr. Scott, said that the company would take the matter into serious consideration.

Mayor Berghoff called the council to order, which on motion, immediately went into committee of the whole with Councilman Scheid in the chair and Councilman Hensch at the secretary's desk and all the members present excepting Meier and O'Ryan. The committee took up the work of considering the revised franchise at the point where it had been dropped at the previous meeting and the first section related to the equipment of the road. In answer to a question Mr. Scott stated that closed cars were run at this season at the solicitation of patrons of the line and that the criticisms upon the management in not providing open cars on all the lines at this time was unwarranted.

INTERURBAN QUESTION.

Next the proposition referring to the hauling of interurban cars over the company's lines was discussed and Mr. Scott stated that he would rather have that section eliminated altogether, since conditions had materially changed since last January, when his attorney drew the original contract. Somebody suggested that the matter be passed for the present and the suggestion was adopted.

Mr. Ehrman brought up the waiting room question and Bauer insisted that some assurance be given. Mr. Scott said that if the council would get permission from the county commissioners to erect an open shed on the corner of the court house square he would erect it at once. "I don't think I could buy the court house and the Hamilton bank corner is not for sale," said Mr. Scott. Reminded quite confidentially that the basement of the Hamilton bank could be had for the asking and could be easily equipped, Mr. Scott said that he couldn't consider it; that it was not high enough. To a question whether a low room with a roof over it was not better in wet weather than the high canopy of heaven, Mr. Scott did not deign to reply.

UNDERGROUND WIRES.

Mr. Ehrman then wanted to know why feed wires had not been put under ground as ordered by the council and said he thought now was a good time to find out whether the company proposed to obey ordinances or not. Miller moved that it was the sense of the council that the feed wire ordinance should be enforced. City Attorney Shambaugh volunteered the information that he thought the ordinance was valid and that he stood ready to bring action if the council considered an action the best policy; that he was ready at any time to test the ordinance. Mr. Scott was asked whether he would put wires under ground unless compelled to, to which he tersely replied: "Not unless somebody hypnotizes me." It was suggested that other franchisees had been granted recently in which no provision was made to put wires under ground, but when it was pointed out that other sections of the ordinance provided for compliance with safety regulations as viewed by the board of works, the matter was "passed for the evening."

STREET PAVING.

Section 7, referring to street paving, then came in for a discussion. In answer to an interrogation by Zurbuch Mr. Scott said that his company would pave twelve inches side the rolls on West Main street, which street will be paved in all probability before the new franchise gets much further. Miller wanted to know why all streets at present in course of improvement could not be included, which led Mr. Scott to inquire what assurance he had that the ordinance would pass even if he agreed to pave the streets. He was told that there was no assurance to give and that at any rate he would eventually be governed by the provisions of the franchise if it was granted.

Section 8, referring to track construction, was not debated and neither was section 9, relating to the right of way of cars over other vehicles.

TERM OF FRANCHISE.

Section 10, fixing the life of the franchise at 35 years, was next read and provoked some discussion. Berkenstein insisting that the committee had decided on 40 years; he was convinced of his mistake and the record stood at 35 years. Mr. Barrett made a most vigorous objection. He said that the company had always insisted that a 50-year franchise was the least it could consider and that it had finally considered a life of 40 years, which was the limit. He said that the improvement bonds had been issued and that they run for 40 years; that owing to the obstructions placed in the way of the company these bonds had not yet been placed upon the market and that if they were they could not be sold, since no one would buy bonds on a concern whose franchise expired 5 years before the bonds matured. Mr. Ehrman suggested that if the statement was true that none of the bonds had been offered for 40 years and none had been floated for sale he thought it was a question only of the cost of printing to issue bonds at 35 years and offer them after a franchise had been secured; that he could not see how the bonds should affect the franchise if no bonds had been sold and they were locked up in the company's vaults at Cleveland.

MILLER IS INSISTENT.

It was then that Councilman Miller took his pen in hand and arose to make a few remarks. He said that the time limit was one of the principal features of the franchise and that he did not believe the council would ever agree to a franchise running more than 35 years; he spoke only his own sentiments directly, but had spoken with a majority of the council and knew that a majority would not consent to a 50 or even a 40-year contract; that the council had been spending much time on this proposition and that he wanted to know then and there whether the company would accept a franchise with a life of 35 years or not; if not, there was no use in going into the matter any further and he was prepared to make a motion to adjourn sine die. During this talk Mr. Scott shook his head vigorously. Mr. Barrett said that the question was not fair at the time and that other franchisees had been let with less promises, but he thought the company might go into a 40-year contract.

"That is not answering my question," said Miller. "I am not talking about other franchisees or about 40 years; I am talking about this franchise at 35 years and before I vote on another proposition I want to know whether your company will accept a 35-year franchise."

RATHER DRAMATIC.

The incident was rather dramatic. Every councilman leaned forward over his desk to hear what reply the corporation's attorney would make and the attorney glanced hastily along the desks and realized that there was a crisis at hand—whether prearranged or not was not indicated, but that it was there there could be no doubt. He held a very brief whispered consultation with Mr. Scott. Miller in the meantime remained on his feet. Mr. Barrett then arose and with great deliberation said: "I suggest that we pass that matter for the evening. I will say, however, that if the other terms of the franchise can be arranged satisfactorily this company will consider the 35-year clause."

The effort was mighty and the concession was great, but it counted, as definite as it was, as one of the very few things accomplished in relation to the whole matter since last January.

QUESTION OF EXTENSIONS.

There was no further discussion until the last section was reached, providing for the building of future extensions after ten years, when the board of works or council deemed such extensions a public necessity. Mr. Barrett objected strongly to the construction of the clause, which gave the company no rights in the matter and placed it at the mercy of the council, who could bankrupt it at any time if they chose to. This attack on the integrity of the council was not relied on and a bombardment of questions followed being propounded by Scideler, Miller, Bauer, Ehrman and others wanting to know whether it was supposed that this council or any future council would be composed of pumbkulls or hold-up artists.

ARBITRATION SUGGESTED.

Mr. Barrett said the section was vague and that it was hard to determine when a public necessity ex-

CRUTCH-BOUND

The crutch is a poor substitute for legs, and affords a very inconvenient and tiresome mode of locomotion—there is no more pathetic sight than a person slowly and painfully moving along the street supported by these artificial limbs.

When Rheumatism settles in the bones and muscles of the legs, it is safe to predict that the victim will eventually become helpless and crutch-bound. The corrosive, irritating matter that is deposited in the joints and muscles causes the most intense pain, the knees and ankles swell, and when the natural oils and fluids that lubricate these parts are completely destroyed the joints become locked and the muscles drawn and stiff, and crutches a necessity.

The acid poisons that produce rheumatic pains form in the blood, and are distributed through the system, and lodged in the arms, shoulders, hands, back and feet, or other parts of the body—resulting often in total disability. A permanent cure of Rheumatism can be effected only by a complete cleansing of the blood, and no other remedy so surely accomplishes this as S. S. S. It neutralizes the acid effects, purifies and invigorates the stagnant blood, and the gritty particles are washed out or dislodged by the new rich blood, and relief comes to the pain-racked sufferer. S. S. S. leaves no morbid, irritating matter in the blood to reunite and produce another attack, but expels every atom of it from the system. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, and does not impair the digestion or general health like alkali or potash remedies.

Write for our special free book on Rheumatism, and if any medical advice or other information is wanted, our physicians will gladly furnish it without charge.

SMITH IS RETIRED

AUTHOR OF "KILL AND BURN"
ORDER IN DISGRACE.

APPROVES FINDING OF THE COURT MARTIAL.

AMERICAN NAME IS SULLIED

GEN. JACOB H. SMITH GOES TO RETIRED LIST.

Washington, July 16.—Secretary Root brought from Oyster Bay the case of Gen. Jacob H. Smith, tried by court martial at Manila on account of orders issued by Major Waller. General Smith was found guilty of the charges by the court and sentenced to be admonished by the reviewing authority. The president has so admonished General Smith and retired him under the law which provides that officers having reached the age of 62 years may be retired at will by the president. Secretary Root supplements the reprimand of President Roosevelt in a long circular, in which he explains the conditions which resulted in the court martial of General Smith, and shows that although Smith issued the "kill and burn" order, as a matter of fact very few persons were killed as a result of that order, the casualties being confined almost wholly to the eleven natives killed under Major Waller's direction.

TEXT OF THE REVIEW.

Following is the text of the president's review of the case:

"White House, Washington, July 14, 1902. By the president: The findings and sentence of the court are approved. I am well aware of the danger and great difficulty of the task our army has had in the Philippine Islands and of the well night intolerable provocations it has received from the cruelty, treachery and total disregard of the rules and customs of civilized warfare on the part of its foes. I also heartily approve the employment of the sternest measures necessary to put a stop to such atrocities and to bring this war to a close. It would be culpable to show weakness in dealing with such foes or to fail to use all legitimate and honorable methods to overcome them. But the very fact that warfare is of such character as to afford infinite provocation for the commission of acts of cruelty by junior officers and the enlisted men, must make the officers in high and responsible positions peculiarly careful in their bearing and conduct as to keep a moral check over any acts of an improper character by their subordinates. Almost universally the higher officers have so borne themselves as to supply this necessary check; and with but few exceptions the officers and soldiers of the army have shown wonderful kindness and forbearance in dealing with their foes. But there have been exceptions: there have been instances of the use of torture and of improper heartlessness in warfare on the part of individuals or small detachments.

SULLIED AMERICAN NAME.

"In the recent campaign ordered by General Smith, the shooting of the native bearers by the orders of Major Waller was an act which sullied the American name and can be but partly excused because of Major Waller's mental condition at the time; this mental condition being due to the fearful hardship and suffering which he had undergone in his campaign. It is impossible to tell exactly how much influence language like that used by General Smith may have had in preparing the minds of those under him for the commission of the deeds which we regret. Loose and violent talk by an officer of high rank is always likely to excite to wrong-doing those among his subordinates whose wills are weak or whose passions are strong.

ORDERS SMITH'S RETIREMENT.

"General Smith has bound him a long career distinguished for gallantry and on the whole for good conduct. Taken in the full, his work has been such as to reflect credit upon the nation; and it is deeply to be regretted that he should have so acted on this instance as to interfere with his further usefulness in the army. I hereby direct that he be retired from the active list.

(Signed.)

"Theodore Roosevelt."

REPUBLICAN CALL.

The republicans of Wayne township and the city of Fort Wayne will meet at their usual places at 7:30 o'clock this evening for the purpose of selecting delegates to the township convention to be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the assembly hall of the court house at Fort Wayne, Ind.

E. V. HARRIS, Chairman.

A fight was reported at the corner of Holman and Calhoun streets last night. Prior to the fight a couple of fellows and a couple of girls were standing on the corner leaving each other and things like that. A stranger came along and was asked what time it was. He pulled out his watch and informed the party that it was just 11:30. Then somebody grabbed his watch and handed it to one of the girls and both girls started to run north, turning west on Douglas avenue. The man did not appreciate his sudden separation from his chronometer and started a rough house with the fellow who did the grabbing. Before the police arrived the watch was returned and an effort to patch the matter up was made. The police have the names of the girls and arrests are likely to be made.

RELIC OF NOTED DESPERADO

FRANK RAND'S DEADLY GUN IN POLICE MUSEUM.

Weapon Presented to the Superintendent—Some Drunks in Police Court—The Police News.

Superintendent Gorsline's collection of revolvers and other weapons was augmented this morning by the addition of a well-preserved, old-fashioned Smith & Wesson navy revolver of 32-calibre. The gun was presented to the superintendent by Max Rubin, who has had it in his possession for about fifteen years. The gun has a record and is responsible for the death of no less than eight people, and it did not belong to Tracy either. It was the property of Frank Rand, the well-known Indiana desperado, whose name is familiar to all the older residents of Fort Wayne and who made this city his headquarters during the '70s.

In the spring of 1877 Rand shot two officers in St. Louis who were trying to arrest him, one of them, Officer White, dying of his wounds. Rand crossed into Illinois and renewed his depredations while a posse was for many days in hot pursuit. The chase in many features resembled that now going on for the capture of Tracy, the Oregon desperado. Rand killed several of his pursuers before he was finally taken, his capture being effected in Knox county, Ill., where one or more of his murders was committed. He was tried for murder at Galesburg and sentenced to life imprisonment. He hanged himself with a noose improvised from his suspenders in the Joliet penitentiary in the winter of 1884. Rand was one of the most desperate outlaws who ever operated in the central west and was popularly credited with from seven to a dozen murders.

IN POLICE COURT.

Judge Dreifelbliss got back from the seaside yesterday and presided at police court this morning. He was in a rather benignant mood and when John Wilhelm pleaded guilty to having been drunk yesterday he said he would let him off at $1 and costs, the regular cut-rate price for burglars. Mr. Wilhelm was landed yesterday afternoon on Holman street. The patrol wagon got a call late in the afternoon to come to Holman street to pick up a sick man. When the officers investigated the case they found that Mr. Wilhelm was more tired than sick and took him to the station.

Thomas Jones, whose name is Kinaley, was arrested on a charge of public intoxication, to which he pleaded guilty this morning and stayed the docket for $11. He was arrested about midnight on Columbia street and the affidavit suggested that he had been associating with prostitutes. Inasmuch as the women were conveniently absent the plea to intoxication was accepted. "Jones" was in the party which made things merry around the corner of Columbia and Calhoun streets and during an exhibition of playful pranksness or something of that kind fired a brick through the plate glass front of Stein's liquor store at 122 East Columbia street. There were five in the party, but "Jones" was the only one unfortunate enough to get caught. Waiters are out for the other four and they will probably be brought to tow in the morning.

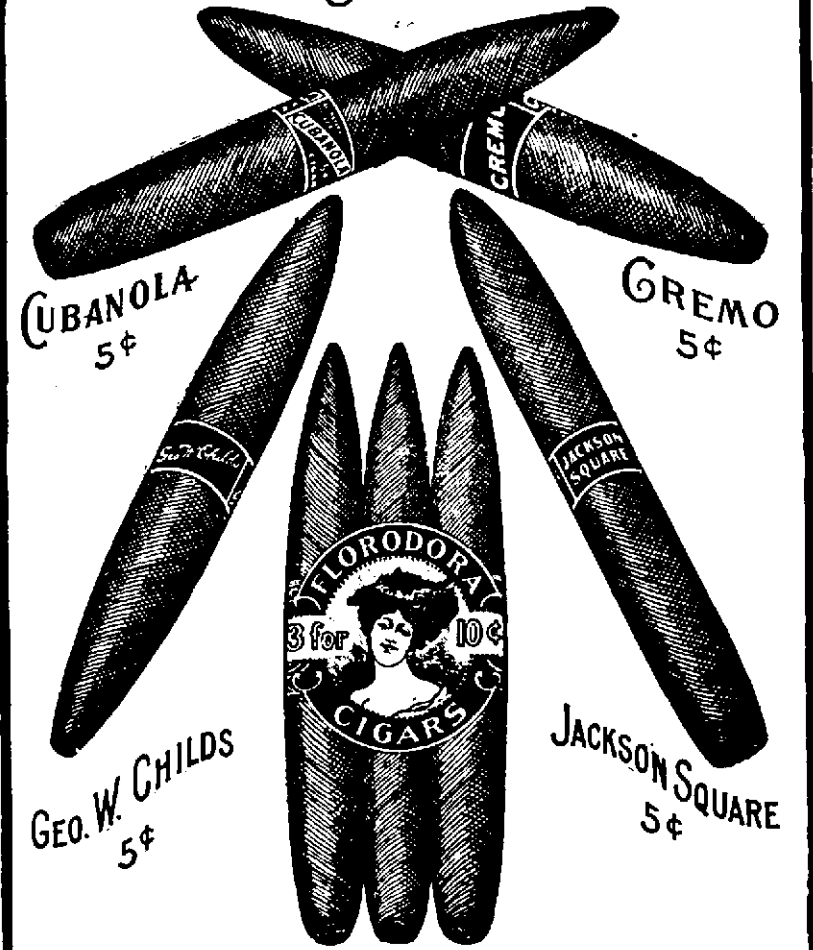

CLAIMS ROYAL KINSHIP.

After police court had adjourned a man who said his name is Phillip McGovern, and who claims relationship with the light-weight prizefighter, was brought in as a hobo and slated for vagrancy. He had on his person when arrested about a mile of galvanized wire, a screwdriver and a pair of pliers. He was recognized as a fellow who has been peddling coat hangers about town for several days and said that he made the articles himself, which accounted for his possession of tools. He was locked up for safe keeping until morning.

POLICE NOTES.

The officer on the beat yesterday discovered the front door of E. F. Yarnelle's residence at 1110 West Wayne street unlocked. He made an investigation, found nothing in the house disturbed, locked the door and reported the matter. Mr. Yarnelle and family are out of the city and it is presumed that some authorized person having a key had entered the house and forgot to lock it on retiring.

"I know of nothing superior for ovarian trouble, barrenness, and it has prevented hundreds of dangerous operations where physicians claimed it was the only chance to get well. Ulceration and inflammation of the womb has been cured in two or three weeks through its use, and as I find it purely an herbal remedy, I unhesitatingly give it my highest endorsement."

A SAFETY DEVICE.

The Hooking Valley road has completed a test of a device intended to insure the carrying out of train orders, though the engineer in the cab is the one to stop or proceed. This wonderful device has been under severe test for six weeks, traveling over 10,000 miles in that time, and has proven itself abundantly able to perform all duties its inventor intended it for. The device consists of a large clock-like structure with a double dial. This is connected by a rod and by a belt to the truck under the pilot. This registers the mileage in the same manner that a cyclometer does on a bicycle. The first service it does, then, is to inform the engineer of his distance from his starting point when it is dark and he cannot see customary landmarks. But the interesting feature is the inner or second dial. This is fitted up with a series of ten dogs or catches, and each of these catches can move over a period of ten minutes. These catches and notches are used to set the dial for any given distance, much as an alarm clock is set, except that it can be set for ten different stops at the same time and the ten different orders will be executed in succession without interference. When the engine has run the distance set for the first order it sounds a warning whistle on the air-brake. It then gives the engineer 1,000 feet in which to obey his summons. If he does not do this the action of the clock continues and the air-brake is applied automatically and the train comes to a full stop. If a slow-down is all that is desired, when the engineer gets the note of warning he can reduce steam, and then, by pulling out a little plunger, prevent the train from stopping. Furthermore, should for any reason the machine get out of order and not register properly, it will also sound the warning. Before the train leaves a city the dial of the machine can be set to give warning at any station up to the tenth, and thus all the danger to a train of an engineer becoming mentally deranged or being killed would seem to be obviated. For on the first failure to obey orders the train would be brought to a full stop, when the nature of things in investigation would be made.

FIELD DAY PRIZES.

This morning the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Athletic association received from the printer the printed program of the field day exercises, together with a list of the prizes and the persons who donated them. Fort Wayne merchants have been liberal with the Pennsylvania boys in this way and they feel kindly towards all who have contributed towards making a success of the 1902 annual athletic event. The Sentinel has published the list of events and other news concerning next Saturday's meet and today it prints the following list of donors: Gold medal for best all-around athlete—W. S. Wells.

INCREASED THE FORCE.

F. McNulty, Harry Barger and Charles Dalsman, machinists, have taken positions with Foreman William Schultz at the Fort Wayne Electric works. William Coleman has taken a position in another department of those works. There appears to be no diminution in the volume of business that is coming to the works and in spite of the many recent additions to equipment and working force, the orders are piling in upon the factory faster than they can be filled.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Supt. S. K. Blair is greatly improved and will be at his office in a few days.

John Hall, yard man at the factory of the Anthony Wayne Manufacturing company, is sick and off duty.

Melvin Power Superintendent D. F. Shawford, of the Pennsylvania, has returned from a business trip east.

O. L. Snyder, a truckman at the Pittsburg freight house, is kept at home by the sickness of his wife.

Supt. Ira Evans, of Rhineland & Simonson's, is confined to his home by sickness, which is not of a serious character.

George Block and Charles Horstmeier are new men at the Wabash shops. E. J. Crowl resigned his position in that shop.

Engineer Joseph Schachtel, of the Nickel Plate, has recovered from injuries sustained by a fall from his engine ten days ago.

Nathan Cohen, traveling agent for the Fort Wayne Electric company, has gone to Philadelphia in the interest of the company.

Two car loads of delegates to a meeting in Tacoma, Wash., passed through the city last evening on Pennsylvania train No. 9.

A new name on Foreman Daniel Deigen's list of workmen at the Pittsburg copper shop is A. McCormick, who recently came to the city from the country.

All stations on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern main line in Indiana will, on August 1, come under the jurisdiction of the Indiana Car Service association.

Day Yardmaster John Bepine and Coppenhaver H. C. Mennewick, of the Pittsburg, have returned home after a two weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Philadelphia.

The anthracite coal strike is telling seriously on the earnings of the Chesapeake and Ohio, the road the first week in July earning $199,870, a decrease as compared with last year of $70,728.

Two immense steel shells for the manufacturing purposes, one twenty inches by sixty feet, and the other twenty-six inches by sixty feet, left the Bass works this morning for Willsborough, Ohio.

Nickel Plate passenger engine No. 170 is out of the shops and as soon as the engine tamer completes his trials of the valve mechanism and other parts it will be turned over to the Fourth district for service.

This is the last year that glass workers in the gas belt will be given low rates east. The reason assigned is that the privilege has been greatly abused and this year was granted to greater extent than ever before.

Brakeman F. E. Todd, who had a finger pinched on the Nickel Plate a week ago, has recovered and yesterday resumed his duties on the road.

Brakeman A. Brudner, who was sick a few days, also reported for duty.

After a pleasant visit of a week with his old Fort Wayne friends, William Salzer returned to his home in Joliet yesterday. He is now employed on the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern road; he was formerly employed on the Nickel Plate.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ninde arrived in the city last evening and are temporarily stopping on East Wayne street. They were married at Rome, N. Y., two or three weeks ago. Mr. Ninde, who is chief draughtsman at the Bass works, resumed his duties there this morning.

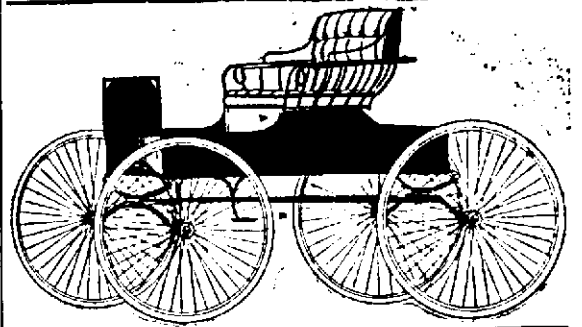

In addition to changing the numbers of the Pennsylvania engines on the northwestern system, the lettering on the tanks is also changed and will hereafter read "Pennsylvania Lines." The first tank to be so lettered was the No. 7297, which, with its engine, will be turned out Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. George Scheid, of Wellsville, who were visiting his father, Foreman F. J. Scheid, of the Pittsburg round house, returned to their home yesterday. Grover Scheid accompanied his brother to Wellsville to remain a portion of his school vacation term. George Scheid is employed in the Pennsylvania shops at Wellsville.

J. O. Langdon, of the Pittsburg planing mills, stepped upon a nail and painfully injured one of his feet yesterday. He will be unable to work for several days. W. Craig, of the machine shop, slightly hurt one of his hands yesterday and is off duty in consequence, and C. Engleking, Ed. Mennewick and Jacob Waldschmidt are off duty on account of sickness.

The passage of the bill prohibiting Virginia state officials from accepting free transportation on railways and steamboats has resulted in a number of retirements from public office. It seems that in that state there were a number of non-salaried

GENERAL CHAFFEE RELIEVED IN THE PHILIPPINES.

GEN. G. W. DAVIS SUCCEEDS

CHAFFEE TO COMMAND DEPARTMENT OF EAST.

REPORT ON WALLER TRIAL

CHAFFEE'S DISAPPROVAL WAS SEVERE.

Washington, July 14.—General Chaffee has been relieved of command in the Philippines and ordered to the command of the Department of the East, by an order issued today by Secretary Root. The order reads as follows:

"By direction of the president, Major General George W. Davis will relieve Major General Chaffee of the command of the Division of the Philippines September 30, 1902. On being relieved General Chaffee will, with his authorized aides, repair to Governor's Island, New York, and assume command of the Department of the East."

RECORD IN WALLER CASE.

Washington, July 14.—The incoming Philippine mail brings the full printed record of proceedings in the court martial cases of Major Lytleton W. T. Waller and Lieutenant John Horace Arthur Day, of the marine corps, growing out of the killing of some native-bearers, or cargadores, in Samar. The record shows that Major Waller was acquitted of the charge of murder, but that General Chaffee, declaring that "there has been a miscarriage of justice in this case," disapproves the finding and the acquittal, with the exception that while Waller should not have been found guilty of murder, the court should have included a lesser offense. General Chaffee's endorsement is very strong, and he declares that with the exception of three who deserted, no overt acts were committed by the cargadores, but on the contrary "those sent to their death continued to the last to carry the arms and ammunition of the men after they were no longer able to bear them, and to render in their impulsive way such services as deepens the conviction that, without their assistance, many of the marines who now survive would also have perished."

In the case of Lieutenant Day, who also was acquitted, General Chaffee disapproves the finding of the specification and charge of murder. He says that Lieutenant Day should have known that his commanding officer, Major Waller, had for three weeks been under a test of mental and physical endurance such as few men are called upon to undergo; that he was sick with fever, his temperature 105 and his body covered with painful sores. Day was the only officer not sick on duty and in the full possession of his faculties, and his plain duty was to counsel delay in the execution of the orders to kill the natives. General Chaffee refers to the order of Major Waller as "tainted," and says that "it should have prompted him (Day) to a positive disobedience of the same."

Notwithstanding the disapproval the two officers were released, as they could not be tried twice for the same offense.

A few days ago General Chaffee was cabled that he could have either the command of the Department of the East or the Department of the Lakes if he desired to come home at this time. He was informed that the retirement of General Brooke afforded an opportunity of making either change he desired. The cablegram closed with a commendation by the secretary of war of General Chaffee's service in China and the Philippines. A reply was received Saturday from General Chaffee stating that he left the matter entirely with the department, but that he would prefer New York in case he was relieved in the Philippines. He suggested that September 30 would be a good date to make any change in the command of the Philippines. These dispatches were sent to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, who consulted with Secretary Root, and the secretary directed the order to be issued relieving General Chaffee and placing General Davis in command.

General MacArthur has been asked to take command of the Department of the East when General Brooke retires until he can be relieved by General Chaffee.

ELKS WILL PICNIC AUGUST 3.

PARKS DREW GREAT CROWDS

SUNDAY WEATHER BROUGHT OUT BIG ATTENDANCE.

Southwestern Opened Happy Hollow and Practically Depopulated Two Towns.

The weather Sunday was of a character that sent thousands of Fort Wayne people to the parks in search of comfort, and there were great throngs in all of the pleasure spots in and about Fort Wayne. Robison park is credited with having by far the largest Sunday crowd of the season, and the parks inside the city were all thronged with people during the afternoon and evening.

The Southwestern interurban line did a tremendous business, the reports showing that a total of 3,084 passengers were carried Sunday. Happy Hollow, the new pleasure spot west of Huntington, was formally opened with a band concert, and the small park was densely packed with people during the entire day. Car service was opened to Lagro, and the people of this town, as well as those of Andrews, practically deserted the places for the day.

HARRY HARRISON VERY ILL.

Harry Harrison, proprietor of Spring Beach hotel, Rome City, is critically ill from heart trouble, and although his condition was slightly improved last night, he is still a very sick man. Mr. Harrison is very well known by Fort Wayne people who visit Rome City and his many friends will be pained to hear of his illness. Mr. Harrison was taken sick Saturday night and for a time it was thought that he could not recover.

Salida, Colo., July 14.—A report was received here shortly before noon today to the effect that the Denver and Rio Grande narrow gauge passenger train, which left here early last night, was held up and robbed by several men near Sargents, west of Marshall pass. Two safes in the express were blown, but express officials say no plunder was secured from them. The passengers were lined up alongside the track and relieved of their valuables.

Jerry Burkhead, of Adams county, sent to Jeffersonville a year ago for stealing a horse blanket, will be pardoned. He had two years yet.

SALISBURY IS OUT

BRITISH PREMIER RETIRES FROM OFFICE.

HON. A. J. BALFOUR SUCCEEDS

SIR MICHAEL HICKS-BEACH RESIGNS PORTFOLIO.

CHANCELLOR OF EXCHEQUER

RETIREMENT MEANS POWER FOR CHAMBERLAIN.

London, July 14.—Following fast upon the surprise caused last evening by the announcement that Lord Salisbury, the premier, had resigned last Friday and that Hon. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, had accepted the prime ministry, came the almost greater surprise today when it was made known that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, had tendered his resignation.

Perhaps never has a change of premiership been effected with so little dislocation to business, either public or private, as accompanied the transfer of the seals of office from Lord Salisbury to A. J. Balfour.

HAD NO EFFECT.

The occurrence had no effect whatever on the stock exchange. The only other change in the cabinet thus far announced is the chancellorship of the exchequer, though others are foreshadowed. Mr. Balfour, in addressing the first meeting of his followers at the foreign office this afternoon, informed them that he could not count on the continued assistance of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, but he could count on the latter's good wishes.

The public showed little interest in the party meeting, which was summoned for noon. The new premier, when he entered the conference room of the foreign office, accompanied by the duke of Devonshire, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Lord Londonderry and others, received quite an ovation.

MR. BALFOUR SPEAKS.

When Mr. Balfour rose to address the meeting all again stood up and cheered the new chief. Mr. Balfour referred to the loss of the services of the chief who for nearly fifty years had been engaged in active political life. No one, he said, would grudge him his well-earned repose, though his loss was irreparable.

"I do not flatter myself," proceeded the premier, "that the gap he has left can be filled. But the place he has left must be occupied and it is because the king has desired me to do my best to take that position that I have asked you to meet me today. I have accepted a great task and a heavy responsibility, certainly from no overweening belief in my own capacity, but because I am sure, or at least have every reason to believe, that in attempting to carry on this work I will have the most important qualification a leader can have, namely, regard for and confidence in those with whom he works."

EXCELS CO-OPERATION.

"I have not had the opportunity before of consulting you, but I have, of course, consulted with those with whom I have been working in the cabinet these many years, and if the kindness you are prepared to extend to me is at all equal to the kindness they have extended me, then indeed the terrors or difficulties I ought perhaps to say, of the task before me are greatly mitigated. I cannot now promise myself that I shall have the continued assistance of all my colleagues. One of the most important of them, with whom I have been associated all my political life, and who has occupied and deserves to occupy the highest post in the house of commons and state, has told me that I cannot count on his further assistance. I mean the chancellor of the exchequer. But though I grieve to say I cannot count on any assurance on his further assistance, I can count with absolute confidence on his good wishes in the labors that are before us."

FOLLOWS SALISBURY.

After a warm tribute to Lord Salisbury by the duke of Devonshire, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach rose and said there was no one whom he would have more gladly and more readily have accepted as leader of the party than the man he had followed as leader for more than seven years. But Lord Salisbury's retirement was a break with the traditions of his past political life. Two years ago he had begged for personal and not for political reasons to be relieved from office; but he had consented at Lord Salisbury's instance to retain it to the end of the war. He now felt that the moment had come when such poor services as he could render could no longer be necessary to the country.

There were younger men who would do the work at least as well as he had been able to do it.

CHAMBERLAIN'S GOOD WISHES. J. Austen Chamberlain, financial secretary to the treasury, said his father wished him to say how greatly disappointed he was at the fact that he could not be present to welcome Mr. Balfour to the leadership and say with pride and pleasure he would give all the assistance in his power.

Turning toward Mr. Balfour the speaker continued:

"My father bids me to say to you, Mr. Balfour, that you will find in him a colleague equally attached to you by private friendship and public regard, and that in offering you his support he feels he may speak also in the name of the whole liberal unionist party of the house of commons."

After Mr. Chamberlain had delivered his message the conference dispersed.

On entering the house of commons subsequently, Mr. Balfour met with a great reception, not only from his own supporters, but from the members of the opposition.

CAUSED GREAT SURPRISE.

The resignation of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach caused intense surprise. It was generally taken to be almost more important than Lord Salisbury's, and was regarded in some quarters as being directly due to the more important voice which Mr. Chamberlain will have in the new cabinet.

John Redmond, leader of the Irish party in the house of commons, said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"It will have a more immediate and material result than Lord Salisbury's retirement. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach was an excellent check on Chamberlain, who is now practically all powerful."

"I do not regard the general political situation as being at all changed by Lord Salisbury's disappearance from active life."

Several other changes are likely to occur, including the retirement of Earl Cadogan, the lord lieutenant of Ireland, and the elevation of George Wyndham, the chief secretary for Ireland, to a seat in the cabinet.

Speculation is already rife as to who will be Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's successor. The name of R. W. Hanbury, president of the board of agriculture, is frequently mentioned.

RESIGNATION OF PREMIER.

London, July 14.—The fact of the resignation of the premiership of Great Britain by Lord Salisbury, as foreshadowed in recent dispatches, was officially given out last evening. The prime minister laid down the responsibility of his office July 11. Within twenty-four hours his majesty elevated A. J. Balfour, the government chief representative in the house of commons, to the position of premier.

While it was expected in official and political circles that Lord Salisbury's retirement would be coincident with the coronation of King Edward, it was scarcely looked for prior to that event. Consequently about the only surprise expressed as the news spread through London concerned the date, rather than the fact, of the resignation. The real interest was not so much in reference to Lord Salisbury's withdrawal as it was in the appointment of his successor.

The liveliest speculation is rife as to the personnel of the new cabinet. The most discussed feature of the pending changes is the position of Mr. Chamberlain (the colonial secretary), who, in many quarters, has been regarded as the most promising candidate for the premiership.

It is learned that prior to the acceptance of his new office, Mr. Balfour first had an interview with Mr. Chamberlain and then consulted with his other cabinet assistants. This is regarded as assurance that the future relative positions of Messrs. Balfour and Chamberlain will be satisfactory to both. Mr. Chamberlain's friends say he always recognized the revision of the premiership to be Mr. Balfour's right as government leader in the house of commons.

SALISBURY'S REASONS.

As to Lord Salisbury's withdrawal, the main reason is considered by practically all the best-informed persons to have been simply a desire for a quiet life on the part of a man advanced in years, whose activities have been unusual and whose scientific tastes predispose him to study and seclusion. That the retired premier's health has failed to some extent is undeniable, but this is not more than, perhaps, is to be expected in a man of his years, and the close of the war in South Africa and the return of the commanding general there is considered to be an appropriate time for his withdrawal.

SUCCESSOR TO WU

SIR LIANG CHEN TUNG GIVEN
WASHINGTON POST.

AMERICANS IN PEKIN LIKE IT

NEW MINISTER IS ABLE AND MODEST, IT IS SAID.

HE WAS EDUCATED AT YALE

MR. WU WILL CODIFY LAWS OF THE EMPIRE.

Pekin, July 14.—Sir Liang Chen Tung, secretary of the Chinese embassy to the coronation of King Edward, was appointed Chinese minister to the United States yesterday.

New ministers to Russia, France and Italy also have been named. The selections for these post show that the dowager empress continues to regard the diplomatic service as unimportant. None of the appointees is of higher than the Blue Room rank and none has held any important office. All of them except Liang Chen Tung are unknown to the foreign community.

Liang Chen Tung's appointment pleases the Americans here. The newly appointed diplomat is a graduate of Yale university and is able, dignified and honest. He is the first of the body of students sent to America in the '70's to receive recognition befitting their accomplishments, the Chinese officials having disliked them because of their progressive views.

MINISTER WU NOT SURPRISED.

Washington, July 14.—Mr. Wu, the Chinese minister at Washington, was not surprised to hear of the appointment of a successor to himself, as he has been expecting an announcement of this character for some time. He had received notice that his services would be required in another capacity and for this reason has been prepared to hear of the naming of his successor at any time.

Sir Liang Chen Tung, the newly appointed minister, is a comparatively young man, being only a little over 40 years of age. Like the present minister, he is said to be a man of progressive ideas, whose opinions have been formed from his education, which was received partly in the United States, from his former connection with the Chinese embassy here and from his contact with European civilization in the course of several special missions.

SENT TO AMERICA TO STUDY.

He was in one of the four parties of Chinese boys who were sent to the United States twenty years ago to complete their education. The idea of the Chinese government was to have each boy spend fifteen years in this country—ten years in the preparatory schools and the remainder in the universities. Before Chen had completed his course, however, the plan was discontinued and he returned home.

While Chang was minister to Washington some years ago Tung served as interpreter during the three years of his incumbency; later he was secretary of a special mission sent to Japan, and when the jubilee of Queen Victoria was celebrated he filled a similar position in the embassy which went to London. It was from his connection with the latter mission that he obtained his knighthood and received the title of sir. Last year, when China dispatched a special mission to Germany to make formal apologies for the murder of Baron von Ketteler, Tung was a member of the party.

Minister Wu has not been advised officially of the appointment of his successor.

WU CORDIALLY LIKED HERE.

The retiring minister, Mr. Wu, has been at this capital since April, 1897. His relations with the administrations of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt have been of a most cordial character.

The ordinary term of ministers in the Chinese diplomatic service is three years and they are not reappointed. Mr. Wu's term of service, however, has been continued indefinitely from time to time. He was of great assistance to his government during the "boxer" troubles.

Several months ago he was appointed a member of the commission to codify the existing Chinese laws and prepare a set of modern laws for his country, and it is this business which in all probability the Chinese government has in store for him when he returns to his native land. Mr. Wu also is minister to Spain and Peru.

MURDERS HIS WIFE.

Evansville, Ind., July 14.—John Feniger, a coal miner, shot and killed his wife yesterday morning and then shot himself in the mouth, inflicting a wound that may prove fatal. He had been separated from his wife for some time and became enraged at her because she would not return to him. The wound was in the left temple and death was instantaneous. Feniger is forty-six years old and has been troublesome to the police for a number of years. He was under the influence of liquor when he committed the crime. The tragedy was enacted within a short distance of Feniger's home. Feniger is still unconscious at a local hospital and the physicians who are in charge of him say he has only one chance in a hundred to recover. He was recently arrested for assaulting an officer and spent several weeks in jail. The officers believe he is insane and have been keeping a close watch on him for the past several weeks.

ANCIENT CAMPANILE IN RUINS

FAMOUS VENETIAN LANDMARK SUDDENLY COLLAPSES.

Historic Bell Tower of St. Marks is Heap of Crumbling Debris—Was to be Repaired.

Venice, Italy, July 14.—The Campanile, (detached bell tower) of St. Mark's church, 98 metres high, collapsed at 10:45 this morning and fell with a great crash into the piazza.

The Campanile, which was entirely detached from the cathedral, collapsed where it stood and is now a heap of ruins. The cathedral and palace of the doges are quite safe, but a corner of the royal palace was damaged. Repairs on the Campanile were to have been commenced today. It is feared there was some loss of life.

The ruins are surrounded by a cordon of troops. The first intimation of danger was the sudden appearance yesterday of a longitudinal crack in the corner of the wall facing the clock tower and the breaking of two windows. A concert which had been arranged to be held on the piazza yesterday evening was stopped by order of the prefect, with the object of preventing a concourse of people.

The ruins are piled up to a height of 100 feet and the Piazza di San Marco and the adjoining squares are covered with debris and dust. Some damage was done to the Sansovino Loggetta, or vestibule, on the east side of the Campanile.

Closer investigation shows that the Campanile in falling carried away the Sansovino loggetta and the library of the royal palace. Premonitory signs of the collapse allowed a partial clearance of the piazza and there were no fatalities, but a few persons were injured. The disaster caused an immense sensation. The town and communal councils have been summoned to meet this evening.

The Campanile stood opposite the church, or cathedral of St. Mark's. It was founded in 888, restored in 1329, provided with a marble top in 1417 and in 1517 was crowned with the figure of an angel nearly 16 feet high. The loggetta or vestibule, on the east side of the Campanile was once a rendezvous of the Nobili and afterwards a waiting room for the guards during the sessions of the great council. There were bronze statues of Peace, Apollo, Mercury and Pallas on the coping of the Campanile and its fine bronze doors were much admired. At the top of the tower a fire watchman, with a telescope, was continually stationed.

HE WANTS GLASSES.

Dr. K. K. Wheelock has received a letter from Chief Anselm Kill-the-Crow, of Little Eagle, South Dakota, in which that warrior, who is of the Sioux nation, wants Dr. Wheelock to fit him with a pair of glasses. He is short-sighted, an unusual complaint for an Indian. Dr. Wheelock never heard of Chief Kill-the-Crow before, but will send him the spectacles.

WINDWARD SAILS TODAY.

New York, July 14.—The Peary relief ship Windward will begin her voyage to the Arctic regions late this afternoon. The work of taking on stores has proceeded rapidly today and it is believed that nothing will now interfere with her scheduled departure. The Windward will stop first at Portland, Me., and then at Sydney, where Mrs. Peary and her daughter will be taken aboard.

Elkhart, Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, Lagrange and Angola people are uniting in a project to build a $10,000 club house at Lake James, in Steuben county.

ANNOUNCING INTENTION OF ENDING HIS LIFE.

LEWIS B. FRETZ IS MISSING

DISAPPEARED EARLY SATURDAY MORNING.

SEARCH HAS BEEN FRUITLESS

DESPONDENT OVER DEATH OF HIS WIFE.

Wrought up to a high nervous pitch by worry over the recent death of his wife, Lewis B. Fretz left a message announcing his intention of ending his life and then mysteriously disappeared. Despite the most energetic search, nobody has been able to get trace of the missing man since he left his room at the home of W. R. Davis, 1824 McClintock street, at an early hour Saturday morning.

Fretz is a gifted young man, well known in newspaper circles of northern Indiana, and a writer of more than ordinary ability. He has been active in fraternal circles, and has written a number of works upon topics of this character. Until recently he had been for some time the publisher of the Garrett Herald.

A few months ago his young wife died. It was the second affliction of this character to fall upon him, and the blow was a heavy one. He became very despondent, gave up newspaper work and came to Fort Wayne for the purpose of doing literary work along the line of his former publications. One of these volumes was "Benny, the Pythian of Syracuse," and it was his purpose to considerably enlarge this work.

Friends have noticed for some time his growing despondency and he worried almost constantly over his troubles. Finally he became unbearable. He wrote a lengthy letter in which he stated that before the missive was found he would be in the land of the unknown.

Leaving his bank book, insurance policies and other valuables, which he directed should be given to a Miss Birch, a young lady who has been assisting him in his literary work, he arose about 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning and left the house on McClintock street. Neither search in this city nor telephonic inquiries to surrounding towns where Fretz was acquainted, have succeeded in getting a trace of the young man. Friends from Waterloo are in the city today to join in the search for the missing man.

DEATH OF AN ARCHBISHOP

PATRICK A. FEEHAN, OF CHICAGO, GOES AWAY.

Succumbs to Illness of More Than Year's Duration—Twenty-Two Years at Post.

Chicago, July 14.—Archbishop Patrick A. Feehan, for twenty-two years in charge of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Chicago, died Saturday afternoon after a long illness. For more than a year the archbishop has been in poor health. Much of his time has been passed in the quiet of his country home at Feehanville, and for months all executive business of the church has been out of his hands. Death was due to heart trouble to which the archbishop had been subject.

Archbishop Feehan was born in County Tipperary, Ireland, in 1829. He had been archbishop of the archdiocese of Chicago since Sept. 10, 1880. He had been in America since 1852 and a leader in the Catholic priesthood of the west for forty-six years.

In 1885 he was made bishop of Nashville. He succeeded Bishop Foley here.

MULDOON ADMINISTRATOR.

Chicago, July 14.—Bishop Muldoon was today appointed administrator of the archdiocese of Chicago until a successor to the late Archbishop Feehan shall be named. Bishop Spaulding, of Peoria, made the appointment.

Garrett is having a little labor disturbance. The machinists and the B. and O. company do not view certain labor problems in the same manner. Mayor Campbell and Father Young were called in to assist in securing an amicable settlement or adjustment of the differences. It is believed that everything will be satisfactorily arranged soon.

LIVES FREE LIFE

HOW THE PRESIDENT DOES AT OYSTER BAY.

HE DONS HIS OLD CLOTHES

JOINS THE YOUNGSTERS IN THEIR SPORTS.

LIVES MUCH IN OPEN AIR

GOES SHOOTING AND RIDING WITH THE BOYS.

Chicago, July 12.—William E. Curtis, the Record-Herald's special correspondent, sends his newspaper the following from Oyster Bay, Long Island, the summer home of the president:

The president is enjoying his vacation as much as if he were a boy just out of boarding school, and in a similar way. He is wearing his old clothes. His everyday costume is a negligee shirt, linen knickers, tennis shoes and a well worn jacket when the evening gets cool. He is always surrounded by a lot of children. No matter what he is doing or where he is going, they are with him. I believe that he enjoys their company better than if they were his own age. There are six of his own to begin with, and eleven nephews and nieces who live in the immediate neighborhood of Sagamore Hill and answer to the name of Roosevelt. The eldest is about 18 and the youngest 6. Besides these, the neighbors' children are equally numerous and are usually on hand whenever anything interesting is going on. Every youngster has his pony and his gun, and it is a wonder they do not shoot their own heads off, but the president has his battalion of rough riders under excellent discipline. "Uncle Teddy" has taught them how to handle firearms so that they are as careful as old hunters.

To see the president of the United States at the head of this young band of savages on their way to the woods or to the target grounds is worth coming a long way, and the manner in which he treats them is worth a study. He does not make pets of his children, but he treats them as equals and as rational and responsible beings, and is quite as considerate of their feelings as if they were influential politicians. For instance: The other day he was sitting in his library talking Cuban reciprocity with a friend, when a gang of boys in their shirt sleeves entered, and one of them said respectfully:

"Uncle Teddy, it's after 4."

"By Jove," he exclaimed, "so it is; why didn't you call me sooner? One of you boys get my rifle." Then, turning to his guest, he said: "I must ask you to excuse me. We will have this talk out some other time. I promised the boys I'd go shooting with them after 4 o'clock, and I never keep boys waiting. It's a hard trial for a boy to wait."

And off he rushed with a crowd of youngsters around him, all talking at the same time, and it was Uncle Teddy this and Uncle Teddy that, until they were out of hearing. That is his idea of having a good time.

The residents of Oyster Bay are accustomed to see the president gallop through the streets followed by a cavalcade of all ages, mounted on animals of all sizes, but they never will lose their admiration for little Archie Roosevelt, No. 5 in the president's inventory of children, who rides a tiny calico pony and wears a rough rider's uniform and a cowboy's sombrero. He makes a picturesque figure. He sits his pony as an ordinary urchin sits a bicycle, without the slightest sense of fear or self-consciousness.

The children of the Roosevelt family usually go bareheaded, like Indians, and I've heard it intimated that on Sundays, when they are getting ready for church, there is great difficulty to find hats enough to go around. And they are dressed for the life they lead—in rough clothes that will resist the brambles in the woods and the friction of the cellar door.

The president is every bit as active as his children, even more so, because of his greater endurance. Scarcely a moment of his waking hours is spent in rest. He is always doing something—always engaged in some form of physical or mental exertion, storing up vigor for the days when he needs it. He has no system in his exercise and is not methodical in his habits. He observes no rules or regimen. He drinks vast quantities of milk, eats plain food, mostly berries and vegetables from his own garden, the same food that his children enjoy most. He uses no wines, no rich dishes, and no tobacco, and his exercise is not regulated in any way.

After an early breakfast, for he cannot sleep late in the morning, he reads the New York papers and his personal mail. Then he goes to the stable, usually followed by his boys, and looks the horses over, feeds them sugar, and talks to them as if they understood what he says; then he discusses farm affairs with his foreman, and wanders about the garden and fields until something happens to attract his attention or engage him in employment unprompted—maybe he accepts a challenge to a game of tennis or helps the boys repair something about their boats, or one of the dogs is sick and he prescribes for it—and so the morning passes until Mr. Cortleyou comes up with the mail. He reads the important telegrams and letters that have been received, and the replies that have been prepared for his signature, and maybe he dictates one or two letters. Sometimes he comes in from the tennis court or the target range all perspiration and dictates a letter or a memorandum that has occurred to him. He wants to relieve his mind of it at once. But as a rule he never does but one thing at a time. He plays as hard as he works, but he never loafs. He never throws himself down on the grass and thinks of nothing at all, as many men of active temperament do when they go into the country. If he is not working or playing he picks up a book or a magazine and reads. He is now in the midst of Hay and Nicolay's "Life of Lincoln," but doesn't make much progress except on rainy days.

There is usually a guest for luncheon, some old friend or neighbor, who is received and entertained without the slightest formality, for the president comes to the table in his knickers or riding breeches. It is necessary for a stranger to make an appointment by telephone if he wants to see the president or the secret service officers will not let him enter the grounds. At least one man in plain clothes is on watch on the roadway where it comes out of the woods that surround Sagamore Hill, who questions every stranger that enters. If the president is expecting anyone the officer is notified, but all others are informed that the president is not receiving; that he has asked to be excused from transacting business, and if there is anything important Mr. Cortleyou will attend to it at his office over the bank.

Several callers are turned away daily. Most of them are good-natured about it. Some of them try to fool the officers, which is not easy, and a few get mad and say disagreeable things. There are eight or ten secret service men in town. They stand guard at the entrance to Sagamore Hill from 7 o'clock in the morning to 11 at night in four watches of six hours each, driving out three miles from town in a buggy. The man who is relieved from duty takes back the team. At least two men are always in reserve at the little hotel, which is connected by telephone. The rest of the detectives, two of them from the New York city force, wander around town, loaf on the hotel piazza, meet all the trains that arrive at the Oyster Bay station and keep their eyes peeled for cranks. There have been two or three of that species out here already, and one of them was an unfrocked priest from Colorado, who was arrested in Rome last winter for attacking Bishop Matz, of that state, and sent to an insane asylum. He wants the president to take up his case, and collect damages from the Italian government for false imprisonment.

The other cranks were evidently harmless. One was a great inventor, who wanted to show the president some of his models and have the government taken them up. Another had important information concerning a conspiracy of the trusts and was requested to give it to the police department.

The Roosevelt house is filled with trophies of the chase. The walls are decorated with the heads of bisons, elks and other game and the floors are strewn with skins of wild beasts which the mighty hunter has slain with his rifle. He can tell you the story of every one, and the people of Oyster Bay can repeat some of the yarns with more or less exaggeration. They know his strength and his weakness, for he has been with them every summer since he was a boy. It's just a little tiresome when the oldest inhabitant grasps one of the buttons on your coat and insists upon telling you about the time he and Roosevelt did something or went somewhere, or what he said to the president when he was "a little shaver not more than 6 years old." The number of good people who were endowed with prophetic instincts years ago, and foretold his future greatness is quite large in proportion to the population. But you never hear anybody say anything mean about him. He is universally respected and beloved, and his democratic ways have never changed.

"He wuz allers so," said an old gentleman whom I quizzed; "he wuz hale-feller-well-met from a child; a little quick spoken, and not so mild tempered ez his father wuz, but he wuz never above folks and 'peared to take just as much pleasure associatin' with the poor ez the rich."

RECORDS BROKEN

LAKE SHORE TWENTIETH CENTURY TRAIN DOES IT.

AMAZING SPEED MAINTAINED

TWO HOURS MADE UP BETWEEN BUFFALO AND CHICAGO.

NINETY MILE AN HOUR SPURT

OFFICIALS SAY SIXTEEN-HOUR SCHEDULE IS POSSIBLE.

Chicago, July 12.—Reeling off 481 miles in 480 minutes, the "Twentieth Century Limited," on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern road, today smashed records for fast running on that system and verified assertions made by officials that a sixteen-hour schedule could, if necessary, be maintained between Chicago and New York. The train, forty-five miles west of Buffalo, was two hours and twenty-eight minutes behind its schedule, and then it was that the engineers were given a clear track and ordered to make their best time over the various divisions.

The train covered the 134 miles between Brockton and Cleveland in 131 minutes. From Cleveland to Toledo the engineer pushed along over the 113 miles at some points at a speed reaching 90 miles an hour, covering the distance in 103 minutes. The run to Elkhart, Ind., 135 miles, was covered in 115 minutes.

The run into Chicago from Elkhart was slower on account of the necessity of slowing down while passing through three towns where the speed of trains is limited by ordinance. Slow-downs were also necessary for the fourteen grade railroad crossings in Chicago. Despite these delays the 101 miles was covered in 111 minutes, and the train, which was due in the city at 9:45 a. m., arrived at the Grand Central passenger station only twenty-eight minutes late.

County Commissioners Request His Presence at the Dedication—Mr. Robinson's Telegram.

Representing the people of Allen county, the board of county commissioners has invited President Roosevelt to be the guest of honor at the dedication of the new court house in September. The formal invitation was forwarded this morning by Hon. J. M. Barrett, the county attorney. The president is given assurance that the people would highly appreciate the presence of his presence upon the formal dedication of Allen county's magnificent building, and he is urged if possible to arrange to be the guest of the people of Allen county on that occasion. The president is informed that no date has yet been definitely fixed for the ceremony, but that it is desired to have the exercises in September, and that the date will be arranged for such a time as will be most convenient to the president. The invitation is signed by the board of county commissioners, and a reply is expected early in the coming week.

Last week, while at Indianapolis, Lieutenant Governor Gilbert and Hon. J. M. Barrett, on behalf of the county commissioners, visited Senator Fairbanks and Senator Beveridge and were assured that they would urge the president's acceptance, and Governor Durbin has also written a letter urging President Roosevelt to come to Fort Wayne. This afternoon Congressman Robinson supplemented the previous invitation by the following telegram:

WANT TO BE POSTMISTRESS.

Dublin, Ind., July 12.—A decidedly interesting contest is proceeding here for the position of postmistress, in which the two contestants are both prominent and accomplished society women of this town. Mrs. Jessie B. Mills, who is the present postmistress, is fearful of being removed from the office. Dispatches from Washington state that Mrs. Mills has resigned and is to be succeeded by Miss Flora B. Brown. Mrs. Mills claims positively that she has never sent in her resignation and is now circulating a petition praying that she may be retained in the Dublin postoffice. She is the daughter of the late Major Allen D. Bond, was one of Governor I. P. Hovey's staff and at one time sheriff of Wayne county. Miss Brown is the secretary of the State Universalists' association and for many years she was the state organizer of the Young People's Christian union. She is a zealous Christian worker. Her father was the late Henry N. Brown, a Universalist minister and a prominent politician. Miss Brown was recommended to the office by Congressman James E. Watson. The objections to Mrs. Mills is that she is married to a democrat, her husband being Professor J. C. Mills, superintendent of schools.

HE TELLS HOW IT HAPPENED

CLAUDE RAILING EXPLAINS HIS ARREST FOR BIGAMY.

Decatur Young Man Had Married His First Wife in Fort Wayne—Thought He Was Divorced.

Decatur, Ind., July 12.—Claude Railing, arrested here Thursday night on a charge of bigamy, was taken to Niles, Mich., yesterday by the sheriff of that county. While being taken to jail at the time of his arrest Railing escaped from Sheriff Erwin and Deputy Ferrell, but was soon recaptured. Before starting with the officer for Michigan Railing gave his version of the affair to a Journal reporter, in the course of which he said:

"I married Miss Gertrude Nelson, of this place, in Fort Wayne on June 14, 1897, and lived with her until 1899 when trouble arose and we agreed to separate. After that time I came to Decatur and later on went to Niles, Michigan, where I became acquainted with Miss Florence Zimmerman, daughter of Fred Zimmerman, who works in a paper mill at that place. In the meantime my wife and myself had agreed to be divorced and I sent her the money with which to pay the expenses of getting the divorce. On April 1, 1902, I received a letter from my wife at Fort Wayne stating that she had applied for a divorce and I wrote back to her telling her that I had no objections to the court granting the divorce."

"On April 4th I received word from her again stating that the divorce had been granted. Then on April 5, I was married to Miss Zimmerman. Her father objected, as he wished her to marry another young man."

"About ten days ago I was told that my father-in-law, who was still quite angry, had been told that I had another wife. Thinking that there might have been something wrong in regard to my divorce I immediately came here to look it up. After finding all was right, my father and myself went to Niles, Wednesday, and explained everything to Mr. Zimmerman. He was satisfied and everything was O. K., but in the meantime he had issued a warrant for my arrest and placed it in the hands of the sheriff of Niles."

"Yesterday I was arrested and of course did not wish to be locked up. Yesterday papers came to me from an attorney at Fort Wayne. They were in regard to the divorce and I signed the necessary ones, and sent them back. In the same envelope was a letter from my former wife, stating that she had learned of my recent marriage and wished me all the happiness life could offer. I have the letter which she wrote as well as the one which told of the divorce having been granted."

"My wife at Niles is nearly heart-broken and Mr. Zimmerman, since learning of my arrest, says that he is sorry he ever issued the warrant as he has seen his mistake and brought his family and myself before the public. 'I was well situated and well thought of at Niles. I had a home well furnished and was making good money at painting and paper hanging.'"

BABE DROWNED IN A VAULT.

(Monroeville Breeze.)

A most heart rending occurrence was witnessed at the country residence of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bowser in Jackson township last Saturday. Their little 16-months-old child was playing about the house and yard in its usual custom and no uneasiness was felt by the mother as to any harm befalling it. After being out for some time the mother called but receiving no answer from the youthful lips an anxious commotion came over her and she went in search. After searching the premises over and over for some time the vault of the water closet was examined and there in the filth and water was beheld the body of the child cold in death, the little feet were the only part of the body visible indicating that the child must have tumbled in headfirst and unable to help itself in the least. The funeral was held Sunday at the St. Louis Catholic church in Jefferson township and was attended by a large congregation of sympathizing friends.

GREET KITCHENER

LONDON GIVES WELCOME TO LATEST HERO.

RECEPTION WAS TREMENDOUS

ALL RECENT SIMILAR EVENTS WERE OUTCLASSED.

WORE HIS KHAKI UNIFORM

DISTINGUISHED DIGNITARIES RECEIVE HIM.

London, July 12.—Lord Kitchener reached London at 12:48 p. m. and his passage through the metropolis was one of the most memorable of the many remarkable of the past three years. The small procession of carriages containing the general and his staff in simple, serviceable velvet dress, lacked spectacular features, but, evidently, the crowd was there in its tens of thousands to see the man of the hour and not a pageant. From the moment he set foot in London to the time of his disappearance beneath the portal of St. James palace Kitchener received such an outburst of popular enthusiasm as quite overshadowed the demonstrations on previous and similar occasions.

STATION MADE GORGEOUS.

The platform at Paddington railroad station when Kitchener arrived looked more like a reception room of the war office or India office than a railroad station. It was covered with red carpets and decorated with a profusion of flowers and palms, while rows of decorated stands, crowded with spectators, had been erected at all parts from which a view of the returning general could be obtained.

The platform itself was crowded with distinguished personages, including Indian princes in resplendent costume, generals and other officers in full uniform and many ladies in beautiful summer dresses. The prince of Wales, the duke of Connaught, the duke of Cambridge, Lord Roberts, the commander-in-chief; Lord Lansdowne, the foreign secretary; Mr. Broderick, the war secretary; the duchess of Somerset, Lady Roberts, Lady French, Major General Sir Francis B. Wingate, who succeeded Kitchener as sirdar of the Egyptian army and governor general of the Sudan, and Major General Sir John Bull, British inspector general of the Sudan, were among those who assembled to greet the general.

CHEERS GREET THE HERO.

When Kitchener's train arrived, punctual to the minute, a tremendous cheer greeted the latest hero as he emerged from his car and shook hands with the prince of Wales. He stood head and shoulders above nearly every one on the platform, and his workmanlike khaki uniform, with the large, brown sun helmet made familiar by his pictures, was in striking contrast to the glittering uniforms and rows of medals and orders worn by most of those in waiting. The reception lasted ten or fifteen minutes, when the prince of Wales and other members of the royal family drove off. After an interval Lord Kitchener and Generals French and Ian Hamilton took seats in one of the royal carriages and followed by the brilliant headquarters staff, headed by Lord Roberts, and an escort, left the station and amidst loud cheers from those inside, which grew into a perfect roar as Kitchener and his companions came in sight of the great gathering outside.

FORCED TO SUBMIT.

In spite of his hatred of "palaver," the popular general was obliged to submit to the presentation of welcoming addresses at Paddington and other points on his way to St. James palace, but his replies were cut as short as politeness permitted and he showed evident signs of relief when the procession was resumed. The route throughout was decorated with Venetian masts, banners, flags and streamers with mottoes of welcome, the house fronts were draped and troops lined most of the way, colonials and Indian soldiers being utilized as well as the local regiments. Every vantage point, even to the house tops, was occupied by sightseers and solid masses of people gathered in all the open spots, such as Hyde park corner, and the space in front of Buckingham palace, while the sidewalks, stands, windows and roofs were packed with gaily dressed spectators who waved flags, hats and handkerchiefs and shouted with a warmth that showed their hearts were in the welcome.

WILL SELL NO SOFT COAL.

New York, July 12.—At the meeting of soft coal operators held yesterday an agreement was reached which was not made public at the time. This decision was that until the decision of the meeting of bituminous coal miners to be held on July 17 became known the coal operators in the agreement would hold their present stock of coal and that which they will receive next week and not sell any in the open market. The operators say they are impelled to protect themselves and the interests of their customers with whom they have contracts, because of the scarcity of soft coal in or near New York which the consultation disclosed yesterday.

Council Bluffs, Ia., July 12.—After a life and death struggle with his wife for possession of a pistol early today Dixon Denny, who until a month ago was captain of police in this city, shot himself through the heart. Mrs. Denny narrowly escaped being shot in the struggle. She awoke to find her husband moving about the room and asked him what he was doing. He replied that he wanted his revolver to shoot an imaginary enemy. Mrs. Denny realizing something was wrong secured the pistol from a dresser and the struggle and shooting followed. Denny is thought to have been temporarily demented over business matters.

LAWYER KEPT A PRISONER

TWENTY-FOUR HOURS PENNED IN A MAN'S ROOM.

Denver Limb of the Law Forcibly Detained by Man Who Claimed $17,000 Was Due.

Denver, Col., July 12.—A. B. Sullivan, an attorney of this city, who had been held a prisoner by Michael O'Keefe, a locomotive fireman, in the latter's room since 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was rescued today by Sergeant Lee, of the police force. Lee engaged O'Keefe in conversation from outside the room and at an opportune moment Sullivan grabbed O'Keefe around the waist and held him until the officer came into the room. In the scuffle O'Keefe fired his revolver twice, but without effect. O'Keefe asserted that Sullivan was indebted to him in the sum of $17,000. He invited the attorney to his room and forcibly held him, threatening, according to Sullivan's statement, to kill him unless he paid the money. Several ineffectual attempts had been made to rescue Sullivan during the night. O'Keefe, who is an old-time Union Pacific fireman, is in jail.

A horse hitched to a wagon loaded with manure made things interesting on Fairfield avenue last Friday about 8:30. The driver was away and the horse evidently thinking it a good time to do business on his own accord ran away. Fairfield avenue was prepared like a hot house bed in February and should grow nothing but statesmen for some time to come. The outfit belonged to Leiknuf brothers and while the horse was not injured the wagon was put out of business.

BIG CORNER ENDS

GATES CROWD SETTLES WITH JULY CORN SHORTS.

PRICES WITHOUT SUPPORT

PRICE DROPPED WITH A DULL
THUD EARLY IN TRADING.

CONDITIONS AGAINST PRICE

TOO MUCH CONTRACT CORN WAS IN SIGHT.

Chicago, July 15.—General Manager Scotten, of the Harris-Gates company, made a statement to the Evening Post that shortly before the closing hour today a settlement was made with shorts in July corn and that his firm had no further interest in supporting prices. This virtually ends the July corner.

DROPPED WITH A THUD.

Chicago, July 15.—Corn speculators were stampeded immediately upon the opening of the board of trade today. Bears had the whip hand and drove the bulls from the support of the so-called July corner so sharply that prices of July corn broke 10c in the first hour of trade. Such antics of the yellow cereal, after having reached the fancy price of 90c less than a fortnight ago, caused all sorts of gossip, the principal tone of which was that Gates had been beaten and the much feared corner was broken.

RESULT OF CONDITIONS.

All natural conditions and influences favored lower prices when the opening gong started business on the floor of the exchange. Almost perfect weather in the corn belt for the last four days and more of it promised took all the life out of the bull following. After dropping 5½c yesterday on exceptionally large receipts, July corn could not withstand 82 cars of receipts that showed on the inspection sheets today. Private elevators that have been abetting the bears in the fight against the bull clique turned out 110 cars and 50,000 bushels of contract corn today. This amounted to 414 cars, and 50,000 bushels of contract grade stuff on the market today. Yesterday's offerings were over half a million. With the last day for July deliveries still two weeks off, both bears and bulls argued that at this rate there would be enough corn forced on the market to break any corner. July options opened very weak and demoralized, 1c to 2c lower than yesterday's close, at 80c to 79c.

DROPPED CENT AT A TIME.

With one or two exceptions every fluctuation was 1c away from the last previous one. September options were weak, offerings in that future were free and the general selling on the bearish sentiment prevalent broke July to 74c in a few moments. There was a rally to 75c, but the heavy selling continued, the bulls threw up their hands and July shot on down to 70c. In the meantime September was weakening, selling from 61c down to 60½c.

While most of the trade thought the corner was broken, some of the supposedly knowing ones intimated that John W. Gates and his bull crowd still had some cards to play and that probably many daring traders who go short now will be caught in a trap. The break today is one of 20 cents under the high price during the rainy season.

OPINIONS AT VARIANCE.

While the bear interests in the corn pit expressed hopes that the turmoil in corn today presaged an end of the July corner, brokers affiliated with the bull party stated publicly that the reason the congested option was not being supported by the Gates-New York clique was that prices were too fancy in consideration of the quantity of stuff being rushed to market. Practically the only buyers in the market have been the bull clique. It has been somewhat difficult for this party to unload all the cash corn which it has been forced to take in order to support the corner. With half a million bushels coming in daily they say the market must take care of itself. Pursuing this course they allowed July to make a further dip to 67c before noon. This was a break of 19c under yesterday's high price. Conservative speculators said that the trade was really as much in the dark today over the real position of corn as at any time during the congestion.

Neglected by the bulls and with cash corn slumping badly July corn continued to break all session. Shortly before noon 65½c as the low price was reached. At this figure there sprang up a general sentiment that most of the artificial strength had been taken from the cereal and there was a fractional rally. July closed at 65½c, having lost 15½c today and 20½c since yesterday's high price. September closed weak, 13½c@14c lower than yesterday's close, at 59½c@59c, having sold as low as 59½c.

FOUR MINERS KILLED NEAR JOHNSTOWN, PA.

Johnstown, Pa., July 15.—A blast of dynamite caused an explosion in No. 4 mine of the Berwind White Co., at Winber, Pa., about noon today, killing four men and injuring many others. Full details are not obtainable at this time.

No. 4 mine is about seven miles from the Mill Creek entrance of the Rolling Mill mine, where the terrible explosion occurred last Thursday.

poration to the suit designed to prevent the $200,000 bond conversion plan brought by J. Aspinwell Hedger, William H. Curtis and Bernard Smith, was filed today. The suit is based on the contention that the corporation's assets do not equal the amount of its preferred stock and that therefore it cannot proceed as intended, under the act of 1902. The answer, which is supported by an affidavit of Charles Schwab, states that the assets will amount to more than the entire stock, bonds, common and preferred, or more than $1,400,000. Mr. Schwab, in his affidavit, maintains that his position is such as to give him knowledge of the actual worth of the properties, and lists his estimates of their value. He says among other things that the earnings of the corporation in the fifteen months of its existence have been in excess of ten per cent. of the entire capital stock.

Absolutely no clue has yet been obtained to the whereabouts of Lewis B. Fretz, the young writer who disappeared from his boarding place at 1324 McClellan street, Saturday, leaving a note which indicated that he contemplated self-destruction.

Relatives have not given up the search for the missing man, though they say they have no idea as to what direction he might have taken. His father, John Fretz, returned to his home at Waterloo today. The elder Fretz believes his son is yet alive. He hurried home to his wife, who is prostrated by her son's strange disappearance.

STRUCK BY INTERURBAN CAR.

Rev. John Hays, pastor of the churches of Christ at Beech Grove and Monroeville, was struck by an interurban car near Roanoke last evening and painfully injured. Mr. Hays was returning to this city with a party of forty from a Christian church convention at Beech Grove and stood in the center of the track to signal an approaching interurban car, but failed to get out of the way in time and was struck in the stomach by the projecting ledge on the front of the car. Mr. Hays was hurled some distance and rendered unconscious. He was brought to the city and taken to the residence of S. F. Swayne, where a physician attended him. It is believed that Mr. Hays' injuries are not serious.

KICKED BY A HORSE.

The four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Klopfenstein, living half a mile east of Leo, was kicked in the head by a horse on Sunday evening, and is in a very critical condition. The father of the child stopped to talk with a neighbor and left the little girl alone in the buggy. For some unknown reason the horse began kicking, and soon wrecked the buggy. The little girl was struck on the side of the head and her skull was fractured, a portion of the brain being exposed. Mr. Klopfenstein was kicked in the leg while trying to rescue the child.

THE MARKETS.

Chicago, July 15.—Corn fell with a thud at the opening of trade today. Fair weather, lower cables and immense receipts broke the market jaggedly and incidentally, it is thought, broke John W. Gates' corner in July options. All interest was centered in the corn pit, where July was cutting queer capers. The opening was weak: 1½c to 2c down from yesterday's close at 80c to 79c. There seemed to be no support within miles of the pit and left to itself the market plunged headlong under the hammering of the elated bears.

In the first hour of business 10½c was knocked off the price of July, 69½c being the price, or a loss of 20½c since the fancy price of 90c that this option brought during the recent rainy weather. There was no controlling the break during the early hour. Fluctuations were mostly 1c apart. September was in a measure weak also, opening unchanged to ½c down at 61c to 60½c and selling off to 60½c. Receipts were very large at 827 cars, 208 of contract grade. Private elevators marketed 116 cars and 50,000 bushels, making a total of 414 cars and 50,000 bushels of contract on the market. This, with that of 550,000 bushels yesterday, and prospects of half a million bushels a day for some time and delivery closing day two weeks off stampeded the crowd. All hands argued that no corner could withstand such abundant offerings.

July slumped steadily but without much excitement after the first big break. The bulls explained their neglect of the July options by saying that prices were too high to take care of the big receipts of cash stuff. Selling was free and continued. July broke to 65½c and closed 15½c lower at 65½c. This was a drop of 20½c in two days. September sold at 59½c and closed weak, 13½c@14c down, at 59½c@59c.

Wheat followed the corn break, although it had bearish news of its own. Cables were lower, receipts were large and the weather was perfect with the exception of a few scattered showers in several states. On the decline stop-loss orders were executed and influenced further dips. Selling was general in the pit and almost the only buying was by the scalping shorts. September opened weak ½c@½c to ½c down at 72½c to 72½c and broke to 72c. Local receipts were 366 cars, 28 of contract grade and 331 new stuff. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 346 cars, making a total for the three points of 712 cars, against 262 last week and 670 a year ago.

Wheat broke to 71½c on heavy selling and the corn weakness. The corn bull crowd took over 1,000,000 bushels, however, and pushed the price back to 72½c. In the end there was little stuff wanted and the weather and other influences brought a weak close, 1½c down at 71½c. Oats felt the influence of the fine warm weather. Farmers who visited the board said more improvement was seen in the last four days in the oats fields than in the month previous. Selling was free and the corn break influenced depressions. There was a fair cash demand which lent support to futures. September opened ½c lower at 32c and broke to 31½c. Receipts were moderate at 151 cars, 41 of contract grade. Small receipts of hogs put yard prices up firmly today and was the cause of higher prices in provisions. The grain break, however, offset the support of the general buying and realization took off the advances. September pork opened 7½c up at $18.75 and sold back to $18.65; September lard 2½c to 7½c up at $11.45 to $11.50 and dipped to $11.40, and September ribs 7½c@10c up at $10.05, sold at $11.00 and reacted to $10.90.

Cousin,

G. C. Clemens, of Topeka, Kan., the noted constitutional lawyer, who bears so striking a resemblance to Mark Twain, (Samuel B. Clemens) that he is frequently taken for the original Mark, is a man of deep intellect and wide experience. He is considered one of the foremost lawyers in this country. In a recent letter to the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Mr. Clemens says:

"Personal experience and observation have thoroughly satisfied me that Dr. Miles' Nerve Tonic contains true merit, and is excellent for what it is recommended."

Mr. Norman Waltrip, Sup. Pres. Bankers' Fraternal Society, Chicago, says:

Dr. Miles' Pain Pills

 WEDNESDAY, JULY 16, 1902.

King Edward's coronation has much in common with the darky's con trap, so far as concerns Americans. It will "ketch 'em comin' and gwine."

The friar question in the Philippines is full of unpleasant prospects for this government. A thoroughly amicable agreement with the vatican on this issue is specifically desired, but the vatican does not view in the desired light the main point at issue—removal of the friars. Upon this it is understood the Washington government will immovably insist.

Thirteen years ago the city of Johnstown felt the weight of a disaster that shocked all humanity. The loss of life in the tremendous flood has placed that terrible event in the list of the world's great catastrophes. The less extensive though still horrible catastrophe which has fallen upon this unfortunate city in the death of some two hundred of its mine-workers will arouse unusual sympathy.

King Edward has fixed the new date for his coronation less than a month hence. His majesty apparently wants the job disposed of while his vermiform appendix continues to be mollified by the doctors. Science has not yet discovered the utility of the vermiform appendix in the economy of the human system, but when it can trip a king and hold up a royal procession like the coronation show it is bound to command respect, if not appreciation.

J. P. Morgan and Wilhelm Hohenzollern have negotiated an understanding that the big German shipping companies shall be in the Morgan trans-Atlantic combine and that Morgan and Hohenzollern will stand together to batter the hind sights, likewise the front lamps, off any other shipping combine that tries to break into the field, or we should say, paddle in the briny. Our American king and the German emperor seem to have hit upon a new version of hands across the sea.

The democratic state committee is in grave error if it believes, as reports from Indianapolis say, that there is any warrant in the sentiment harbored by the democratic masses of Indiana for purposing a snub of Mr. Bryan. There are many democrats who are not in accord with all of Mr. Bryan's views, but by far the large majority of them have for the Nebraska an admiration and yield to him a devotion such as no other democratic leader in the country can command. Mr. Bryan has not lost his popularity in Indiana by any means.

Lord Kitchener has arrived in London and for a time he will overshadow the king. Kitchener is the second hero of the first-class who has come out of the Boer war. The other was Lord Roberts, who captured Cronje's army and then marched practically without opposition into Pretoria. After that he annexed the Transvaal republic and the Orange Free State to the British empire, announced the war at an end and returned home. He was received with acclaim, made a peer, voted an immense gratuity, made commander-in-chief of the army and treated like a hero. But the war had not ended and did not for nearly two years, Kitchener's ceaseless and emotionless hammering bringing that about. Now Lord Roberts is occasionally hissed. Lord Kitchener has been accorded similar distinction, save that he is not yet commander-in-chief. Probably he is harassed with doubt as to what the public has in store for him. He entertains a well-known dislike for London, probably with reason.

It is much to be hoped President Roosevelt will find it both convenient and desirable to accept an invitation to attend the dedication of the Allen court house in the fall. Those of all political parties in this section of the state and especially in the democratic county of Allen will be pleased to extend to the chief magistrate of the nation such a welcome as befits the dignity of his office and his character as a man. It is not desired to bring the president here merely as an "attraction." The event to be celebrated is worthy of the presence of the nation's ruler. It will have far greater significance than merely the dedication of a public building, albeit that building itself is of character to entitle it to some signal ceremony to mark its formal opening to public uses. The history of Fort Wayne has not been prosaic or uneventful. Strenuous history has been made here and hereabouts in days now long gone. The entering wedge of civilization that opened up the great empire of northwestern states was driven here by General Wayne and his men. The Allen county court house emphasizes what has developed during the more than century that has elapsed since Wayne built his rude stockade overlooking the meeting of the rivers. We believe the significance of this coming event will appeal to the president strongly and that if it is in any wise convenient for him to honor Fort Wayne by his presence here when the court house is dedicated, he will be genuinely glad to come. A cordial and patriotic reception will be his if he visits this city.

There is at least a prospect that before long danger of a water famine will have passed. The new compressors at the old pumping station are working most satisfactorily, greatly augmenting the supply, and the pump concern in the east has contrived, after prolonged delay, to land an installment of the new pump for the No. 2 station. Just how long it will take the people of this city to finally accustom themselves to enjoyment of plenty of water in seasons of drought is problematical. For many years the annual midsummer cry has been that economy must be practiced or canal water would have to be used, and not infrequently water from that filthy source has been turned into the mains. If that expedient has been employed for the last time the people may be disposed to forgive the offense of past years.

It may or may not be singular, but it is nevertheless true that in recent years no American citizen has held our ambassadorial post at the court of St. James without in some manner or other causing the American people to question the soundness of his Americanism before he got home. It was so with Lowell, who confessed his admiration for the British, though it was not impossible to do that without any sacrifice whatever of his Americanism. Phelps, whom Cleveland sent to England in his first term, brought upon himself the same criticism and Robert T. Lincoln, who was President Harrison's appointee to that post, did not escape. Mr. Bayard, who represented this country at St. James during the second Cleveland administration, was most vigorously if not viciously assailed and it is not too much to say that some of his dinner speeches and the like were well calculated to stir up the home folks a bit. Mr. McKinley's appointee was John Hay, now secretary of state, who probably surpassed all predecessors as well as his successor in the more than cordiality of his feeling for our British cousins. Now comes Mr. Choate, who very much resembles Mr. Hay in the character of his sentiments toward the British and who has provoked pretty general criticism on this side because he cut short a Fourth of July celebration in London in order to encase his legs in knee breeches and hob nob with his royal highness, the prince of Wales. It may be set down as a certainty that it will be a long time before the American embassy in London proves to be fertile soil for the nurture of presidential timber, Don Dickinson to the contrary notwithstanding.

An Indianapolis jury that tried a job-lot of gamblers let them off easy and then received congratulations from the fellows who had been recipients of the leniency. Which probably goes to show that if proper care is taken at the outset a jury may now and then be depended on to do its duty so it will neither hurt consciences of jurors nor fall hard on the fellow who is soaked.

The United States has won another diplomatic victory in behalf of China. Mr. Hay's image will some time have a place in the joss-house.

At a dinner in London last week Don M. Dickinson, of Detroit, in the course of some felicitous remarks, launched a presidential boomlet for Hon. Joseph H. Choate, American ambassador to the court of St. James. The amiable Mr. Dickinson told his British hearers that it was "very near to the hearts of the American people that Mr. Choate shall go from the court of St. James to the presidential chair." This will be news to the American people, who evidently have not been aware of the thing so "very near to their hearts," and the honor of the discovery belongs entirely to the Wolverine statesman. Mr. Dickinson probably wanted to say something happy to his British auditors and as Mr. Choate is popular and his diplomatic career in London quite approved by Britons, this launching of the boomlet probably had the desired effect. Ambassador Choate is one of the ablest lawyers in the United States, is a fine gentleman, a most accomplished diplomat and in all respects a man of the first order of talents. But it may fairly be doubted if one person in a hundred has ever considered him seriously in connection with the presidency. He is splendidly gifted and brilliant, has a wide reputation, but is in no sense impressive. He might prove so if the people knew him, which they do not. Moreover, the court of St. James is about the poorest soil conceivable for the growth of presidential timber. Mr. Dickinson's amiable announcement that Mr. Choate's elevation to the presidency is very "near to the hearts of the American people," though entirely fanciful, will do no harm, and it may tickle Mr. Choate, besides affording Mr. Dickinson some inward satisfaction. If it pleases him to fancy he still "cuts ice" in politics, very well.

Senator Gorman is not saying anything in these days of stress, but at the same time he can probably be relied upon to take a presidential nomination if emergency pinches the democratic party.

Pump-makers of the country are forming a trust and will probably monopolize the business, but they must not take the people for suckers.

A man with long hair and otherwise having the appearance of a crank, wants to turn himself loose to suppress the anarchists in this country. It is refreshing to find one of his kind who is not one of them.

Don M. Dickinson says about the highest aspiration of the American people is to have Ambassador Choate for president. Mr. Choate might pay off the genial Michigander by applying the same observations to him and not be much wider of the mark.

Judge Mattison, at Evansville, rebuked the grand jury for its failure to find indictments against liquor dealers and gamblers of that city. The judge thought it strange that with three hundred saloons and scores of gambling houses no violations of the law were discovered and true bills returned. The Vanderburg county grand jury probably got its cue from the Indianapolis criminal court jury, which let down a lot of gamblers recently with light fines and then accepted congratulations for their performance of duty.

President Roosevelt, it is reported, has ordered abandonment of the naval station established by this government near Havana, his reason being that this government has no right, in view of the treatment of Cuba by congress, to accept favors of the Cuban republic. There is something in that, to be sure, but the president is taking a rather extreme view of the situation. This government certainly owes Cuba every opportunity to prosper that can be extended. It must be remembered, however, that the balance is yet on our side. We have done almost immeasurable things for Cuba, and the acceptance of favors ought not yet excite any supersensitiveness nor feeling of shame because congress failed in its duty to Cuba. Doubtless the president desires merely to emphasize the congressional shortcomings and impress his disapprobation upon the beet sugar coterie.

Joey C. gets it where he gave it to the Boers, which is not only political retribution, but a thing that for itself mankind should be glad to witness. Joseph Chamberlain as British premier would not inspire specially good feeling toward his government from the world outside, particularly in America.

The people of this country will view with regret the recall of Mr. Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister to Washington. Mr. Wu has been a constant diversion.

We suspect from this long and ominous silence that in trying to keep his throat moist these sultry days Colonel Watterson has not been able to keep his powder dry. It's longer time between fulminations than between drinks in Maine.

Lord Salisbury, the British premier, has resigned, and Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury in the Salisbury cabinet, has been elevated to the prime ministry. During the past year or two frequent rumors of Lord Salisbury's purpose to resign have gained currency only to be discounted and denied. Since the end of the Boer war, however, such rumors have been not only persistent, but have been generally credited. It was not expected, though, that the premier would quit his office until after the coronation of King Edward, and announcement at this time of his retirement causes some surprise. The resignation of Lord Salisbury means no harm to the British empire. Great as he was as a leader, he was in no sense a masterful statesman. Tory born, tory bred and tory to his very marrow, toryism was the source of all his impulses and actions. Lord Salisbury believed religiously in the ruling classes, the supremacy of the aristocracy, of which the Cecils, his own family, were in his view a most stupendous part. Lord Salisbury was a man of immense abilities, a politician of surpassing skill and craftiness and a leader who could devise a trick or expedient for any emergency. The circumstances of his retirement emphasize this last quality to a nicety. He did not want and the king did not want Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary for the colonies, to succeed to the premiership. Chamberlain expected the distinction and his life has been bent to achievement of that honor. Salisbury resigned at a time when injury from an accident held Chamberlain down, and rushed his nephew, Balfour, into the vacancy. Balfour, however, is vastly more acceptable to the British public than Chamberlain. He has capacity, training and skill in affairs, though he has not (no Englishman now living has) Lord Salisbury's intimate and stupendous knowledge of European politics, unless it be Sir Charles Dilke. The Balfour ministry does not inherit specially grave problems. Peace has returned to South Africa and the rehabilitation of the newly annexed colonies does not present anything more difficult than diligent labor at detail in carrying out the peace terms. The ministry's graver tasks will be financial rather than political.

THE NEW CORONATION DATE STARTS ACTIVITIES.

Will Prolong the London Season Into the Middle of August—Anxious for Event.

London, July 12.—The announcement that the coronation of King Edward will probably occur between August 6 and August 12 has caused a hasty rearrangement of plans in all directions. Visits to the country and the continent have been cancelled and the season has been automatically lengthened to the middle of August. While on all sides there is deep gratification that the king is well enough to go soon through the ceremony it is generally accompanied by an expression of the feeling that it will be a relief when it is all over. The shock caused by the sudden postponement of the first planned coronation must inevitably produce national nervousness until the king is actually crowned. Everything except society functions is still at a standstill. These continue to be exceptionally brilliant, and in them Americans have never played such a prominent part. The coronation bazaar proved to be a gala meeting place and its success was an eloquent tribute to the American women who did so much to organize it. The Bradley-Martins and the Mackays and others are entertaining on a lavish scale.

A rather pathetic proof of society's demand for perpetual amusement occurred this week when Kubelik, the violinist, fainted while playing at the Bradley-Martins. He was completely exhausted by his series of day and night engagements.

A FINE FIELD OF WHEAT.

Competent judges inform The Sentinel that Hon. F. J. Hayden's field of wheat is probably the finest in northern Indiana. It is certainly a splendid field of wheat. Mr. Hayden says that he got the seed from the Canadian experimental farm near Guelph, Ont. The south half of the field is in "Genesee Giant," and the south is in "Dawson's Golden Chaff." The "Genesee Giant" is a bearded wheat and is peculiarly adapted for heavy, rich soil on account of the stiffness of the straw. The "Dawson's Golden Chaff" is a smooth wheat and is unsurpassed for quality and productiveness. Mr. Hayden also imported from the same farm some pure Siberian oats, which he says are very promising. The oats are on his new farm, southwest of the city.

for dry-docking. A few months ago Admiral Crowninshield was taken from the bureau of navigation and given command of the north Atlantic squadron, the choicest sea berth in the whole active service. There is rumor in Washington that inquiry into the accident to the Illinois may be instituted. It will not be Crowninshield's first experience. A year before the Maine was blown up he was in command of that warship and during maneuvers run her aground. A court of inquiry, of which Admiral, then captain, W. S. Schley was a member, strongly censured him. Naval men do not regard Crowninshield as a competent commander or in any sense a skillful sailor.

John W. Gates, who is the head of the little coterie that has been giving prices of July corn many a fancy twist, has remarked now and then that he liked to "lose a million or two just for the sport of it." The big July corner seems to have had violent things happen to it for a day or two and it is hoped Mr. Gates is having fun of the kind he likes to pay for, though it may be the pace backward is a bit more furious than he relishes.

King Edward has been removed from the sick room in his palace and placed aboard the royal yacht, which is now on the bounding billow. Many a patient much worse off has recovered without this adjunct to convalescence and the king may be regarded as having pretty sure thing of turning up sound and strong enough for the coronation.

Albert and David Neuschwander and Simon Yoder spent Sunday at the park.

Quite a sad accident happened to the little five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Klopferstein. On Sunday evening while stopping in front of the home of Mr. Christ Klopferstein the horse commenced to kick, and struck the little one on the head, cutting a number of gashes in the scalp. She is not expected to recover.

Mr. Vencile was the guest of Mr. Klopferstein on Sunday.

CARRIER FORCE INCREASED

ADDITIONAL MAIL MAN TO BE ADDED OCTOBER 1.

Department Grants Request From Fort Wayne Postoffice—New Eligible List.

The postoffice department has granted the application of Postmaster Phgc for an increase in the force of mail carriers at the Fort Wayne postoffice, and an additional carrier will begin work October 1. This is the outcome of the recent visit here of an inspector, to whom it was demonstrated that the Fort Wayne carriers were covering a territory much larger than those in the average city, and that the growth of the city made additional help necessary. Milton R. Smith is now the senior substitute, and will doubtless be advanced to the new position on the regular list. This will make the total number of regular carriers twenty-three.

NEW ELIGIBLE LIST.

Of the twelve applicants who took the examination for positions as clerk and carriers in the Fort Wayne postoffice on June 11, five were successful in making a satisfactory grade, and are now placed upon the eligible list for appointment as vacancies occur. The successful applicants, with their grades, are as follows: Charles N. Stutsman, 87.55; Samuel L. Stover, 82.90; Robert H. Carter, 82.55; Charles A. Underwood, 77.25; Henry Storch, 70.40.

PELEE STILL IN ACTIVITY

ERUPTIONS CONTINUE WITH VIOLENCE.

No Lives Known to Have Been Lost—

Scientists Have Narrow Escape at Souffriere.

Paris, July 12.—The colonial ministry has issued the following:

"A fresh eruption of Mont Pelee, Martinique, occurred during the morning of July 11. It was quite as violent as the one of the previous day and was marked by loud detonations, followed by showers of stones and cinders, which fell on the communes of Bassespointe, Mont Rouge and Fonds St. Denis. The population remained calm. There was no loss of life.

"The scientific mission which left Guadeloupe on receipt of the news of the fresh eruption has arrived at Fort De France."

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Kingstown, St. Vincent, Thursday, July 10.—The English scientific commission, headed by Drs. Anderson and Flett, who, after investigating the various phenomena connected with the eruption of the Souffriere volcano here, left on the fourth for England by way of other West Indian ports, noticed that the crater was seemingly quiet. Last night, however, three distinct detonations were heard here, and at Barbadoes, and an immense cloud of steam issued from the Souffriere. This phenomenon was preceded by earthquakes during the past three days, which were felt all over the colony.

The commissioners had a narrow escape during one of their visits to the crater. They passed over a lava bed on the morning of June 14, in fair weather, and ascended the mountain. On the return journey, made during half a gale of wind and a downfall of rain, jets of steam and mud issued all around them from fissures in the mountain. Walking on a ridge they saw on either side to a depth of 1,000 feet masses of boiling mud throwing up jets to a height of 300 and 400 feet. On reaching the base of the mountain the scientists found themselves in an awful predicament. What was three hours previously a dry ravine over which they walked was then a stream of hot mud running with tremendous force. In order to cross this stream they constructed a bridge only a few inches wide, laid from bank to bank, across the narrowest parts of the stream, and eventually got over in safety.

Since the eruption, after every shower of lava, the beds to windward and leeward of the volcanic district eject mud and steam, sometimes hundreds of feet high, and dust sometimes falls heavily in and near this district.

CANNOT IDENTIFY HIM.

Emmet Packhouse, who was reported as having gone from Fort Wayne to Richmond, where he was taken down with smallpox, has not yet been located by Health Commissioner Macbeth. Richmond advises are to the effect that the man's home is at Vincennes and that he has been working in this city, but where, is not stated. Dr. Macbeth says that he has only an indistinct recollection of having heard the name once within a comparatively recent period, but in what connection he can not say. He is inclined to the opinion that the man was a guest at the wedding reception of William Felling, where a vaccination mania was conducted, but he is not positive even about that. Meantime the patient who was "discovered" at Richmond is in the pest house at that city.

BURIED IN A WELL 24 HOURS.

Dublin, Ind., July 12.—Buried in a well for twenty-four hours, with twenty-five feet of stone and dirt heaped on top of his head, James Chitwood was found yesterday morning in a standing position. It is miraculous that Chitwood was still alive and able to talk. Thursday Chitwood contracted with Lane Townsend, a neighboring farmer, to clean out an old well. After reaching a depth of forty feet the curbing began caving at the bottom and filling up until he was buried twenty-five feet deep. The tedious task of uncovering him occupied far into the night, and not till yesterday morning was he taken out.

RESCUES MAYBELLE MOORE.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 12.—Miss Maybelle Moore, daughter of W. H. Moore, a Chicago manufacturer, and part owner and leading woman of the Huntley-Moore Stock company, was saved from drowning yesterday by Terry McGovern, the pugilist. Miss Moore was bathing near Heinz's pier and McGovern and some friends were swimming near by. She started to swim out to the buoy, a distance of 100 yards. When she neared the buoy she found herself in the undertow and was carried out to sea. She called loudly for help and McGovern swam quickly to her, seized her under the arm and started back for shore. Some of Miss Moore's friends got a lifeboat and rowed to the rescue. McGovern and his exhausted companion caught hold of the boat and both were taken ashore. When Miss Moore learned who her rescuer was she put her arms around his neck and kissed him.

WILL CHANGE ITS NAME.

Stockholders of the Haberkorn-Haley company, engine builders, are voting upon a proposition to change the incorporate name of the company, and it is practically certain that the change will be made as soon as the law governing such matters can be complied with. The new title will be the Haberkorn Engine company. Mr. Haley, who was one of the founders of the company, disposed of his interests some months ago.

CASE GOES OVER TO JULY 22

HEARING OF ACKER AND REILLY ON EXTRADITION.

Canadian Government Submits Evidence, and Accused Men are Now to Summon Witnesses.

After a partial hearing Friday afternoon the extradition cases of William Ackker and Benjamin Reilly, alleged to be the men wanted in Canada to answer to a long charge of burglary and larceny, was continued until Tuesday, July 22. In the meantime the man arrested at Bluffton as William Ackker, but who has been known in Wells county as John Julian, and Benjamin Reilly, gathered in at Convoys, Ohio, will remain in jail in Fort Wayne.

The Canadian government presented a portion of its evidence at the hearing Friday, Inspector Murray and Constable Mills taking the witness stand, the latter positively identifying the men under arrest as the persons wanted in Canada for the crime. Reilly, who insists that his name is John, is a rather tough-looking specimen of humanity, and a phenologist might have some difficulty in discovering a very pronounced bump of exalted intellectuality, so that when Constable Mills testified that Reilly had been a book agent in Canada, it was impossible to repress the smile that ran round the court.

Attorney Henry Colerick is making a strong fight against the extradition of the two men, who insist that they are the victims of mistaken identity; that the Canadian officials have gotten hold of the wrong parties, and that they have never been in Canada. They assert that they will be able to prove by reputable Wells county citizens that they were at Bluffton at the time the crime was committed in Canada, and the further hearing of the case was deferred in order to allow the accused men to secure the presence of witnesses. Meanwhile, Inspector Murray, of the Canadian secret service, went to Bluffton today to look a little more thoroughly into the past life of his prisoners. He may also bring other witnesses from Canada in support of the identification of the men.

OFFICIAL SNUBS ROOSEVELT.

Washington, July 12.—President Roosevelt was snubbed by Comptroller of the Treasury Tracewell in rendering a decision holding that F. F. Gillon, an assistant engineer employed in the office of public buildings and grounds, should not receive extra compensation for services rendered in connection with the improvement of the white house and the construction of the president's office building.

President Roosevelt instructed Colonel Bingham, who has charge of the work, to reserve $6,000 of the amount appropriated by congress for the improvements and use it for the employment of necessary assistants in supervising the work, etc. Under this order Gillon was detailed to assist Colonel Bingham. The latter asked Comptroller Tracewell if it was lawful to pay Gillon $50 a month for extra work performed. Gillon already is drawing a salary of $1,800 a year as assistant engineer and Mr. Tracewell holds that he is not entitled to more pay. Visitors to the national capital today were much disappointed at being refused admission to the white house grounds. Colonel Bingham issued the order at the request of the contractors who are making improvements in the white house and constructing the president's office building. They claimed the visitors interfered with their work. It is probable that the order will continue in force for three months, or until the work on the buildings is completed.

August Drudik was given a judgment against J. J. Eme and Victor Sallot on a note for $187.11.

WASHINGTON'S KISSING PALM

GIVES THOSE WHO APPROACH OSCULATING IMPULSE.

Plant is Extremely Rare, and at One Time was Cause of Dispute Among Scientists.

Washington, July 12.—Among the wonders of Washington, and they are numberless, there probably is not to be found today anything more remarkable than a specimen of plant life now in the possession of the department of agriculture and basking in the grateful warmth of one of the greenhouses of the Mall, says the Post. This rare and almost priceless curiosity is none other than the famous "kissing palm," or as scientifically designated, the "palmetto osculanti," and heretofore believed by many to exist only as a myth. That such belief should obtain, however, is not to be wondered at when the marvelous nature of the botanical specimen is considered and its extreme rarity taken into account.

The palm derives its name and its scientific value from its wonderful influence over all persons who come within a given radius of it. This influence, as powerful as the strongest magnet, insinuating as a perfume, and as subtle as the very ether, is exerted upon any and all, and finds expression in an irresistible impulse to indulge in kissing, and only by fleeing the presence of the plant can the influence be thrown off. Young men and women, staid middle-aged persons, prosaic married couples and aged people, while in the presence of the palm, have found themselves enthusiastically, rapturously, ecstatically kissing their companion of the opposite sex, and receiving in return lip imprints none the less saccharinely blissful.

ITS WONDERFUL EFFECT.

Many of these persons, entirely unaware of the influence exerted upon them, have marveled greatly at their unaccounted actions, when once away from the plant, but in many cases has the power of the palm been such that they have found themselves unconsciously straying back to its vicinity, only to find themselves enjoying the osculatory delights with the same abandon as before.

In a number of cases, where there have been several in the party, a man or woman of especially ardent nature has been known not to confine the lip tribute to any one member of the party, but to favor all of the opposite sex. One man, it is said, was so far carried away by the influence as to kiss his mother-in-law, and she, stranger still, returned the salute with a wild fervor that fairly took his breath. This, however, is said to be a most unusual case and the only one so far recorded locally, and it is only mentioned now to show the wonderful power of the "palmetto osculanti."

Young couples who, because of timidity or diffidence, have found it impossible to gratify their wish to break away from the formal "Mr." and "Miss" in their remarks addressed to each other, have suddenly discovered themselves saying "George" and "Jessie" or "Mary" and "John," quite naturally, this during what little time and what little breath they found themselves possessed of between salutes of an osculatory nature.

SCIENTIFIC DISPUTE.

Now that the facts are known it is quite possible that testimony as to the plant will be introduced as evidence, and if such is done it will much doubt result in bringing out much that will be of interest and of real scientific value concerning this remarkable and hitherto little known botanical specimen.

The extraordinary character of the palm is only equalled by its scarcity. It could almost be said to be extinct were it not for the fact that at no time in the world's history has it been other than very rare, and perhaps today the number of "kissing palms" in growth is no smaller than for centuries. The existence of the plant has long been a matter of dispute among botanists. No less an authority than Humboldt declared it as his belief that the "kissing plant" was fabulous. Bonpland also shared this belief and indulged in a bitter controversy with Baudiera, who claimed to have seen a specimen of the palm in the South Sea Islands, and there to have come under its influence to the extent that he was unable to refrain from embracing and kissing, too, anything but attractive native women standing near.

FORM AUTOMOBILE CLUB.

The much talked of plan of forming an automobile club in this city is being revived again, with some prospects of materialization. There are now about fifteen automobiles in the city, enough to form a strong club, and although the plan has always been in favor among automobile owners, it has never materialized on account of lack of initiative. Harry Meyer, of the Meyer Cycle company, will call a meeting of owners for some night next week, when the first steps will be taken toward forming a club.

WALLACE SHOWS COMING.

The great Wallace shows will be in Fort Wayne on Monday, August 11, and will exhibit on the river bottom near the Van Buren street bridge. Daniel Lynch, advance man for the show, was in the city yesterday and completed arrangements for the coming of the circus, and a force of bill posters will be here in a few days to bill the city and surrounding towns.

CHINESE CONSUL SMUGGLES.

Washington, July 12.—Honolulu has been made the basis of a gigantic smuggling operation. Yang-Ying-Ting, the Chinese consul at that port, is said to be the moving genius in a plan to cheat the United States of duties on opium and other Chinese imports. Some time ago Customs Collector Stackable reported to Secretary Shaw that he had evidence implicating Yang-Ying-Ting in smuggling operations, and requested authority to investigate the premises occupied by the Chinese consul. The secretary of the treasury replied that a search might precipitate international complications, but that the collector should gather all evidence obtainable and report, but later Mr. Stackable was authorized to adopt vigorous measures, the result being the disclosure of a clearing house for Chinese and American smugglers in the Chinese consulate. It was discovered also that Yang-Ying-Ting was engaged in a great conspiracy to smuggle Chinamen into the United States. It is not thought China will make any representations against the punishment of her agent, as she is under too great obligations to the United States to risk any such complication.

WON FAME WITH WAR POEM.

St. Louis, Mo., July 12.—Joseph C. Murphy, a well-known young business man, was found dead in bed yesterday morning at 4119 Finney avenue, where he lived with his mother, sister and brother. Mr. Murphy was the St. Louis agent for Wilson Bros., wholesale men's furnishers of Chicago. He had a remarkable talent for writing, and was conspicuously known for some of the poems which he dashed off apparently without much trouble. His first effort that attracted attention was the famous "Battle of Dundee," a descriptive poem of an encounter in the Boer war, the feature of which was that when the combatants got together at close quarters it was discovered that most of the fighting men both on the Boer and the English sides were Irish. This attracted wide attention, and was printed in many of the leading papers in this country and Europe.

MAD AFTER TAKING POISON.

Muncie, Ind., July 12.—Mrs. Allen Pullum, who attempted suicide Tuesday by swallowing laudanum in a department store, is now a maniac. Her husband is Allen Pullum, of St. Louis, and her father is M. Williams, a wealthy resident of Ham-burg, Kan. She was selling books for a Chicago firm, having recently left her husband.

MRS. O'MALLEY GOES HOME.

New York, July 12.—Mrs. Austin O'Malley, the bride who was arrested a week ago in Philadelphia charged with robbing her brother-in-law, and who came to this city early this morning, after being released on $1,200 bail, is now at the home of her father, William A. Ellis, at 21 Morningside avenue. Her brother, Orison Ellis, told a servant to make this announcement to all comers: "All that the family has to say is that Mrs. O'Malley's treatment at Philadelphia was outrageous. She is very ill, and will be confined to her room for several days. She has nothing to say, and will not be allowed to talk when she gets well, on the advice of her counsel."

William J. Hearin, who was arrested with Mrs. O'Malley on a charge of conspiracy to rob, and with whom, it was alleged, she was about to elope, did not follow her to this city. His parents, with whom he lived, at 66 Madison avenue, went to the Catskills a week ago, and it is supposed that he has gone there, too.

MASONS WILL HAVE A PICNIC.

The Leo lodge of Masons, together with the new chapter of the Order of Eastern Star recently instituted at that place, are arranging for an old-fashioned picnic to be held in a grove along the river near Leo on Saturday, July 26. Invitations will be issued to all the Fort Wayne lodges of Masons and the Eastern Stars in this city.

BISHOP BUYS AN ISLAND.

Grape Island, in Sylvan lake, has been purchased by Bishop Alerding, who intends to make it a summer recreation ground for the priests during the summer. The underbrush has been cleared from the island, and a board walk is being constructed along the shores. Grape Island is the largest in Sylvan lake and is situated opposite Pleasant Point.

THE COURT NEWS.

Christian C. Moon has commenced suit against Henry B. Crawford on a mechanic's lien for $75.

The case of Frank Parrot vs. Conrad Bleckner, on account, has been appealed from Bullerman's court and the transcript was filed.

Frank Bercot, of the county clerk's office, has returned from a short business visit to Chicago.

John A. Miller has commenced suit against Alfred Byroads for $500 damages occasioned, as the complaint states, "by negligently starting a fire." The parties to the suit live in Scipio township and own adjoining lands. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant started a fire on his own premises for the purpose of burning off underbrush and refuse, but that he was so negligent in watching it that it crept over onto the plaintiff's premises and devoured about forty rods of fence and thirty cords of wood, besides doing some other damage. An amicable settlement could not be made and the result is the suit for the amount named.

Mary Pfeidner sues William G. Young for damages in the sum of $300. Plaintiff alleges that Young bought of her a certain job lot of machinery for which he agreed to pay a certain price. He never paid, according to the complaint, and the suit is brought for damages for failure to fulfill contract.

Leah Bayless commences proceedings against Henry C. Taylor et al. to recover on a note for $125.

Etta Jobs sues John Boswell et al. on a note and mortgage to recover the sum of $120.

The court house Friday looked very much like after business hours on a holiday. None of the courts are in session and the weather was apparently too pleasant to induce trouble or marriage as the very brief record will show:

The will of Francis Rancis was filed for probate. The testator leaves all of his property to the disposition of his widow.

Edward Wickliffe has commenced suit against Ezekiah Hillegas and a number of others, designated as trustees of the Huntstown Cemetery church, on a mechanic's lien for $302.

The county commissioners Friday were wrestling with ditch matters and had no trouble whatever. There were no remonstrances, no kickers and only a few petitions for new ditches. They were disposed of as follows: On the petition for the Leininger ditch in Jackson township, George Townsend, Celestin Gladioux and John Orrick were appointed viewers; Huguenard ditch, Jefferson township, J. R. Emenhiser, Jasper Jones and W. S. Spindler were appointed viewers; Folger ditch, Lake township, Florentine Roy, August Tonkel and James McComb were appointed viewers; Heck ditch, Lake township, George Geaglein, Frederick Bleke and Samuel Fulkerson were appointed viewers; Harber ditch, Pleasant township, William Brindle, Sylvester Reed and Judson Emrick were appointed viewers.

Nora Parks, the insane woman delivered to the sheriff from police court Friday, continues to be very violent. She tears off her clothing and requires constant care and attention. Her home formerly was in Eel River township, from where she was once sent to the asylum. Sheriff Stout realizes that a commission of lunacy cannot be held in her case, she having once before having been declared insane and now the only thing to do is to have her recommitted. Steps looking to that end will be taken Friday.

Deputy Sheriff Huguenard was today surprised by having delivered to him a handsome engraving which he was told he had drawn at a church fair held at Besancon last week. It is a representation of the "Lord's Supper" and is a very handsome piece of art.

Allie J. Harper has commenced suit against Emilia Roussey et al. to foreclose on a mechanic's lien; demand, $260.

County Clerk Belot, in the absence of the court, on Saturday appointed Anna Meyer administratrix of the estate of Bernhard Meyer, deceased.

Charles H. Mosher has commenced proceedings in the circuit court to recover possession of a mare from John Pickett. The value of the animal is stated to be $300 and possession of the same is denied Mosher, who claims to be the rightful owner. The complaint sets out that the ownership is not in dispute by reason of any judgment or levy and that the animal is not being held for taxes or other legal detention.

County Recorder Gillette and wife are taking a brief outing visiting friends in Lagrange county and other northern Indiana localities. Before leaving on the trip the recorder locked all his fishing tackle in the barn and threw away the key.

Peter A. Mcran sues Pauline Weinecke for possession of real estate and to quiet title.

Judge Aiken, in the superior court, granted three divorces on Monday, Lor A. Galloway from David H. Galloway and the custody of one child. The complaint was filed this morning and alleged abuse. The parties were married in 1859 and separated only today.

Charles T. Allen was divorced from Clara Allen, this complaint also being filed Monday.

Celia Etchey was divorced from Edward Etchey and the complaint alleged that they had been married in April of this year and that the defendant had been abusive.

Anna Bloomhuff was cited to appear a bill of particulars in her case for damages against Catherine Boltz, the bill to be presented within three days.

In the divorce case of Frank A. Aman vs. Rose E. Aman, the plaintiff was ordered to pay the defendant $25 as a temporary allowance.

Elmer Gutscher has commenced action against Michael Gutscher to establish a trust and quiet title.

Alma Monnock, who has been in the charge of the sheriff for over a month, was today received at the feeble minded home.

Deputy Sheriff Ryan is back at his post, after a two weeks' vacation.

IN JUSTICES' COURTS.

In the trial of John L. Baldwin, charged by his wife with assault and battery, Justice Tancey last week found for the defendant and acquitted him. After the trial was over the justice remarked that he guessed "it was a proposition." Some of the evidence tended to show that occasionally Mrs. Baldwin chased her husband to the barn or elsewhere while she talked to other gentlemen.

Maria Henninger has filed an affidavit against Edward Etch, charging him with trespass. A warrant is out, but no arrest has yet been made.

Sheldon is up for another wrestle with justice. Constable Bagby is about this moment ploughing around the environments of Sheldon looking for Benjamin Weaver, against whom George McDowell filed an affidavit charging him with profanity.

Any one who knows George knows how shocked he must have been, in case Benjamin forgot himself so far as to indulge in profanity in his presence. It has now been several months since Mr. McDowell had a chance to appear in a justice's court, either as defendant or prosecuting witness, and the strenuous life of innocuous desuetude seems to have got the better of him. Mr. Weaver is a retired saloonkeeper, who retired after his saloon was several times blown up by enthusiastic dynamiters. Perhaps Mr. McDowell caught him swearing at that old event.

Mollissa Keyser has filed an affidavit in France's court alleging that she has been delivered of an illegitimate child and that Frank Craig is the father of said child. A warrant was immediately issued for the arrest of Craig.

Frederick Baus, an old man well known about town as a chair mender and sort of jack-of-all-trades, is defendant in two cases filed in France's court. One charges him with assault and battery upon Emma Mansdorfer and the other charges public intoxication. He has not yet had a hearing and the charges may be compromised.

Justice Tancey last week acquitted Edward Etch of trespass. The affair was a neighbors' quarrel and was compromised satisfactorily.

The case of the state vs. Christian Beam, accused by Julia Fink of larceny and embezzlement was not tried in Bullerman's court last Friday afternoon as scheduled. The hearing was postponed and it is more than likely that the cause will be venued to some other township.

Leonard Duntin, of Huntstown, was arraigned before Justice Tancey last Friday to answer to a charge of larceny preferred by Robert J. Hillegas. He waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over to the circuit court in the sum of $200 which bond he promptly furnished and was released.

Last Friday Florence Waters, of Wallen, came to town and hunting up Prosecutor Emrick related that her husband, Albert Waters, had beaten her, has frequently mistreated her and threatened to kill her. The result was that two affidavits were placed against Waters in Tancey's court, one charging assault and battery and the other demanding a surety of the peace bond. Constable Bagby went to Wallen this forenoon to serve the warrants.

Another affidavit was filed Friday against Leonard Duntin, of Huntstown, charging him with the larceny of $10 in money taken from a till, the money the property of George Ross. Duntin is now out on bail to answer to a similar charge and an effort is being made to compromise both cases. Duntin is a minor.

George McDowell pleaded guilty to public intoxication, was fined $1 and costs and paid; a similar charge naming another date was dismissed. Justice Tancey on Monday acquitted Albert Waters of assault and battery on his wife, Florence. Another charge for a different case of assault was being tried that afternoon.

Nancy J. Payton has filed an affidavit in Tancey's court charging Clara Thompson with assault and battery; the parties live in the Fifth ward.

SERVICE TO WABASH SOON

INTERURBAN MAKES CONTRACT

FOR JULY 25.

Expects to Run Cars Before That

Date—Trial Trip to LaGro

Tomorrow.

Today the Fort Wayne and Southwestern Traction company contracted with the Fort Wayne Lodge of Pathfinders to take several hundred passengers into the city of Wabash on Friday, July 25, but it is stated at the offices of the company that it is hoped to have cars running regularly to the Wabash county capital even before that date. In the event, however, that the regular service is not then in operation, special cars will be run for the Pathfinders in order to fulfill the contract. Track is now laid a distance of three-fourths of a mile inside the city limits of Wabash, and the work of completing the road is being pushed as rapidly as possible.

The track is now ballasted to LaGro, and tomorrow an attempt will be made to run cars to that town. The sub-station there is not yet in operation, and the success of tomorrow's venture all depends upon whether or not the direct current is strong enough to operate the cars that distance from Huntington without the aid of the sub-stations.

The Southwestern is also arranging to run an excursion to Winona in connection with the Pennsylvania company, and to run regular excursions to Robison park in connection with the lines of the Fort Wayne Traction company.

WILL GO TO NEW HAVEN.

The Irish societies met last Friday and decided to hold the annual picnic at New Haven, instead of Huntington, as had been intended. A meeting of the program committee will be held next Friday night to arrange the program for the day.

LIEUTENANT OF CAVALRY.

Fort Wayne friends of Hal Joss will be interested in knowing that he is now with the regular army in the Philippines, serving as first lieutenant of troop M, Fifteenth United States cavalry, on the Island of Mindanao. Mr. Joss is a brother of Senator Fred Joss, and is well known in Fort Wayne.

BUYS HIGH-SPEED PRESS.

Last week C. F. Bicknell, manager of the Fort Wayne Daily News company, closed a contract for the purchase of a very fine double-deck Potter perfecting newspaper press, with a capacity of 20,000 complete papers per hour. It is expected the new machine will be installed in the Daily News press room by September 1.

TALK OF A MONOPOLY.

Johannesburg, Transvaal, July 15.—At a meeting of the chamber of commerce today, called to receive the British trade commission, a member read a cable dispatch which he had received offering freight from New York to Natal at 10 shillings per ton. Other members of the chamber said they had received similar offers. This rate is not remunerative, but is the outcome of competition. It is 21 shillings, 3 pence below the lowest freight rate from England. The merchants do not see how the Americans are able to offer such low rates. Nevertheless they are overhauling their stock to see what they can order in the United States. A majority of the members of the executive committee of the chamber of mines are advocating a coast duty of 5 shillings to 7 shillings, 6 pence per case of dynamite in order to protect the local factory. The proposal is strongly opposed as tending to create a worse monopoly than existed during the Kruger regime and to establish a precedent in the direction of protection.

Rev. H. A. Hellhake, of Sheldon, was the guest today of Rev. P. F. Roche, of the Cathedral.

LORD SALISBURY AND A. J. BALFOUR

A Sketch of Great Britain's Retiring Premier and the Man Who Succeeds Him in the Empire's Most Important Office.

The Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, the new premier, who was first lord of England's treasury and government leader in the house of commons, is an uncommonly fortunate man. Just at the particular moment when his downfall in politics is predicted, something somehow happens that elevates him higher than he was before. The illness of his uncle, Lord Salisbury, in 1898, gave Balfour the temporary control of the foreign office. He was then the guiding hand in the diplomacy of England in all parts of the world. Yet Ireland attached to his name long ago the adjective of "bloody," and for years his opponents in the commons called him a "perfumed fox." Since 1874, when he first entered parliament for East Manchester, his opponents have insisted that he was a failure—that he could never rise to eminence—that he wore the glove of a gallant—that he mined with the words of a woman. He was secretary to Scotland in 1898. Eight years prior to that time he sat in the Berlin congress as secretary to Salisbury. After the Scottish secretaryship he received that of Ireland, where his position was a dangerous one for all the years he occupied it. In 1891 he became first lord of the treasury, a position he still holds, and to which he has added the honor of being the conservative leader in the commons. Balfour is a golf player, an equestrian, a student, a writer of philosophical works and treatises, a biometalist. Englishmen say that in debate Chamberlain strikes with a bludgeon; Balfour punctuates with a rapier. They say Chamberlain wins when everything is against him; that Balfour wins when all is with him. Some tales are told of Balfour that may be true. He is said to boast that he never reads the newspapers and that he enjoys his bed until noon. His supporters are constantly aggravated by his lack of respect for the house of commons. He attends its sessions a little as possible. He was born in Scotland July 25, 1848, and therefore is but 52 years of age—a young prime minister.

The marquis of Salisbury, the retiring premier, known in his younger days as "Bob Cecil," is the third marquis, and was born at Hatfield, the family seat, in Hertfordshire, February 13, 1830. He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, Oxford, where he was graduated, and he was elected a fellow of All Souls, the aristocratic and conservative college, in 1853. In the same year he entered parliament as a member for Stamford, which is and always has been a pocket borough of the Cecil family. He held the membership as a conservative until April, 1868, when he succeeded to the marquessate. While in the lower house he was known as Lord Robert Cecil and later as Lord Cranbourne, a courtesy title. During his membership of the commons he was a leader-writer on the daily press, a prolific contributor to the Saturday Review and a writer on ecclesiastical and political subjects in the Quarterly Review. During his long connection with the press he gained a reputation as a caustic, satirical and brilliant writer rather than a solid or profound thinker, though his articles are able and far above mediocrity. In 1857 he married Miss Alderson, daughter of the exchequer baron of the name and niece of Mrs. Ogle, the authoress. His official political career began with his appointment as secretary of state for India in 1866, a position which he resigned on account of objection to the Tory reform bill of 1867. In 1869 he was elected chancellor of the University of Oxford, succeeding the late earl of Derby. He again took the Indian secretaryship under Mr. Disraeli in 1874. During the Sarban war he was sent as special ambassador to the Porte during the Constantinople conference and managed the whole affair. In April, 1878, he was appointed foreign secretary and later went to the Berlin congress with Lord Beaconsfield, and brought back a part of the celebrated "peace with honor," for which he received the Order of the Garter. He became prime minister in 1885 and served until 1892. He assumed the same office in 1895 and held it until his resignation, last week. As a speaker he is effective, terse, clear and at all times vigorous and never feeble. In appearance he is tall, bent, awkward, bald-headed and ungainly, full-bearded and with melancholy, appealing eyes. He is a hard, earnest and faithful worker and has a right to be called a statesman, though an unscrupulous one. He is impetuous, cynical and a skimmer in tactics. With him Toryism is an inborn, inbred and overpowering principle; he believes in that and that alone.

IS BOUND TO BE A SOLDIER

FORT WAYNE LAD LEADS PURSUERS A LIVELY CHASE.

Louis Neimeier, 17 Years Old, Defies Parents and Eludes Man Sent After Him.

A seventeen-year-old boy from Fort Wayne, who had his head set on getting to St. Louis, where he could enlist in the regular army, caused trouble enough for his pursuer last night and this morning to have precipitated a storm of profanity from a Quaker, says the Logansport Reporter.

Promoters promise to have the Muncie, Hartford City and Fort Wayne electric line in operation from Muncie to Montpelier by December. There are still a number of wolves in Laporte county. The recent high water has driven the animals from their lairs and many depredations are reported.

Mrs. Emerson Gable, of Hartford City, was severely bitten on the hand by a rat which had taken up quarters in the family flour barrel at the Gable home.

In the union depot at Muncie is a combined electric fan and atomizer, which sprinkles toilet waters and delicate perfumes upon passengers in the waiting rooms.

A hold-up man attempted to rob J. D. Kelly, of Kendallville, Thursday night, but was put out of business by a solar-plexus blow delivered by Mr. Kelly's right mitt.

W. H. Ripple, a Warsaw liveryman, was thrown from his carriage in a runaway and then kicked in the head by his horse, which had fallen. It is believed he will recover.

Attorney W. H. H. Dennis, of Napanee, seventy years of age, wealthy and prominent, fell from a fence while out hunting Saturday. His neck was broken by the fall and he died instantly.

Officials of the Muncie, Hartford City and Fort Wayne electric line have told Bluffton people they will build to that city if Bluffton people will take interest enough in the project to secure the right-of-way from Montpelier to that city.

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

An epidemic of typhoid fever is raging at Elkhart.

Goshen people are endeavoring to locate a $25,000 fish hatchery at Lake Wawasee.

Adam Erlenbaugh, a well known Huntington citizen, died Saturday at the age of sixty-seven.

John Fisk, of Waterloo, died from blood poisoning last week, the result of trimming a corn between his toes. The labor trouble in the Baltimore and Ohio shops at Garrett is nearing adjustment. There has been no strike.

MINE HORROR IN UTAH, DEAD MAY NUMBER 150.

Salt Lake, Utah, July 16.—The magazine on the 1,200-foot level of the Daly-West mine, at Park City, Utah, exploded shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. There were 150 men at work in the mine, which is one of the largest silver producers in Utah.

At 4 o'clock this morning twenty-four dead and twenty-one probably fatally injured had been removed from the mine, leaving 105 still in the workings.

The tunnel is full of gas and it is impossible to penetrate far into the mine.

All available physicians have been hurriedly sent to the scene.

The old man was apparently oblivious to suffering and but for the action of others who drew the blazing clothing from his body he would have burned to death. As it is, he was fearfully injured and may die.

John Durbin, near Monroe, got his hand mixed up in a threshing machine Saturday and one finger was torn off.

Rev. L. M. Coffman, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Warsaw, has resigned to accept a pastorate at Sidney, Ohio.

While preparing for an outing with friends Mrs. Charles B. Greene, of South Bend, thirty-six years of age, died suddenly of heart failure. Shick's slaughter, house at Hartford City was burned by incendiaries Sunday night and a beef, a calf and three hogs were cremated. The loss is $3,000.

Rev. D. S. Howard, formerly dean of the cathedral at Michigan City, has been assigned to the rectorship of the Episcopal churches at Warsaw and Rochester.

For the first time in the history of the field every pumping oil well in the Hartford City pool was closed down Sunday. The operators have agreed not to pump on Sunday in the future.

William Schroeder, member of a good family at Plymouth, was caught in the act of robbing a saloon at Michigan City Sunday night and was shot in the arm and captured. He will plead guilty.

The prospecting for oil in Marshall county, near Bremen, has not panned out profitably and the drilling machinery is being removed to Elkhart county, where an Indiana syndicate has leased fifteen hundred acres of land.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. John Gable, of Hartford City, wandered too near a hive of bees and was in convulsions when discovered by the mother, while the bees were still angrily attacking. The little one may recover.

Mrs. Mary Sayre, a pioneer Wabash woman, died Saturday at the age of eighty-three years. She was the mother of Hon. Warren G. Sayre, and previous to her marriage was Miss Mary Grover, daughter of Rev. Joseph Grover, who many years ago was a Methodist minister in Fort Wayne.

Jefferson Speicher, forty-three years old and an epileptic, was killed by a Baltimore and Ohio train at Milford Junction Sunday night. Speicher wandered away from home without attracting attention and the remains were so badly mangled that the only means of identification was a shriveled hand, which had resulted from a burn in childhood.

The old mill dam, near Fairfield Center, DeKalb county, which has been in existence since the early pioneer days when Wert's woolen mill wove the "Hindsey-woolsey" dresses of our grand-mothers, gave away under the recent heavy rains and emptied a liberal supply of carp and pike from the pond into Cedar creek, and the overflow made it possible for several farmers to capture some fine fish weighing from two to ten pounds in portions of their corn fields adjoining the creek.

WILL TRY TO BREAK RECORD.

Fourteen birds belonging to members of the Fort Wayne Homing club will be shipped to Abolene, Tex., on Saturday, and they will be released the day after they arrive at their destination. The birds are the pick of the lofts to which they belong and they are all seasoned travelers, ten of them having made 600 mile flights and the other four having flown 500 miles several times. The record for 1,000 miles is held by a Chicago bird, and the members of the local club expect that their pigeons will cut down the time, providing conditions are favorable. The shortest time for 1,000 miles is 11 days. The distance between Abolene and Fort Wayne is 1,004 miles.

Nothing but bargains at Patterson's for the next fifteen days.

PULLED GUN ON AN OFFICER

WILBUR MOORE CAUGHT RED-HANDED AT ROBBERY.

Lad Showed Desperate Disposition—Young Companion Released, But Moore is Held.

(From Monday's Daily.)

Jude Dreibels, who is still hobnobbing with fish and apistocrats up at Lake George, left a rather unsavory mess for Hon. H. I. Smith, acting judge, to take care of this morning. Wilbur Moore and Willie Thompson, two lads of immature age, were arraigned on the serious charges of daylight burglary and larceny and the evidence was flatly against them. Moore's case was taken under advisement, while that of young Thompson was continued indefinitely and he was released on his own recognizance.

For several days Pottlitzer Bros., commission fruit merchants on Harrison street, have been missing sums of money from their till, ranging from forty-five cents to $5, and last Saturday Detective Coling was detailed to investigate the case. Coling went to the store shortly after 5 o'clock and secreted himself, and about 6 o'clock the store was locked up as usual and, acting according to instructions, every employee and proprietor immediately left the premises. Less than half an hour later Coling from his hiding place saw a young fellow emerge from a cellar stairway and make straight for the cash drawer. This was Moore. He saw the young fellow get a handful of money, and as he turned to leave the counting room Coling accosted him with: "Hey, there, young fellow, I guess I want you!"

PULLED A GUN.

"I guess not," said the young lad, as he whipped out a revolver, which was only a .22, but which the detective said for a minute looked like a thirteen-inch gun—the young fellow had got it out so quick. Coling in a second thrust his own revolver under the fellow's nose and told him to throw up his hands, which order was promptly complied with. The stolen money, amounting to $1.30, was still in Moore's hand. Outside, the detective a few minutes later arrested Willie Thompson, a boy of 15, who had been stationed to watch. Both boys were locked up and held until this morning. Meanwhile, Coling, who was surprised at the coolness and nerve of Moore, and the promptness with which he got his revolver when accosted, made some further investigations and learned that while Moore was in the cellar he heard the creaking of Coling's shoes on the floor above him, Coling having moved his position, and, running to the cellar grate, through which he had effected an entrance, told Thompson to see who was in the store, as he had heard someone walk. Thompson reconnoitered, but saw no one and so informed the chief burglar. "I'll watch out, anyway," said Moore, "and if anybody tries to stop me, I'll kill 'im," with which he took his little revolver out of his pocket and carried it in his hand as he disappeared. CONFESSED GUILT.

When asked to plead to the charge of having burglarized the store and stolen $1.30, Moore pleaded guilty, and on further questioning said that this was the only time he had ever been in the place and that the stolen money because he was hungry and wanted to buy something to eat. He stoutly denied ever having been engaged in any disreputable transaction before, but this story was upset by young Thompson before the story was over. The judge was at first inclined to assess a nominal fine and jail sentence, but after other things began to develop he concluded to take the matter under advisement until tomorrow, meantime sending the young man to jail for safe keeping. Moore is about 16 years of age and has lived here for three or four years, with the exception of a few months last fall. He says his father is dead and that he does not know where his mother is, she having left the city about three months ago. Meantime, he has been sleeping in barns and doing odd jobs of work, according to his own story.

OF GOOD PARENTAGE.

Young Thompson is a bright looking lad of fifteen, living with his parents at 404 Pearl street. The parents are eminently respectable, hard-working people, who feel the disgrace brought upon them by their son's action most keenly. The father is an employee at the electric light works and the boy was formerly employed as a Western Union messenger. The lad said that he had known young Moore for several years and knew of his depredations; that he knew he was doing wrong, but that he never realized the actual gravity of the offenses he was assisting to commit; that he had never taken any actual part in any burglary, but had received 10 cents as his portion of the swag one day last week. He said that Moore and a boy named Roy Weinbrenner had entered Pottlitzer's store three times previously last week—once on Tuesday, once on Wednesday and the third time on Friday night. He was cognizant of all these robberies, but did not know how much had been realized.

Mr. Diamond, of the Pottlitzer firm, said that the dates corresponded and that $3 and $5 had been taken on two of the occasions and 45 cents on the third.

ATTORNEY'S STRONG PLEA.

Attorney Geake put in a plea for young Thompson and presented to the court that the little fellow was not really bad, but had unfortunately been found in bad company; that he believed his present experience would prove a lesson, and that he could be made a good and useful citizen if given a chance and was not branded in his youth as a criminal; that while he was implicated, he had done nothing really criminal, and that he should be given a chance. The attorney's plea was very pathetic and the pathos was heightened by the presence of the mother, who with tears streaming down her cheeks looked appealingly at the judge, and the father, who looked very thoughtful and very much heartbroken over the unfortunate affair. The boy, too, sobbed audibly while the attorney was addressing the court. The prosecutor intimated that he had no inclination to deal harshly with the little fellow, but thought that the ring-leader was rather accomplished as a criminal and should be taken care of. The judge thereupon called young Thompson to his desk, gave him a sound lecture and some very good advice, and after exacting a promise from him that he would discard his old associates and act upon the advice of his parents, he was allowed to go. Brinkroger's grocery, on Harrison street, was robbed one night last week and the officers are confident that young Moore was the chief in that raid. The police department is investigating and young Weinbrenner will be arrested as soon as found.

HONORS ACCORDED THE DEAD

LORD PAUNCEFOTE'S REMAINS REACH ENGLAND.

United States Cruiser Brooklyn at Southampton—Full Naval Honors are Paid Late Diplomat.

Southampton, England July 14.—The United States armored cruiser Brooklyn, from Annapolis, July 1, having on board the remains of Lord Pauncefote late ambassador of Great Britain at Washington, arrived here this morning. The body was landed soon after 11 o'clock.

Full naval honors were paid to the remains of Lord Pauncefote. His widow followed the coffin from the wharf to the train, which started for Newark-upon-Trent, where the funeral will take place tomorrow.

The ceremony of the transfer of the remains was impressive. One hundred and twenty-four bluejackets composed the bearer party. The coffin was taken between lines of seamen with arms reversed to a specially decorated railroad carriage. During the removal of the body the American and British bands played Chopin's funeral march.

Besides the widow and the family Rear Admiral Joseph B. Coghlan, the officers of the Brooklyn, the United States consul, John E. Hopley; a number of British naval officers and the mayor of Southampton followed the coffin to the train. Minute guns were fired by the Brooklyn and British warships until the departure of the train.

LONG FAST ENDS IN DEATH

MRS. AMANDA GEORGE EXPIRES AT ANDERSON.

Lived Sixty-Two Days Without Food—End Comes at Camp Grounds of Spiritualists.

Anderson, Ind., July 14.—Mrs. Amanda George, of Indianapolis, died last night at the spiritualist camp ground after sixty-two days without either solid or liquid food. Her long fast is said to have broken all records. She had been afflicted with cancer of the stomach. This necessitated the fasting and she literally starved to death. She was seventy-eight years old.

Mrs. George was first taken ill four years ago with stomach troubles, which later developed into cancer. This was while she lived at Indianapolis. A year later she came to Chesterfield and took up her residence at the spiritualist camp grounds. A short while later she became seriously ill. Dr. Newhouse has been in constant attendance. He says she suffered a great deal all the time and this was especially true when she took food. Sixty-two days ago it became impossible for her to take food and from that time the woman has been fasting.

Mrs. George was stout and Dr.

Newhouse gives this as the reason for her living so long without nourishment. Her abdomen was three inches thick and she had been living on her own flesh. Mrs. George retained her mental activity up until two or three days ago.

DIRECT HAL SHOWS SPEED

GEERS UNCOVERS A NEW ONE AT DETROIT MEET.

Sends Hamlin's Green Pacer a Mile in 2:06 3/4—Rain Spoils Opening of Blue Ribbon Events.

Detroit, July 15.—A rain cloud burst over the Grosse Pointe track at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and forced a postponement of the rest of the card offered for the opening day of the Blue Ribbon trotting meeting. A good sized crowd was out, notwithstanding the threatening weather.

All interest centered in the Chamber of Commerce stake for 2:24 pacers, and speculation in the early selling of the auction pools was lively. Direct Hal was the choice of the wise ones, such men as Smathers and Hubinger buying him at every clap of "Silver Bill" Riley's hands.

DIRECT HAL MAKES GOOD.

Both men mentioned had entries in this race, Smathers naming Goldbrick and Hubinger Elastic Pointer, but the stories of fast miles in private to the credit of the Hamlin horse were believed by the big betters, and they let their coin talk for them. Direct Hal made good every claim put in for him, for he went the first mile in the fastest time ever made by a green pacer in competition and also lowered the record for the stake, the time being 2:06 3/4.

The finish of the last heat was fine, Elder One being right up, but all out, while Hal was going away. The Hamlin pacer did the last quarter in 0:29 1/2, and Geers had him in his lap at that. As in the first heat, Elder One led to the stretch, but Geers had the horse, and when he let him down the heat was his, the last half mile being covered in 1:00 1/4. Elder One finished second in each heat.

The race will be completed today, and, barring accidents, the long end of the purse goes to Geers.

Goldbrick and Elastic Pointer were liked by the public, and many pools were taken on their chances, while Elder One, on its good performance at Windsor last week, was favored by a lot of bettors.

GAVATTA THE FAVORITE.

In the 2:15 trot Gavatta was the hot favorite, but when the word was given she didn't act as if she were up to the notch. Many of the betters couldn't quite make it out, as the mare had been touted as easily the best of the bunch. Dickerson was up behind her, and he never raised the gad once during the two heats. She may take the race today, but Silver Sign, the Colorado horse, should make her go some if she does. Pug took the first heat and Silver Sign the second, the latter being done in 2:10 1/4, two seconds faster than Pug's time in the first heat.

FIGHT WITH A RABID BRUTE

CONGRESSMAN WACHTER IN A DESPERATE STRUGGLE.

Gigantic St. Bernard Dog Goes Mad and Attacks Baltimore Congressman's Little Girl.

Baltimore, July 15.—Congressman Frank C. Wachter was badly bitten in both hands today while heroically endeavoring to defend his little daughter, Miss Hattie C. Wachter, from the attacks of a large St. Bernard dog. The daughter was also badly bitten. Mrs. Wachter, who witnessed the onslaught is completely prostrated by nervous shock.

The encounter happened in the yard of Mr. Wachter's home. Hattie was playing with the animal, when suddenly the dog uttered a fierce growl and sprang upon the child, fastening its teeth in her arm. The little girl was thrown to the ground by the heavy animal, which stood over her snarling. Mr. Wachter, who was in the house at the time, heard his daughter's screams and rushed into the yard. Seeing her peril, he seized the animal by the collar and tried to drag it away from her. The dog turned upon Mr. Wachter, and a desperate struggle followed.

Mr. Wachter is a strong man, but the dog is an unusually large specimen, being nearly three feet in height, and only with the greatest difficulty Mr. Wachter succeeded in pulling it off his daughter's prostrate form. The girl then ran into the house, while Mr. Wachter was compelled to defend himself from the attacks of the infuriated animal. Finally he succeeded in furling the beast from him and made a quick dash for the door to the house, shutting out the brute.

A physician quickly cauterized the wounds. Both patients will be taken to the Pastur institute in this city for treatment. The enraged dog was killed by a policeman.

TRACY TOLD NO IDLE TALE

PROOF FOUND THAT BANDIT SLEW MERRILL.

Body of the Outlaw's Partner in the Escape is Found With a Bullet in Back.

Seattle, Wash., July 15.—A special from Chehalis says: The body of David Merrill, who escaped from the Oregon penitentiary with Harry Tracy on June 9, has been found. A bullet wound in the back reveals the nature of his death and substantiates the story told by Tracy about the duel in the forest. The remains were in a somewhat advanced stage of decomposition, but were still recognizable.

The last time that Merrill was seen in company with Tracy was on June 26, in Tumwater canyon, when both escaped their pursuers. Later Tracy told that he had killed his comrade unfairly in a duel.

TWO SMALL BLAZES.

During the noon hour the fire department was called to 1028 and 1030 Wall street, where two barns, owned by G. H. Lange and Mrs. Spiegel, were ablaze. The loss will not exceed $35. It is believed the fire caught from sparks blown from a passing engine.

The roof of a small shed in the rear of the People's Store was discovered on fire shortly after 1 o'clock. The fire was quickly extinguished.

REUBEN S. PATTERSON

...THE GREATEST OF BARGAIN GIVERS...

FOUND A FORTUNE

MRS. ELIZABETH O'LEARY HAD MUCH TREASURE.

EXECUTORS MAKE DISCOVERY OVER $2,000 IN GOOD MONEY; MORE IN WILDCAT.

OLD BILLS OF EXCHANGE MUCH OF AGED LADY'S SAVING IS WORTHLESS.

Cash to the amount of more than $2,000, old bills of exchange calling for nearly 2,000 pounds sterling and a small fortune in the worthless wildcat currency of the olden times, were found today among the belongings of Mrs. Elizabeth O'Leary, the aged woman whose lifeless body was found in bed at her home, 625 West Berry street, Saturday evening.

The story of the venerable woman's devotion to her charges, Matt and Miss Jennie Humphrey, both of whom have been mentally afflicted for many years, is well known among people who were acquainted with the aged woman. It was also known that she possessed some means, but she made few confidants, and even those most familiar with her affairs were unprepared for the discovery which was made by friends who took up the work of looking after her affairs after the death of the aged woman. No one believed she possessed any such sum of money as the examination showed.

A SMALL FORTUNE.

The treasure was in a small wooden box, evidently very old, and protected only by an ordinary lock. The box was kept in a chest in Mrs. O'Leary's room, and she had evidently a distrust for banks. There were, in addition to the money, a large number of trinkets, all of them very old and discolored by age. Among them were three silver watches, as well as a gold watch of very ancient pattern. There was also a massive signet ring of antique pattern, one or two small jewel boxes, also very old, and a number of inconsequential trinkets.

There was a total of $2,140 in United States money, much of it of modern date, including both gold coin and currency. Of the latter there were quite a number of original greenbacks, showing practically no handling. The coin and the bills were kept in small green pouches of knit goods, held in place by rings, the purses being of very old design.

OLD BILLS OF EXCHANGE.

Perhaps the most interesting parts of the collection are two old bills of exchange on Liverpool, aggregating a total face value of about $7,250. The real value is extremely problematical. The bills were issued in New York by the old firm of Brown Brothers. One dated May 7, 1838, is for 490 pounds sterling; the other dated July 18, 1839, is for one thousand pounds sterling. They drew no interest. No one is yet able to tell whether anything can be realized on this paper or not, but the impression is that the firms are long ago out of business, and that the documents are worthless.

There is also a small fortune in the old state "wild cat" money issued many years ago by banks before the establishing of a stable currency. The hundreds of dollars in this money is of eastern banks' issue and is of course now worthless.

The treasure was invoiced this afternoon at the office of the Fort Wayne Trust company by friends who are taking the proper legal steps in the disposition of the dead woman's effects. She is believed to have no nearer relatives than nephews and nieces.

THE ENNUI OF WEALTH.

A small hand bag about two by two, accompanied by a little black-spotted dog and a short, heavy set man, tumbled off a Lake Shore train yesterday afternoon. That was Fuelber—the man was; Anslem Fuelber, editor of the Staats Zeitung, who showed up the balance of the Fort Wayne newspaper guild by taking a vacation, going to the seaside up at Lake George, indulging in riotous living and smoking high priced cigars for a whole week. Mr. Fuelber did other things. He fell in the lake twice and into the spring once, came near being swallowed by a big bass which he had been tantalizing and tried to stand off the hackman. Altogether he had a very exciting time and but for the presence of Mrs. Fuelber and children, who accompanied him on his prodigal excursion, he would have been arrested for a three-shell man. He was so tired when he returned from his vacation that he said he guessed he would take a few days' rest before returning to work. He qualified by saying that he was not so tired, but very much ennu.

BATTLED WITH THE WAVES

YACHTING PARTY CAPSIZED OFF CHICAGO.

Two Were Drowned and the Others Had Long Struggle With the Storm Tossed Waves.

Chicago, July 15.—Two persons perished in the lake last night and eight others fought for hours for life, clinging to the overturned yacht Arab IV., owned by John H. Cameron, cashier of the National Bank of the Republic. The yacht, struck suddenly by the fierce storm which swept over the city late in the evening, capsized. The boat is a twenty-one footer and one of the best known yachts in the harbor.

The dead: Mary Taylor, 16 years of age, 141 Fifty-first street. Harry Jensen, 17 years old. The rescued: John H. Cameron. Mrs. Mary Phoenix Cameron, his wife. Miss Cameron. Miss Mamie Goodman. William Corey. E. S. Haskins. Arthur Barber, skipper of the Arab IV.

HAD ALL CANVAS FLYING.

When the storm struck the yacht no attempt had been made to reef sail and with all its canvas flying the boat, with ten merry-makers aboard, who were wholly unconscious of danger, went over in a flash, filled instantly and left eight persons struggling for life in the waters of the lake, three miles from shore.

Their predicament was given added terror by the fury of the water, lashed by the storm and the constant lightning. By heroic efforts on the part of the men the women were supported in the water until they could be given a firm hold on the overturned boat. The yacht, as it left its moorings, had fortunately towed along behind it a small yawl.

Setting to work to right the yawl, which had been dragged under and filled with water when the larger boat went over, the men finally got all but Cameron and Barber and the two drowned persons into it and started for the long row to the shore in the face of the chopper and a strong wind, which made it a herculean task to make the boat move through the water at all.

HEARD HAIL FAINTLY.

Along toward midnight Harry Boylan, the steward of the Columbia Yacht club, heard a hail of the faintest kind come from out the darkness off the club house. Slowly the heavily laden row boat came creeping up to the landing with the women in a state of collapse and Corey so exhausted that he could hardly move the oars. All he could say was, "Send out life saving crew; Arab overturned; two dead, and more clinging to boat."

Cameron and Barber when found were nearly exhausted and about to drop from the boat. They had despaired of rescue before dawn. Cameron was in a state of collapse, owing to his anxiety over the safety of his wife and Miss Cameron and grief at the death of young Jensen and Miss Taylor, whom he knew had not been saved.

The bodies of the two young persons drowned were found in the cabin of the yacht when the boat was towed into the harbor at 7 a. m. today. Presumably the boy and girl who had met death had taken refuge in the yacht's cabin when the storm broke and were unable to extricate themselves when the boat went over.

The Arab IV. was built last spring and took part in the races for the Sir Thomas Lipton cup. The boat finished second in the races. The yacht carried only a mainsail and jib.

FIRST NEW WHEAT COMES IN

JOHN GEHART WAS FIRST TO MARKET HIS PRODUCT.

Tested 61 Pounds and Brought 72 Cents—Yield Is Much Above Expectations.

The first of the 1902 crop of wheat to reach the Fort Wayne market was delivered at the Bash elevators in this city yesterday by John Gehart, a farmer residing southwest of the city. It was of excellent quality, the berry being large and plump, and the test showed 61 pounds. The market price was 72 cents.

Huntington, Roanoke and Abbot also received the first invoice of new wheat Monday, though at a number of Wells county points some of the grain was marketed during the closing days of last week. Reports of the yield say wheat is turning out from thirty to thirty-five bushels per acre, a yield highly gratifying and much above the previous expectation of the commission men.

Charles S. Bash, who has just returned from attending the convention of the National Hay Dealers' association at Put-in-Bay, is receiving many compliments for his paper dealing with the problem of handling the hay crop more expeditiously and more economically. A committee has been appointed to formulate plans for carrying out the suggestions made by Mr. Bash, and in a letter today the retiring president of the association compliments the Fort Wayne man very highly for his suggestions.

BRAKEMAN BADLY HURT.

At 10 o'clock this morning Brakeman H. H. Long, of the Nickel Plate, fell from a box car at McComb, O., and sustained injuries to his back, the exact extent of which cannot be determined at present. He was unable to make the journey to his home in Bellevue and is now in a private residence in McComb, where he is receiving all the attention possible to alleviate his sufferings. Mr. Long resided in this city for several months.

T. N. Gormley, of Baltimore, has been spending a few days in the city, the guest of T. W. Smith.

The July Stock Reduction Sale

Moves with its usual Magnet-like power—It draws.

We do not claim to have bale after bale, case upon case and thousands of yards of surplus goods that we have mistakenly bought, and are forced to get rid of at half the price we paid for them. We know that kind of advertising, to you, is amusing, but not creditable.

We have our usual amount of surplus stock in a number of departments, and in order to induce you to help us to cut this down, we make a general and genuine reduction in price on every article in our whole stock, with the greatest cut upon that portion which we wish especially to move.

This is reasonable advertising, reasonable selling, that wins the confidence of the public.

When you buy a yard of silk from us at 48c, you can be certain that it was not goods that we had been selling at 50c, advertised as worth 65c, to be sold at 48c.

When you buy anything in our suit and cloak room as a greater than usual bargain, you can depend upon it as being such, and not an article that has been advertised at a fictitious price and a supposedly startling reduction made on that price.

Goods bought at this month's prices are likely to prove bargains of more than ordinary value. Owing to present and expected labor troubles, the closing of a number of mills in many lines, will have a tendency to make goods scarce and, therefore, to say the least, no cheaper.

Purchases at our prices this month will be good investments for you.

GO INTO THE FATAL MINE

MINERS RESUME WORK IN THE CAMBRIA SHAFTS.

Klondike Department, Where Explosion Occurred, is Being Cleared and Explored.

Johnstown, Pa., July 14.—Operations were today started in every section of the Rolling Mills mine of the Cambria Steel company, except the Klondike, where the fatal explosion of Thursday occurred.

A majority of the fifty men on hand when the first trip went into the mine, were foreigners. They did not seem to have the least hesitation in re-entering the mine, where so many of their fellow countrymen lost their lives. It was just seven o'clock when the men started in the slope and in a short time they were at work cleaning up the rooms. This work will take some time and it is thought it will be after noon before the first run of coal can be brought out of the mine.

A full force of men is expected to be at work before night, with the exception of the Klondike, where a large force of men are employed clearing up the falls and repairing the brattices that were blown down. When this is completed, the mine inspectors will make an investigation before it can be opened again for operation.

The inquest will probably not be held before next Thursday. No more bodies were brought out or have been discovered and the mine has apparently been explored fully. Nevertheless some miners claim that many bodies will still be found therein. A surveying party went into the mine this morning to look over the entire mine and make a last search for any bodies that may be in there. They probably will be in all day and when they complete their work the exploration of the mine will be finished.

The officials at the mine office say that the only place where any may be found hereafter is in some of the abandoned workings where some of the men might have run in trying to escape from the explosion. The tracks in some places are still covered with rubbish and it is possible that some bodies may be found under this when it is cleared up. With the resumption of work in the mine today, following the burial of all but a few of the dead yesterday, the intense strain has relaxed, excitement is dying out and everyday affairs are beginning to resume their normal course.

MILLER WANTS HIS SHARE.

(Indianapolis Journal.) Charles C. Miller, of Fort Wayne, filed suit Friday against George Townsend and William S. Reed, who are the owners of the Townsend-Reed Construction company, builders of interurban electric lines, for $9,000. His suit is based on a contract which he made with the firm for supervising the engineering work of the Fort Wayne and Southwestern Traction company. His contract, as stated in the complaint, guaranteed him 10 per centum of all profits made by the firm on this road. Miller alleges that Townsend and Reed sold their bonds to W. B. McKinley, Sumner Wallace, J. F. Hill, C. E. Macomber and J. M. Haines, and by the sale made a profit of $109,000. He asked for his share of this profit and received, he alleges, only $1,000. He asks for judgment for the remainder of the $10,000, which would be 10 per cent of the profits.

MR. VAN AME'S BOWL.

W. E. Van Ame, a Fort Wayne man who owns one of the finest collections of old coins in America, has just added to his collection of antiquities a bowl that has been in the Van Ame family for generations. The vessel was evidently hammered from a piece of metal resembling copper and it bears the date A. D. 822. On the outside are embossed figures representing an ancient court and there are numerous inscriptions in Greek and Sanskrit along the upper edge. The bowl has a cover also hammered, but not so elaborately worked. The vessel was purchased by a member of the Van Ame family many years ago, and he paid about $1,000 for it.

STILL A MYSTERY

NO NEW DETAILS OF SUDDEN DEATH AT GRAND RAPIDS.

SUPPOSED TO BE E. E. PARKER

A FORT WAYNE SPIRITUALIST AND CLAIRVOYANT.

FAMILY GETS NO RESPONSE

BUT SAY DEATH MUST HAVE BEEN ACCIDENTAL.

(From Monday's Daily.)

No additional information has reached Fort Wayne today concerning the identity of the stranger who died suddenly Sunday afternoon in the American hotel at Grand Rapids, and who is presumed to have been Edwin E. Parker, a spiritualist lecturer, clairvoyant and palmist, whose home is in Fort Wayne.

Repeated telegrams sent today from the Parker home, at 413 Madison street, to personal friends in Grand Rapids, as well as to the hotel management, asking for further details, had elicited no reply up to 2 o'clock this afternoon, and the members of the family are nearly prostrated by the distressing news and the suspense which has followed the delay in completing the identification.

It is stated at the Parker home that the telegraphed description of the dead man corresponds almost minutely to that of Mr. Parker, and while they of course cling to some slight measure of hope that there has been a mistake, Mrs. Parker and her daughters are almost convinced that the dead man is their husband and father.

The family, however, scout the idea that the case could have been one of suicide, for they say Mr. Parker would never have ended his life intentionally. It is related, however, that for some years Mr. Parker has suffered intensely at intervals from neuralgia and that he was occasionally compelled to resort to the use of remedies to ease the pain. It is regarded as probable that an overdose may have been taken unintentionally and that the death was purely accidental.

Information from Grand Rapids is to the effect that the death was undoubtedly due to morphine poisoning, though whether taken with suicidal intent or not is not yet shown. The stranger reached the American hotel Sunday morning at 8 o'clock, and in a casual conversation with a gentleman there told him he was about to hold meetings near Mill Creek, where a spiritualistic camp-meeting is in progress.

He went to bed, leaving a call for 10 o'clock, but at that hour did not respond to a rap upon his door. When at 4 o'clock a more vigorous rapping at his room did not arouse the man, the door was forced open. He lay upon the bed, only partially conscious and apparently suffering great agony. All efforts to revive him failed, and death ensued at 5 o'clock.

The dead man is about five feet eight inches tall, gray mustache and gray hair, and is quite bald. He wore black trousers, black and gray striped coat and vest, and the only mark upon the clothing are the letters "E. C. P." on the shirt. He also wore a G. A. R. button, and is apparently about 60 years of age.

FOUND SOME ADDRESSES.

In the pockets of the dead man were found several slips of paper on which messages and addresses were written. One of these was addressed to "Mate," 536 North Ottawa street, Grand Rapids, and said: "Mate, this is Bradley, my friend." It was unsigned. Mrs. Mattie Pierson, who lives at the above number in Grand Rapids, visited the undertaking rooms to which the remains were taken, but was unable to identify the dead man or shed any light upon the meaning of the note.

In a notebook in the pockets of the dead man was the address of Mrs. J. J. Gratton, 1613 North Wells street, Fort Wayne, with the statement: "I give Mr. Parker permission while away to look in the crystal for me. Kill anything you can see for me." When seen last evening Mrs. Gratton stated that she had consulted the clairvoyant a short time ago, had given him a slip of paper bearing her address, and had also delegated to him authority to "look in the crystal for her," which she explained was a form of clairvoyant practice to obtain knowledge of the future.

Several slips of paper in the pockets of the dead man bore questions such one would naturally write on a visit to a clairvoyant. Among them were "Will I get a better job and wages?" "Will I make a success in the city?" and "Where am I going to work?"

LEFT HERE THURSDAY.

Mr. Parker, who resided with his wife and two daughters at 413 Madison street, left Fort Wayne Thursday for Driggs' park, near Grand Rapids, where a spiritualistic camp-meeting is in progress. He had leased a cottage there and expected to spend the summer in the work.

His daughter, Miss Mary, was to have joined him this week. The family state that he was apparently in good health and in the best of spirits when he left home, and they received a letter from him on Saturday. It was written at the camp ground, told of having leased a pretty cottage, meeting a large number of prominent mediums from various parts of the country, and expressed a delighted enthusiasm over the outlook for the session. It stated also that he would write them again on Sunday. The family removed to Fort Wayne from Richmond about two years ago. Mr. Parker was a spiritualistic lecturer and often conducted the services of the local organization of spiritualists. He was also a clairvoyant and palmist, and had an extensive clientele in this city.

WAS IDENTIFIED BY FRIENDS

All doubt as to the identity of the man who died suddenly Sunday evening in the American hotel at Grand Rapids was dispelled yesterday, when friends of the family in Grand Rapids called at the undertaking rooms and identified the dead man as Edwin E. Parker, of Fort Wayne. The family in this city was notified. The fact last evening.

Arrangements were at once made to bring the remains to Fort Wayne for burial and the body will arrive tonight. Horace S. Hubbard, a member of the editorial staff of the Cincinnati Times-Star and a brother-in-law of the dead clairvoyant, is in the city to attend the funeral. At Grand Rapids it is believed the death was purely accidental, as it is now known that Parker complained of being ill as he alighted from the train and inquired for a drug store.

MAN OF MUCH ABILITY.

Edwin E. Parker was sixty-one years of age and was a remarkable man in many ways. He was highly endowed intellectually, a man of rare culture and refinement, and had attained considerable eminence along various lines. Into his busy life as teacher, soldier, lawyer, editor, poet and lecturer he threw the full force of his vigorous though sensitive nature and his kindly, humane interest for all mankind.

He was born in Henry county, Ind., December 1, 1840, and the greater part of his life was spent in central Indiana. He was a soldier in the civil war and previous to that time had been a teacher in several graded schools in the central part of the state. With his other work he took up the study of law and became a successful practitioner.

Later he drifted into newspaper work and was for many years city editor of the Richmond Palladium. At one time, also, he published a newspaper in Kansas. His was a poetic nature and in the course of his newspaper career many splendid specimens of verse came from his pen. "Poets and Poetry of Indiana," a volume soon to come from the press in Chicago, will contain his portrait and a number of his poems which have been recognized as possessing rare merit. Hon. Ben S. Parker, of New Castle, widely known among the Indiana poets, is a brother of the dead man.

Mr. Parker's research led him to take up spiritualism a number of years ago and he has been recognized as one of the leaders of that work in Indiana. He is survived by the widow, two daughters, the Misses Mary and Nellie, at 413 Madison street, this city, and a son, Oren, at Richmond.

INJURED IN A RUNAWAY.

While Mrs. Lucy A. Phillips and her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Sievert, were returning from a visit at Sacred Heart academy late yesterday afternoon their horse became frightened at a traction engine and shied into the ditch, overturning the buggy against a wire fence and imprisoning the ladies beneath it. The ladies were taken into the Pfeiffer home-stand, where their injuries were dressed. Mrs. Phillips' right wrist was fractured and she was painfully bruised. Mrs. Sievert escaped with a few bruises and abrasions.

BADLY BRUISED IN A FALL.

Samuel Taylor, 12 years of age, residing at 229 Holman street, was painfully injured in a fall from a layman door to the alley in the rear of the Taylor residence last evening. He was badly bruised about the shoulders and there are indications of some internal injuries. Dr. McCausland, who is attending the sufferer, does not apprehend any serious consequences. The lad is a son of Samuel Taylor, train dispatcher for the Pennsylvania company.

FIRM ON FRIARS

ADMINISTRATION INSISTS ON THEIR REMOVAL.

REPLY SENT TO THE VATICAN

REJOINDER A DIPLOMATIC DOCUMENT.

SPOONER SEES PRESIDENT

WISCONSIN MAN MAKES SLY VISIT TO OYSTER BAY.

Washington, July 14.—It was learned here today that the reply of Secretary Root to the dispatch of Governor Taft has already been cabled to Rome. It is in the nature of instructions as to what rejoinder shall be made to the vatican in answer to its first general reply to General Taft. These instructions to Governor Taft were prepared before Secretary Root left Washington, but were deemed of such importance that submission to the president was thought desirable. The position of the United States is unchanged and the instructions of Secretary Root, issued before General Taft went to Rome, are adhered to in every essential. The important point of those instructions were that the friars should be withdrawn and upon this question the administration remains firm. The rejoinder is a diplomatic document and couched in such language that there will be a continuation of the negotiations.

SPOONER SEES PRESIDENT.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 14.—Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, arrived at Engamore Hill about half-past 10 o'clock last night and after a conference with the president and Secretary Root left for New York about midnight. Mr. Spooner successfully eluded newspaper men, not one of whom saw him. His conversation with the president related in part to the proposed purchase of the Panama Canal company's property. The senator had been invited by the department of justice to accompany one of the assistant attorney generals to Paris to assist in the investigation of the title to the Panama Canal company's property. Whether he will go or not has not been decided so far as can be learned here. President Roosevelt, Secretary Root and the president's physician, Dr. Lambert, devoted themselves to recreation. Secretary Root will leave Sagamore Hill late this afternoon returning to New York on the naval yacht Kanawha. He will take a train immediately for Washington, arriving there tomorrow morning.

MAY RELIEVE BRAGG.

Washington, July 14.—The criticism of the Cuban people ascribed in a publication this morning to General Bragg, United States consul general at Havana, has not been officially brought to the attention of the state department, and until it is there will be no action in the case. Senator Quezada, the Cuban minister, spent the day in one of the suburban resorts and consequently did not call at the department. It will be for him, if any one, to make complaint. Then the natural course will be to call upon General Bragg for an explanation and if he admits the authenticity of the quotation, and the Cuban government so desires, he must be relieved.

HIBERNIAN ORDER TO MEET

DELEGATES ARE GATHERING IN DENVER.

President Keating Will Not Stand for Re-Election—Outlines Scope of Work.

Denver, Colo., July 14.—The work of the forty-second biennial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians began today with a meeting of the national executive committee and board of directors. Five hundred delegates are expected when the convention opens tomorrow. The national officers deny that politics will be injected into the deliberations. "The convention," said President John Keating, "will occupy itself with the extension of the order, and will take action on the death of Archbishop Feehan, of Chicago, the national chaplain of the order. His death is the more deeply regretted as he was carrying on an important work in organizing the ranks of the order in the old country. "We expect that the organization in Ireland and that in the United States will be united in the next six or eight months. "As to the charges that the executive has been influenced by the Clan Na Gael or any other body, I will say that the administration for the last four years has been as conservative as any I can remember in my long connection with the order." An anonymous circular is in circulation calling upon good Hibernians to oppose any resolution which may be offered endorsing the Clan Na Gael.

President Keating has announced that he is not a candidate for reelection. James E. Dolan, of Syracuse, N. Y., national vice president, and John A. Ryan, of Boston, are mentioned as candidates for the presidency.

HAD BEEN DEAD MANY HOURS

MRS. ELIZABETH O'LEARY DIES FROM HEART TROUBLE.

Discovery Was Not Made Until Saturday Evening—Other Mortuary Matters.

Mrs. Elizabeth O'Leary, for many years a resident of Fort Wayne, was found dead in her bed at her home, 625 West Berry street, Saturday evening. Death had resulted from heart disease, and physicians believe it had ensued about 1 o'clock Saturday morning.

Mrs. O'Leary was a widow, 82 years of age, and there are some unusually pathetic circumstances attending her demise. She was a native of Scotland, came to America in her girlhood, and resided in New York, where she was married, for some years. Near the close of the civil war she came to Fort Wayne and had since lived in this city.

She was widely known and very highly esteemed, and her life exemplified a steadfast and unselfish devotion to the memory of a friend of her girlhood days. This friend was a Mrs. Humphrey, who upon her deathbed entrusted to her care two children, Matthew and Miss Jennie, both of whom were mentally afflicted. Through all the succeeding years the devoted woman has cared for her charges, and both are now well advanced in years. She lived with them at the old home, and it was when one of them went to Mrs. O'Leary's room to make inquiry concerning provisions for the family that they discovered the death of their protector. Neighbors who were called in summoned a physician, but life had been extinct for many hours.

Mrs. O'Leary had been for many years a devoted member of the First Presbyterian church. Funeral services were held from the residence Monday.

WEAVER.

Vernon Oscar Weaver, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Equa Weaver, of 1032 Grant avenue, died last Friday at the age of seven months. The father of the little one is an employee of the Western Gas Construction company.

ERICKSON.

Emil Erickson, aged 29 years and 10 months, died at 3 o'clock this morning at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson, 2429 Miner street, after an extended illness from consumption.

Mr. Erickson was formerly employed by the Fort Wayne Organ company as a carver, and last year made a trip to New Mexico and Texas in the hope of benefiting his health. The journey was fruitless, however, and he returned to Fort Wayne in April last.

Surviving are the widow and a daughter, in addition to the parents three brothers and five sisters. The funeral services will be held on Thursday.

HARTMAN.

Carl Hartman, 10 years old, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Hartman, of 2217 South Broadway, died Monday evening at Hope hospital, where he had been a patient but a short time.

Death was due to spinal trouble, which resulted from injuries sustained in a fall from a window more than a year ago. The father of the lad conducts a bakery near the corner of Broadway and Creighton avenue, and he disappeared more than two weeks ago. Members of the family have no information as to his whereabouts.

Funeral services will be held from the undertaking rooms of H. E. Schone & Co. Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

SCHOOLSHIP MOHICAN SAFE.

Seattle, Wash., July 14.—The United States training ship Mohican is safe. She arrived at Dutch Harbor in distress June 28, after being out from Yokohama thirty-nine days. When she arrived at Dutch Harbor she was out of fuel and the food supply was running low. Three days more and it would have become a serious question of finding sufficient to eat for the young sailors on board. The fact that she carried a full complement of sails probably saved her. BRAINS WIFE WITH A CLUB.

Mason, Ohio, July 15.—James Conover, aged sixty, a wealthy farmer residing near here, yesterday murdered his wife by pounding her head to a jelly with a club. Conover's son, who lives on an adjoining farm, came up shortly after the deed and was met by his father, who brandished an ax and said he had killed his wife and intended to kill him next. The young man ran, hotly pursued by his father, who swung the ax and inflicted an ugly cut on the son's head. The son escaped. Conover was arrested. It was found that he had wrapped the body of his wife and laid her out in the best room of the house after the deed. He is undoubtedly insane. He was confined in the Dayton asylum for some time and was released three months ago.

CHOLERA IN MANILA.

Manila, July 14.—Cholera is spreading somewhat in the islands. The ratio for Manila is maintained. The rains now falling have not checked the disease materially.

Rev. James Fitzpatrick, of the Cathedral, is making a tour of the lakes.

DAMAGE IS GREAT

NORTHWESTERN STATES ARE DELUGED.

IOWA HAS SUFFERED MUCH
LARGE AREAS ARE REPORTED SUBMERGED.

NEBRASKA IS ALSO FLOODED
FIERCE STORM STRIKES CENTRAL ILLINOIS.

Des Moines, Iowa, July 9.—The flood situation in Iowa is more serious than at any time in ten years. The Des Moines, Iowa, Raccoon, Cedar and Skunk rivers are from seven to fifteen feet above low water mark and the lowlands are submerged. Hundreds have been made homeless.

In Des Moines 200 persons have already been forced to abandon their homes and have suffered the loss of horses, cattle and hogs. Truck gardeners have suffered the loss of their crops. At Des Moines and elsewhere throughout the central section of the state continuous rain has fallen for twenty-four hours, the precipitation at Boone and Fort Dodge being reported as nearly four inches.

Rivers continue to rise rapidly and are filled with driftwood. False work on a concrete bridge has gone out here and two other bridges are in danger.

A bridge across the Des Moines river near Boone is reported to have gone out. Levees in Des Moines are weakening and if a break occurs hundreds of acres of residence property will be flooded.

From Atlantic comes the report that the west half of Exira is inundated and that Barrytown is in a similar condition. Onawa has experienced a rain almost amounting to a cloudburst, as a consequence of which trains can neither enter or leave Sioux City from the south.

At Marshalltown the Iowa river has reached its highest point and a number of washouts have delayed trains on the Northwestern and Great Western roads.

The Des Moines river is rising two inches an hour.

Many persons are being removed from their homes in boats. Similar rescues are reported at Marshalltown and elsewhere. At noon the Des Moines river was sixteen and one-half feet above low water mark.

KILLED BY THE STORM.

St. Paul, Minn., July 9.—News was received here today that as a result of the recent terrific storm which prevailed south and west of Waseca, Minn., the family of Adam Bishman, jr., is again within the space of a month plunged into the grief of a tragic death in the family. On the 19th of June Philip Bishman, the son, was murdered at a wedding row in the town of Wilton. When the storm broke Adam Bishman, jr., his two sisters and the hired man were in the basement of the large barn attending to the milking. The barn was torn asunder and the heavy mass of farm machinery and hay with which the upper floors were filled fell upon the inmates. One of the daughters was killed instantly and Adam, jr., was so crushed that he died last evening from his injuries. The other two occupants were rescued from suffocation only after long hours of work by the neighbors. The rest of the family sought shelter in the house and were unharmed.

At Wanda the damage from the storm was heavy and at Peppan the wind levelled a circus tent, which caught fire from the lights. Several people were burned and bruised, but none was fatally injured.

RAINS DO GREAT DAMAGE.

Peoria, Ill., July 9.—A terrific rain and electric storm swept over Peoria and the adjacent country last night.

Rain fell in floods for several hours and the damage wrought is extensive. All the railroad lines entering the city are more or less affected. The Lake Erie and Western through freight, due here at 4 o'clock, went through a bridge at Farmdale, six miles east of here. The engine and several freight cars are piled in the bottom of the creek. The engineer was fatally injured and the fireman lies buried in the mud beneath the engine.

The Toledo, Peoria and Western passenger train, due here last evening, struck a landslide twelve miles east of here and the engine was derailed.

The damage to the timothy and oat crops is very heavy. Several inches of rain fall was recorded.

WORSE THAN REPORTED.

Omaha, Neb., July 9.—Reports received today show the conditions in the flooded districts to be worse than at first reported. Morning trains were from one to five hours late into the city, and some of them had been abandoned entirely.

At Superior, Neb., the Burlington railroad had 1,000 feet of track washed bodily into the Republican river, and the Santa Fe was blocked last night by a foot of water running over the roadbed for a mile west of the town.

At Blair a quarter of a mile of the Northwestern's track was washed out and the town of Herman is still in the midst of a lake of water.

At Kennard six hundred feet of track of the same road was carried away, and the filled approach at the Missouri river bridge east of town began to slide away.

NAME A JUDICIAL TICKET

MISSOURI DEMOCRATS END A LONG SESSION.

Balance of State Ticket to Be Nominated Later—Kansas Platform is Reaffirmed.

Springfield, Mo., July 9.—The democratic judicial convention completed its work at 7 o'clock this morning, after being in continuous session since 9 o'clock last night, by selecting the following justices of the supreme court:

Gavon D. Burgess, of Chillicothe, chief justice; Le Roy B. Valliant, of St. Louis, and James D. Fox, of Fredericktown. Judges Burgess and Valliant are members of the present court.

Judge Burgess was nominated at 1:10 this morning on the first ballot. The second ballot was not finished till 2:15. It was without result and an ineffectual effort was made to adjourn until today. The third ballot was not taken till 3:15, when a motion to adjourn was again voted down. In all eight ballots were taken.

At yesterday afternoon's session the committee on resolutions reported. It contained no reference to the Kansas City platform or to silver, and precipitated a fight. After much discussion the following amendment was adopted: "Resolved, That we, the democrats of Missouri, in convention assembled, do hereby indorse the principles of the democratic party as enunciated in the national democratic platform in 1900 in Kansas City." Gavon D. Burgess was nominated for supreme judge.

DYNAMITE A JAIL.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 9.—James Blade, Leck Allen and James Murray, prisoners in the Buchanan county jail, this afternoon wrecked the rear wall of the jail building with a powerful charge of dynamite.

Allen, Blade and Murray then made a fierce fight for liberty, but the guards were too quick for them and beat them back with Winchester. Seventy-five prisoners are confined in the jail, but many of them made no effort to escape and those who were nervous enough to try to follow Blade and his companions were clubbed into submission. As if by miracle, no one was injured, although the explosion was felt for several blocks away and every window in the court house on the side next to the jail was shattered. Blade and Allen are under sentence for highway robbery and Murray is a government prisoner. They are now chained to the floors of their cells.

Other prisoners were apprised of what was to happen about five minutes before the fuse was lighted and on advice of the leaders of the plot they sought safety in their cells just before the explosion occurred. The jailer was at dinner in another part of the building.

Until the damage to the jail and court house can be repaired, a large armed guard will be necessary to restrain the prisoners.

WILL BE CROWNED AUGUST 9

London, July 1.—It is said on good authority that subject to the approval of King Edward's physicians the coronation will occur August 9.

London, July 10.—The bulletin on King Edward's condition, posted at Buckingham palace at 10 o'clock this morning, says:

"The king's condition continues to be satisfactory."

FORM CORDON TO CHECK PEST.

Indianapolis, July 10.—Fifty farmers from Rush county have formed a cordon around the village of Knightstown, each armed with a shotgun, and no resident of the town is allowed to leave the place. This is done to prevent the spread of smallpox, which rages in the village. About sixty cases, with seven deaths, have been reported. The people say that the authorities have not taken ordinary precautions, forcing them to take extreme measures.

Hon. J. D. Leighty, of St. Joe, former representative in congress from this district, is at the Randall.

HAY SUCCESSFUL

FOREIGN TROOPS WILL QUIT TIEN TSIN.

POWERS AGREE TO LEAVE AMERICAN DIPLOMACY WINS
ANOTHER VICTORY.

ASSENT TO CHINA'S DESIRE ANSWERS TO HAY'S REQUEST ARE RECEIVED.

Washington, July 9.—Secretary Hay's prompt action upon the appeal of the Chinese government through Yuan Shi Kai and Minister Wu relative to the evacuation of Tien Tsin has met with success. The foreign generals who have stood in the way of evacuation will receive instructions from their home governments and, although one or two minor points remain to be adjusted, it is believed that Tien Tsin will soon be turned over to the Chinese authorities.

Secretary Hay, doubting whether anything could be accomplished directly through the diplomats at Peking, though action there had been contemplated, decided to address himself directly to the governments interested in the Chinese question and maintaining forces in Tien Tsin. This was done through the American ambassadors and ministers resident at the various European courts and Tokio.

THE POWERS ASSENT.

Answers have been received from nearly all of these. The latest to come to hand today were from France and Germany and quite unexpectedly they have all proven to be favorable to the United States' contention. The powers are now agreed to instruct their generals at Tien Tsin to abandon the condition sought to be imposed as a precedent to evacuation, that save the small police force of 300 men, the Chinese military force must be kept at a distance of not less than 30 kilometers from Tien Tsin. Although there were some other objectionable features in the agreement which the generals required from the Chinese, they were of comparatively little importance in the Chinese mind, compared to this condition as to the position of the Chinese troops, and as this obstacle has been removed, a speedy conclusion is expected of the Tien Tsin negotiations.

BANTER COSTS A LIFE.

Marion, Ind., July 10.—Rather than take a dare John Finnington, fourteen years old, of Gas City, gave up his life yesterday afternoon. Young Finnington went to the river with a crowd of boys who went in bathing. He was unable to swim and did not go into the water. The boys accused him of being a coward and dared him to enter the water. Against his judgment he finally did so. In order to support himself and keep his head above water he grasped a log. He lost his hold and sank in twelve feet of water. He did not rise to the surface and was drowned in spite of the efforts of his companions to save him. His body was recovered last evening.

GANNED TOMATOES CORNERED.

Indianapolis, July 10.—Indiana canners in state convention here say that canned tomatoes are cornered and that local jobbers are now paying $1.75 a dozen for three-pound cans, which is the highest price since the war. Ordinarily at this time of the year the price is about half this figure. Not an Indiana packer has had a can of tomatoes in his factory for four months, it is said. The weather was against a good crop last year. About 15 per cent of the acreage has been destroyed by the recent storms and high water.

CALLED ON THE SENATORS.

(Indianapolis Journal.) James M. Barrett, former state senator from Allen county and the author of the Barrett improvement law, was at the Hotel English yesterday. With Lieutenant Governor Gilbert, Mr. Barrett called on Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge in reference to the dedication of Fort Wayne's handsome new court house. The Fort Wayne people, irrespective of political party, have an idea they would like to have the president of the United States help dedicate their building. It was with a view to extending an invitation to President Roosevelt that the call on the senators was made yesterday. It is the plan to have the president stop at Fort Wayne next September while on his western trip. He will go through Indiana and the Fort Wayne people are willing to arrange their exercises to suit the convenience of the president. It will first be ascertained whether or not he will be willing to stop at Fort Wayne. It is felt that if the itinerary is not so made up that it cannot be changed he will consent to take part in the Fort Wayne dedication. The event will smack of politics in no way, Mr. Barrett says. The building has been erected by the people, and although the county is democratic, the republicans will have an equal share in the dedicatory exercises. "I think there is no finer court house anywhere in the country," said Mr. Barrett yesterday.

The building will cost Allen county about $800,000 completed. It is practically complete now and is being occupied. Two additional court rooms have been put in the building, one of which will be devoted to relics and documents that are associated with the earlier history of Fort Wayne. One of the valuable relics will be a bed that belonged to General Anthony Wayne. The bed is in Washington, but the daughters of the American Revolution are arranging to have it brought to Fort Wayne and placed in the court house.

FORT WAYNE MEN HONORED

CHOSEN OFFICERS OF STATE BAR ASSOCIATION.

W. P. Breen Made Vice President and J. M. Barrett Member of the Executive Committee.

Indianapolis, July 10.—The annual meeting of the Indiana bar association closed yesterday. The annual banquet was held last night at the Columbia club. The feature of the closing day was an address on the constitutional convention of 1851 by W. W. Thornton, of this city. The election of officers resulted as follows: President—T. A. Palmer, Monticello.

Vice President—William P. Breen, Fort Wayne. Secretary—Merrill Moore, Indianapolis. Treasurer—Frank E. Gavin, Indianapolis.

Executive Committee—Enoch G. Hogate, Charles E. Shiveley, James E. Barrett and Harry B. Tuthill.

The committee on membership recommended the names of Horace P. Loveland and Robert J. Loveland, of Peru, and that of Fletcher A. Payne, of Wabash, for membership.

Arrangements were made to have the proceedings of the association published and distributed among the members. A formal word of thanks was given those who presented papers and to the press.

WHO THEY ARE.

The men chosen to direct the affairs of the association for the coming year are among Indiana's best known and most eminent lawyers. Truman F. Palmer, the president-elect, is now and has for some years past been judge of the circuit court at Monticello. William P. Breen, the new vice president, is a distinguished member of the Fort Wayne bar. Merrill Moore, re-elected secretary, is deputy attorney general under Attorney General Taylor, and held the same position under Mr. Taylor's predecessor. Frank E. Gavin, re-elected treasurer, is a former member and chief justice of the Indiana appellate court. The men chosen to serve on the executive committee of the association have all achieved fame in political or professional life. Enoch G. Hogate has served long and with credit in the state senate. Charles E. Shiveley is also an ex-state senator. James M. Barrett occupies a position in the front rank of the bar of his home city and is favorably known throughout the state. Harry B. Tuthill occupies the bench of the circuit court at Michigan City.

LABORER HEIR TO $1,000,000.

Bowling Green, O., July 10.—Though the heir to an estate valued at $1,000,000 in Germany, Frederick H. Schmidt is working as a common laborer here. He is the only living heir of Carl Schmidt, who died in Sax-Weimar, Germany. Tuesday he was informed that his grandfather had left him all his property, but the eccentric man put in a proviso that the young man can't have a cent of the money till he marries a worthy woman. Schmidt says that the woman who becomes his wife must marry him not for wealth but for love, and that a woman who would not be his wife and care for his home while he is a poor street laborer would not be the kind of a woman he would want when he comes into possession of his wealth.

FELL FROM A BRIDGE.

Albert Kraus, 10 years old, residing with his grandparents on Packard avenue, sustained a compound fracture and dislocation of his left arm while visiting at the farm home of a friend, who lives south of the city. Kraus fell a distance of about fifteen feet, and his arm doubled under him. One of the bones in the upper part of the arm was snapped off and forced through the flesh. There is also a complete dislocation at the elbow. The lad was brought to his home, where Dr. Enslin attended him.

LIFE'S WORK DONE

DEATH CLAIMS A WELL KNOWN METHODIST MINISTER.

REV. A. E. MAHIN IS NO MORE DIED AT HIS HOME IN FORT WAYNE EARLY TODAY.

LONG A PROMINENT PASTOR
HAD BEEN IN FAILING HEALTH FOR MANY MONTHS.

Rev. A. E. Mahin, once pastor of Wayne street Methodist Episcopal church, formerly presiding elder of the Fort Wayne district, and for many years one of the most prominent ministers in the North Indiana conference, died at his home, 1212 Michigan avenue, in this city, at 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Rev. Mahin had been in failing health for many months, and while his friends appreciated the fact that his condition offered little hope for recovery, the end was hardly expected so soon. Death was due to intestinal tuberculosis, and news of his demise will be a painful shock, not alone to immediate relatives, but to countless friends all over northern Indiana, where he was for many years active in ministerial work, and very widely known.

For several years Rev. Mahin had been in frail health, but he was resolutely devoted to his ministerial labors, and clung persistently to his post of duty perhaps long after his physical strength warranted the exertion. In December last, while stationed at Montpelier, however, his last illness began in an attack which prostrated him shortly before the holiday season. Pneumonia developed, and it was only with much difficulty that he completed his last sermon, delivered there on the Sunday morning before Christmas.

Though unable to conduct the work actively thereafter, Rev. Mahin remained nominally pastor of Montpelier until the last session of the North Indiana conference in April, when he took a superannuated relation and removed to this city, where he had property interests, and expected to spend his remaining days in quiet retirement. At no time since coming to Fort Wayne has Rev. Mahin been able to do more than get about the house, and despite the efforts of skilled physicians, there was a gradual and pronounced decline. Since Sunday the patient had been confined to his bed, but up to last evening there was no indication that the approaching end was so near. In the middle of the night his devoted wife arose to get him a drink of water, and his last spoken words were addressed to her, bidding her to return to bed and get her rest. When the family awoke this morning the patient had weakened greatly, though he retained partial consciousness until the end, and death came calmly and peacefully.

LIFE OF USEFULNESS.

Rev. Mahin was 57 years of age in October last, and his life in the ministry has been one of activity, usefulness and prominence. Few ministers of the Methodist Episcopal church were better known.

He was an Indian by birth, born in the southern part of White county, October 19, 1844, and his education was obtained by attendance at the Collegiate institute at Battle Ground and at the Northwestern University at Evanston. He entered the ministry of the North Indiana conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in 1869, and his first assignment was at Wawaka, Noble county, where he remained until 1871. Other appointments in succeeding years were as follows: New Paris, 1872-3; Elkhart, 1874-6; Ligonier, 1877-8; Wayne street, Fort Wayne, 1879-81; New Castle, 1882; Warsaw, 1883-5; Wabash, 1886-7; Fort Wayne district as presiding elder, 1888-93; Richmond district as presiding elder, 1894-99; Montpelier, 1900-02.

Rev. Mahin was regarded as one of the strongest figures in the M. E. ministry of the North Indiana conference. He was a preacher of unusual talents and forcefulness, tireless in the work of the church, and possessed an executive ability of a very high order. His career as presiding elder, both in the Fort Wayne and in the Richmond districts, was productive of marked progress in church work. Personally, Rev. Mahin was genial and companionable, and he possessed a very wide circle of friends.

He was united in marriage December 2, 1869, at Battle Ground, to Miss Catherine L. Birch, who, with four children, survives him. The children are John William Mahin, a professor in the manual training school at Denver, Col.; Mrs. C. E. Smith, whose husband is professor of mathematics in Taylor university at Upland; Mrs. Darwin S. Myers, of this city; and Miss Elizabeth Mahin, at home. Another son, Schuyler Mahin, died eight years ago. Two brothers of the deceased, William and Wesley Mahin, reside at Battle Ground, and an elder brother, Rev. Milton Mahin, is living at New Castle. The latter is about 79 years of age, the oldest minister in the North Indiana conference, and was engaged in the active work of the ministry before the birth of Rev. A. E. Mahin. Rev. Mahin was a member of the Wabash lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

BURKHOLDER.

Mrs. Mary A. Burkholder, widow of the late David Burkholder and a pioneer resident of Milan township, died Sunday afternoon at her home nine miles northeast of the city, at the age of 69 years, 8 months and 1 day. Death was due to paralysis, with which she was stricken about seven weeks ago.

Mrs. Burkholder was born in Lancaster county, Pa., November 5, 1832, and came to Allen county in 1861. She was a most estimable woman, very widely known and enjoyed the friendship and respect of a wide circle of acquaintance. Surviving are seven daughters and two sons—Mrs. J. Andrews, Mrs. E. Hall and Mrs. Sherman Pettit, of Fort Wayne; Mrs. Gebert and Mrs. J. Pring, of Cedar Creek township; Mrs. C. Saylor, of St. Joe township; Mrs. F. Ladow and John Burkholder, at home, and Henry Burkholder, of St. Joe township. There are also twenty grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning from Bower's chapel. Interment at Leo.

NORTON.

Mrs. Matilda E. Norton, wife of John Norton, of 2129 Lafayette street, died on Thursday at the age of 36 years, 11 months and 25 days.

MONROE.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Monroe, of 809 Melita street, died Thursday morning at the age of one day.

PHILLIPS.

John T. Phillips, a pioneer Abbot township farmer, died Tuesday night at his home west of the city at the advanced age of 79 years. Death was due to paralysis, with which he was stricken about a week ago, and previous to that time his health had always been remarkably good.

Mr. Phillips was born in Preble county, Ohio, January 5, 1823, came to Allen county when a mere boy, and his residence here embraced a period of more than sixty years. He was industrious, upright and frugal, acquired a comfortable competence, and was held in the highest esteem by his very wide circle of acquaintance.

Surviving relatives include the widow and two children, Mrs. Henry Buschman and Frank Phillips. A brother, Lewis Phillips, resides in Iowa, and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Howard, at Dayton, Ohio. The funeral services were held Friday morning from the residence, conducted by Rev. J. W. Lake. The interment will occur at Lindenwood.

BIEKER.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bieker, 1109 Cass street, died Tuesday night from exhaustion.

WALLS CRUMBLD

FIVE FIREMEN LOSE THEIR LIVES IN TORNADO.

CRUSHED BY MASS OF BRICK
ALL WERE DEAD WHEN DEBRIS WAS CLEARED AWAY.

FIFTEEN MEN ARE BURNED
COVERED WITH MOLTEN METAL AT HOMESTEAD.

Toronto, Ont., July 10.—Five firemen were killed in a disastrous fire which started in the old street railway stables at Front and George streets, now occupied by P. McIntosh & Sons, and spread to the whole of the building. These establishments were swept away in an hour's time. David See, Harry Clarke, Adam Kerr, Walter Collard and Russell, firemen, were working outside the southeast wall of the McIntosh building when the brick wall, two stories high, suddenly toppled outwards and buried them. They were quite dead when extricated.

FIFTEEN MEN BURNED.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 10.—Fifteen men were burned, one fatally and eight seriously, at the Homestead steel works, shortly after noon today.

Those seriously injured were: Michael Lavin, burned all over body; will die. Walter Reed, crane man. H. E. Stevens. Albert Shonthill. John Sullivan. George Anderson. Thomas Conway. Patrick Fallon.

The accident occurred at furnace No. 40, in Hearthmill No. 3. A ladle filled with molten metal was being lowered into the pit, when the drum of the crane broke and the seething metal was thrown over the unfortunate men. A panic followed, and the men rushed from the mill, many with their clothing burning. Fortunately the workmen had their backs to the ladle when it overturned. This saved them from inhaling the flames, which would have been almost certain death. The cranes are inspected daily and the cause of the break is not known.

INVITATION TO ROOSEVELT

WILL BE FORWARDED TO WASHINGTON AT ONCE.

Senators Will Aid Effort to Secure President's Presence at the Dedication.

On behalf of the Allen county commissioners, County Attorney Barrett is this afternoon drafting a formal invitation to President Roosevelt to be present at the dedication of the new Allen county court house. The matter will be acted upon by the board probably tomorrow, and the invitation will be forwarded to Washington at once.

Hon. J. M. Barrett, who returned from Indianapolis this morning, made calls upon Governor Durbin, Senator Fairbanks and Senator Beveridge, in company with Lieutenant Governor Gilbert. Each pledged to the committee their earnest support in the effort to induce President Roosevelt to participate in the dedication of the court house. Governor Durbin and Senator Fairbanks each gave the committee a letter to the president, while Senator Beveridge announced his intention of writing the president directly.

FORM A PARTNERSHIP.

Ex-Commissioner J. H. Stellhorn today entered into a partnership agreement with J. L. Gruber, the Fairfield avenue hardware merchant, to conduct a general hardware business at 2010 Fairfield avenue, the old stand for years conducted by Mr. Gruber. The articles were signed up this morning and the partnership becomes effective at once. The only material change in the business of the store will be a general enlargement of the stock. Mr. Stellhorn has not been actively engaged in business for some years and says that he has got tired loafing around with not much of anything to do. Heretofore the store has been one for ordinary supplies only, but with the acquisition of the new member and new capital the stock will be enlarged and while not as large a stock as carried by downtown merchants will be found, a reasonable supply of everything in the hardware line will be put in. Mr. Stellhorn's extensive acquaintance all over the county will give the new firm a prestige not heretofore enjoyed.

OTHERS MIXED UP

NEW CHARGES COME OUT OF MAIL ROBBERY CASE.

HORACE MARIOTTE ARRESTED

CHARGED WITH RECEIVING STOLEN GOODS.

WARRANT FOR DAVIS' MOTHER

BOTH DAVIS AND REED HELD TO FEDERAL GRAND JURY.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

As a result of the investigations of the postoffice inspectors in the case of Harvey Davis and Earl Reed, charged with having stolen from the United States mails, some additional developments came to light today, when Horace Mariotte, keeper of a pawnshop on East Main street, was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen goods, and a warrant was issued for the arrest of Mrs. Harriett A. Davis, mother of the accused mail wagon driver, on a charge of concealing stolen goods.

The warrant for Mrs. Davis' arrest is now in the hands of Deputy Marshal Scott and will doubtless be served during the afternoon.

ASSERTS HIS INNOCENCE.

The warrant for Mr. Mariotte was served this morning by Deputy Marshal Scott. It was issued upon the affidavit of Inspector Sherman C. Kile, and charges that on or about June 6 Mr. Mariotte received and concealed one razor of the value of $1, which razor had been stolen or embezzled from the mails of the United States, and that Mr. Mariotte then and there knew that the said razor had been stolen from the mails.

Mr. Mariotte appeared before Commissioner Logan with his attorney, A. H. Bittinger, and the hearing was set for Wednesday morning, at 9 o'clock. Mr. Mariotte signed his own bond for $500 and was released. To a reporter for The Sentinel he asserted his entire innocence of the charge, and stated that there was no foundation for it.

REED WAIVED HEARING.

Earl Reed, the chum of young Davis, who was arrested as an accomplice to the theft of property from the mail sacks, was arraigned before the commissioner at 9 o'clock. He had no attorney, but waived the preliminary hearing and was immediately held to the federal grand jury in the sum of $500. Reed, it appears, was frequently in the company of Davis on the mail wagon, and both boys made damaging admissions to the postoffice inspectors while confined in jail. Reed, it is said, disposed of a number of the stolen razors about the city.

At the conclusion of the testimony in the case of Harvey Davis Wednesday evening, Commissioner Logan held him to the federal grand jury in the sum of $500 and unless bail is forthcoming both boys, each of whom is about 20 years of age, will be taken to the prison at Indianapolis without delay.

Despite his plea of not guilty, it developed in the testimony Wednesday that Davis had told Walter Kavanaugh that he was in trouble over the mail matter and intended to skip out, and that later after his arrest Davis admitted to Inspector Kile of having stolen a number of articles from the tie-sacks as they lay in the vestibule at the postoffice. A number of the articles were produced in evidence.

STORY OF THE CASE.

The history of the case in which a number of people have become involved, is an interesting one. On June 6 Robert McCulloch, register clerk at the Fort Wayne postoffice, while in the basement of the building, had his attention attracted by the suspicious actions of young Davis, a driver in the screen wagon service. Mr. McCulloch instituted a search and discovered several wrappers, bearing addresses and cancelled stamps, which indicated that their contents had been abstracted. The case was at once reported to Postmaster Page, and the latter referred the matter to the inspector at Cincinnati, asking that a special agent be detailed to investigate the case.

Meanwhile, the postmaster and his assistants gave the case such attention as they could, but obtained no further evidence than the accumulation of riddled covers in various parts of the basement building.

Postmaster Page's suspicions had been directed toward Davis, and on June 18, learning that Davis had announced his intention of taking a vacation and leaving the city, the postmaster went to the barn where the horses of the screen wagon service are kept. Climbing to the hay loft he found several covers that had originally held goods in transit by mail.

A warrant was sworn out for the arrest of Davis, and it was placed in the hands of Deputy Marshal Scott. The aid of the police was also invoked, yet despite the efforts of the officers, Davis left town that night. On the following day Special Agent

Sherman C. Kile, of the inspector's division, arrived, and to his intelligent, energetic and persistent efforts, aided by Col. Jack Foster, whom he called to his aid, are due the developments that have resulted in the binding over for trial of the young men charged with being principal and accessory in the mail robbery.

On the day of his arrival Officer Kile, in company with Postmaster Page, visited such local parties as were indicated by the wrappers as having lost articles from the mails. From Harry Achenbach, of the Packard company, it was learned that a cover shown him probably contained some strings which had been promised him by a friend in Boston. From Freiburger & Co., of South Calhoun street, it was disclosed that a cover in possession of the officer contained razors of the Claus Shears company, of Fremont, Ohio, for which they had paid but never received. Miss Lizzie Brandt, of West DeWald street, had lost a ring, the cover of which was in evidence. A pair of scissors sent out by Bursley & Co., to one of their patrons, had never been delivered.

AFTER THE SUSPECTS.

With this evidence, Officer Kile started after the suspects. At Chicago he found the haunt of the fugitives, but they had just fled, ordering their mail forwarded to Toledo. They probably never went to that city but returned to Fort Wayne, Davis coming first with the story that learning he was wanted, he had come back to confront his accusers and prove his innocence. A few days later Reed, his traveling companion, also returned. Davis was promptly arrested by Deputy Marshal Scott upon the original warrant, and was held by Commissioner Logan, and in default of $500 bail was remanded to jail.

Officers Kile and Foster returned to Fort Wayne July 3, having been apprised of Davis' arrest, and on visiting Davis in the jail secured from him a confession that he had rifled tie-sacks in the vestibule outside the postoffice, and implicating Reed as an accomplice. Learning of Reed's return to the city, Postmaster Page swore out a warrant for his arrest. He was apprehended by Deputy Marshal Scott, who then apprised Detective Kile of the capture.

Officer Kile, in company with Inspector Foster, returned to Fort Wayne Wednesday morning, and after an interview with Reed became convinced that there were others directly or indirectly connected with the case. Visits were made to several of the pawnshops of the city. At Libbing's they learned that a razor, answering the description of one taken by Davis, had been in stock, but had been sold. At Mariotte's neither the proprietor nor his employees were able to afford information of assistance to the officers. They had no recollection of the purchase of a new razor in several months, and nothing on the records disclosed a razor answering the description of the ones taken by Davis. Officer Kile, however, found in the front window of the store a razor corresponding in number and general description with one of those for which they were searching. This discovery resulted in Mr. Mariotte's arrest today.

In pursuit of further evidence of the guilt of the suspects the officials next visited the Davis residence on Chicago street, where they met Mrs. Davis and demanded of her a box of merchandise supposed to be secreted upon the premises. The woman at first protested stoutly that she had no knowledge of such goods, and it was only when she was confronted with the choice of surrendering the property or accompanying the officers that she finally reluctantly offered to see if she could find the goods.

Going to the basement of the house she was closely followed by Inspector Kile, who told her when she began rummaging among washtubs and boilers that the time for delay was over, and that he was going to have the goods. Kile then threw open a small door leading to a dark cavity beneath the floor at the entrance to the cellar. At this juncture Mrs. Davis weakened and told the officer that the package was there. Crawling beneath the floor for a distance of about twenty feet the officer finally discovered the coveted box, wrapped in paper and tucked away in a remote corner. In the box were three packages of guitar or violin strings, two razors, a razor strop, some shears and other articles, all of which correspond to descriptions given by parties who have lost them. These facts were laid before the Deputy United States attorney, and today he ordered the arrest of the woman on a charge of obtaining and secreting goods stolen from the United States mails.

175 MINERS ARE DEAD

Explosion in Cambria Mine, Johnstown, Pa., Causes Appalling Loss of Life.

ESCAPE FOR LIVING DIFFICULT

Johnstown, Pa., July 9.—A serious explosion occurred today in the rolling mill mine of the Cambria Steel company, just outside the city limits. The scene of the explosion is in the "Klondike" heading of the mine and it is impossible at present to give any definite estimate of the loss of life. The mine is one of the largest in the region and was the company's principal source of fuel supply.

NEARLY 200 DEAD.

Nearly 200 men were at work in this section and it is feared that 175 have lost their lives. Among those known to be dead are Mine Foreman Harry Rodgers, his assistant, William Blanch, and Fire Bosses John Whitney and John Thomas, who all perished from fire damp in a heroic attempt to save the miners.

FIFTY WERE AMERICANS. Of the number who were at work in the district when the explosion occurred, fifty were Americans. Among the number whom it is feared are lost is Henry T. Harris, brother of Chief of Police John T. Harris. No entrance to the mine can be made through the main entry and the miners are coming to the surface at the Mill Creek opening, five miles from the city.

Evidently their lives were snuffed out quickly and easily. SIXTEEN LIVING FOUND. At 3 o'clock this afternoon eight living men were brought out of the West Mont slope. They were found lying face downward. At the Cambria hospital it is thought they may recover.

A little later eight more living men were found, but in a condition that does not permit of their being brought to the surface at once.

THE IDENTIFIED BODIES. Of the bodies at the morgue, the following have been identified: John Thomas, mine boss, 60 years old, leaves a wife and child. He escaped but went back to help the others and thus lost his life.

John Whitney, fire boss, 45 years old, survived by wife and family. He also escaped but went back with Thomas and perished with him from the fire-damp.

William Blanch, assistant mine foreman, 32 years old and single. Mike Silonec, 45 years old. Mike Silonec, aged 18, son of the above.

Emerich Basista, aged 23. Mike Sabot, aged 19. John Borasap, married. John Huley.

Spesz Shinko, aged 42, wife and five children. John Bartok, aged 38; leaves wife and two children in the old country. John Lasko, aged 30, wife and two children.

Mike Preznucki, aged 38, wife and three children. Stephen Knotz, aged 28, wife and child. John Novak.

Anton Larzsky, aged 20. Valentine Plaga, aged 35, leaves wife and two children in Austria. John Kriger.

Boleslaus Miskabosky, aged 25, wife and two children. August Struzinsky, aged 35, wife and five children.

John Karasewicz, aged 30, leaves wife and two children in the old country. Mike Cilenebic, and seven-year-old son.

Ladislus Durboski, aged 34 and single. Of the forty-seven bodies at the morgue, twenty-one were identified as Poles by Rev. Father Embinski.

As fast as identification is completed the bodies are being taken to their homes. At noon the charnel house was about cleared of bodies.

THOUSANDS WERE WAITING. Johnstown, Pa., July 11.—Just as day broke through the pall of fog this morning the grim details of the awful disaster at the rolling mill mine of the Cambria Steel company dawned with renewed force on the thousands waiting for authentic news as to the extent of the explosion.

Forty-seven dead bodies, all contorted and many blackened and burned, lay stretched on rough slabs at the improvised morgue in the armory building. Forty more were in cars in the mine ready to be borne out as fast as room could be made for them. At that time estimates of the number of dead reduced the fatal scope of the calamity. But these, while fixing it at around one hundred, were not conclusive. General Superintendent G. J. Robinson would not say at that time whether he thought there were 100 or 300 dead. He said there was no way of telling until a full investigation of the mine was made. When that would be, he said, he had no means of telling. All rested with the difficulty in clearing the heading of after-damp.

FIRST TRAIN LOAD OF BODIES. It was 5:55 o'clock when the first train load of victims was brought to the mouth of the main entry. Forty-nine cars were used in bringing out forty-six dead bodies and four living injured. The discovery of the dead bodies was made by a searching party about 10 o'clock last night. They were lying in the main heading two miles in from the main pit mouth. No attempt was made to remove them until certainty was established that no more living remained in the mine. The first official statement of the disaster was given by The Associated Press reporter by General Mine Superintendent George Robinson at 7 o'clock this morning.

ROBINSON'S STATEMENT.

He said:

"As to the direct cause of the explosion I cannot exactly say. We know there was an explosion of fire-damp in the sixth right heading of a section of the mine commonly known as the Klondike. So far as I can find out now there were not more than three or four deaths from the explosion itself. The balance was caused by the after-damp.

"Our mine officials, the mine foreman, Henry Rodgers, Fireboss John Retallie, Machine Boss William Robinson, who is my brother, and a Slav whose name I do not know, were back eating lunch when the explosion occurred. They immediately went down to the point of the explosion to put up the stoppings in order to carry the air in its proper channel again. These were blown down by the force of the explosion.

They, with the exception of the assistant foreman and one of the fire bosses, were overcome by after-damp. They were found by a rescuing party and the chances are that all will recover with the exception of my brother.

THE RESCUE WORK.

"As to the rescue work I directed it to commence just as soon after the explosion as possible. We started in at 1 p. m. We started working our way down by putting up brattices in order to carry the air with us. I suppose it was 10 o'clock at night before we came across the bodies of the living. Doctors John Lowman and John Hannan went down with us. They carried tanks of oxygen with them which were emptied to good effect on the living.

"We found twenty-five dead on our way to these four living. Twenty more we found later on. They were scattered through that section of the mine. Most of them were on their way out when caught by the fatal after-damp.

"Mining Engineer M. G. Moore and myself will organize another searching party and go in at 9 o'clock this morning. There is damp in the left headings which will make our progress toilsome. Part of the mine is so filled with after-damp we cannot get in until we turn the current of air in."

WAGONS FOR THE DEAD.

When the bodies of the victims came from the mine a long line of undertakers wagons and picnic wagons were in waiting to take them on the roundabout route to the morgue in the city. There they were backed up to a door and a large force of police were ready to check the great throng from pressing in too close. Body after body was dragged from the wagons and borne inside. All of them were blackened and unrecognizable, until the undertakers got to work. The head of one man was crushed and the only means of identifying will be by his check number. All of the bodies were cold and stiff. The arms of most of them were twisted in front of them as if to shield their faces from fire. The left hand of one man was torn off at the wrist. The bodies now recovered were all found about two miles in from the main pit mouth. The headings leading from that region off to the left, where it is expected most of the dead will be got may not be entered by the searchers today.

IS AN OLD MINE.

The rolling mill mine has been worked for about fifty years. Five or six years ago the section where the disaster of yesterday occurred was opened. The miners fancifully called it the Klondike. It is said that for the past three years gas has been noticed in it and careful inspections were kept up. In the last three years safety lamps had been carried by the men. Frank Sabot, one of the boys who met death in a heroic endeavor to save his comrades, was safely out of the mine after the explosion. He worked in the mine ever since the Klondike was opened up. He had "trapped" in the mine longer back than that. After the explosion he hastened into the vault of death to do what he could to close the traps and check the spread of the after-damp. He was found lying near a partly closed door leading off to one of the left headings.

Soon after the discovery of the first corpses the mine officials began to make arrangements for the removal of the bodies from the scene of the disaster.

USE ARMOY FOR MORGUE.

At the armory of Company H, a big barn-like frame building on the outskirts of the city, preparations were methodically forwarded to transform the place into a temporary morgue. Chairs were placed in rows opposite each other and rough boards and planks placed upon them to serve instead of the marble or slate slabs that receive the dead in metropolitan morgues. Nearly a score of young men were called in to assist the dozen undertakers of the city; dry goods establishments were opened and hundreds of yards of muslin, toweling and other goods gotten out for the purpose of preparing the bodies for burial.

Sleepless mothers and wives waited all night for news from the missing ones and peeped through drawn blinds as the cortege passed on its way to the morgue. Many trips were necessary and the gray dawn had come long before the last trip had been made.

President Powell Stackhouse and Supt. C. S. Price were on hand for the arrival of the bodies at the morgue, and the wives, sweethearts and relatives of the missing crowded around the building.

Outside of the property loss this catastrophe will cost the Cambria Steel company a large sum. The company has for many years past paid to the family of every person killed in its employ $1,000, outside of what is expended for medical purposes, and it has paid every man who has lost an eye, limb or become otherwise partially disabled the sum of $500.

It is understood that the rule will not be deviated from.

POISON CASE IS DROPPED

SOUTH BEND PROSECUTOR IN DOUBT OF EVIDENCE.

Mrs. O'Malley and Young Hearin Are Bound Over at Philadelphia—Woman Furnishes Bond.

South Bend, July 11.—Mrs. Aline Ellis O'Malley will not be charged with attempting to murder her husband by administering arsenical poison. The bottom dropped out of the case last night when State's Attorney George E. Clarke said:

"The evidence which I have is purely circumstantial and hardly strong enough to warrant me putting the county to the expense of a prosecution. There is nothing to warrant Indiana officials in asking Mrs. O'Malley's return to the state. I have read letters from Mrs. O'Malley to young Hearin. They were not such letters as a young married woman should write to a man other than her husband. The fact that she had her picture taken with Hearin at Coney Island while her husband was lying ill at St. Agnes' hospital is undisputed. We have the photographs. Beyond this, however, we know little."

COUPLE BOUND OVER.

Philadelphia, July 11.—Magistrate Kochersperger yesterday afternoon held Mrs. O'Malley and William J. Hearin in $1,200 bail each for court on the two-fold charge of larceny and conspiracy to rob. Mrs. O'Malley's father, W. A. Ellis, of New York, attended the hearing and gave bail for his daughter. Mrs. O'Malley and her father left here last night for New York. No bail was forthcoming for young Hearin and he was taken back to prison.

It is said that bail will be given for him today.

Assistant District Attorney Smyth refused to present new evidence, and counsel for the defense demanded the release of the prisoners, claiming that Magistrate Kochersperger had on July 2 ordered a further hearing for yesterday on the ground that the commonwealth had not produced sufficient evidence to warrant his holding the defendants for court. The prosecution maintained that no additional evidence was necessary at this time, and to this the magistrate agreed.

ANNUAL MEETING IS HELD.

The annual meeting of the Fort Wayne Special Furniture works was held last evening and officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, N. Kelsch; vice president, G. W. Dodson; secretary, H. F. Franke, jr. The report of the business of the past year shows a prosperous condition of affairs. Trade is increasing steadily and the firm has found it necessary to erect an addition and install new machinery to keep up with the orders. The factory is running at full capacity just now, and the firm has booked orders for delivery months ahead.

Sufferers from Coughs, Colds, Throat and Lung Trouble need this grand remedy, for it never disappoints. Cure is guaranteed by Dreier & Bro. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

WORK ON TREATY

GETTING CANAL PACT READY FOR SIGNATURE.

DISPUTED POINTS IN HAND

COLOMBIAN MINISTER MEETS AMERICAN AGENT.

CANNOT BE SIGNED AT ONCE

DOCUMENT MUST HAVE COLOMBIA'S APPROVAL.

Washington, July 11.—With the expectation of signing the treaty by which Colombia will confer all the necessary rights incident to the building of the Panama canal by the United States government, Senor Concha, the Colombian minister; Mr. Herran, first secretary of the legation, and William Nelson Cromwell, representing the Panama canal and railroad companies, are busily engaged in going over certain points in the treaty which must be modified before the instrument can be signed.

Neither the state department nor the Colombian officials here care to disclose the nature of the modifications which it has now become necessary to make in the treaty, but it is understood that all of them, either directly or indirectly, involve the question of sovereignty.

The close study now in progress of the isthmian canal act and the treaty presented by the Colombian government, develops apparently important differences and obscurities in the letter of the documents, which may not, however, exist in their spirit. For instance, section 2 of the canal act authorizes the president to acquire from Colombia "perpetual control of a strip of land, * * * which control shall include * * * jurisdiction over said strip and the ports at the ends thereof, to make such police and sanitary rules and regulations as shall be necessary to preserve order and preserve the public health thereon, and to establish such judicial tribunals as may be agreed upon thereon as may be necessary to enforce such rules and regulations."

From this portion of the act it would appear that the United States alone is to make police and sanitary regulations for the canal strip and establish judicial tribunals for their enforcement. Yet article 3, of the draft of the canal treaty, provides for the creation of "a joint commission by the governments of Colombia and the United States that shall establish and enforce sanitary and police regulations."

Article 4 of the treaty deals specifically with the question of sovereignty, as follows:

"The rights and privileges granted to the United States by the terms of this convention shall not affect the sovereignty of the republic of Colombia over the territory within whose boundaries such rights and privileges are to be exercised.

"The United States freely acknowledges and recognizes this sovereignty and discloses any intention to impair it in any way whatever, or to increase its territory at the expense of Colombia or of any of the sister republics in Central or South America, but, on the contrary, it desires to strengthen the power of the republics on this continent and to promote, develop and maintain their prosperity and independence."

Briefly summing up, it appears to be the task now before the parties to the proposed convention to define with absolute clarity the extent and limits of the control or joint control to be exercised over the canal strip. For while control is not sovereignty in the common acceptance of the terms, yet in practice the two often merge so closely as to defy identification, and it has all along been recognized that any provision of the treaty which threatens in any measure the sovereignty of the South American republic over the canal land, will not be acceptable to the Colombian congress.

Minister Concha has been in poor health during the spring and summer and contemplates a journey out of town to recuperate in the near future. It is confidently hoped that the treaty may be signed before his departure.

Mr. Cromwell called again at the state department today to confer further with Secretary Hay respecting the proposed treaty. It now appears that, contrary to the first expectation, this treaty cannot be signed before next fall. It was expected that, with his full powers, Minister Concha would be able to quickly adjust the points of difference above indicated, but it develops that to prevent any disagreement with his own government and any consequent repudiation by it of what he has accomplished, the minister deems it essential that it shall be made acquainted with the smallest details of the negotiations.

PRaise for Mrs. O'Malley.

SISTERS OF ST. MARY'S DEFEND FORMER PUPIL.

Had But One Passion and That Was For Her Younger Sister—Used Arsenic for Complexion.

South Bend, Ind., July 9.—The nuns of St. Mary's academy have come to the rescue of Mrs. O'Malley and in remembrance of her girlish days yesterday afternoon told the story of her career.

According to the nuns of St. Mary's academy, Mrs. O'Malley has proof for the statement that she was in the habit of taking arsenic pills for a slight blemish on her face which she was afraid might develop into a cancer.

One of the strongest points of evidence which State's Attorney George E. Clark has gathered is that arsenic pills were found in her trunk and that a druggist had stated he sold Mrs. O'Malley arsenic on several occasions. When confronted with this damaging evidence in her cell in Philadelphia Mrs. O'Malley is said to have stated that she had been taking arsenic pills under a physician's orders for a number of years in an attempt to counteract a slight tendency toward cancer of the face.

PRaise FORMER PUPIL.

Mother Pauline of St. Mary's convent today denied emphatically the alleged statements of a former St. Mary's girl to the effect that Aline Ellis was in the habit of flirting with the boys who rowed up the river to see her, leaving notes and boxes of candy for her on the bank, which she climbed down to get.

"It is preposterous," she said. "Such a thing could not have possibly taken place without our finding it out sooner or later. The girl herself would have told it for a joke, for we make it a point never to terrorize the students."

A deep love for her younger sister Bona is thought by the nuns to be the one overpowering affection of Mrs. O'Malley's life. One of the sisters who knew her intimately declared it was her opinion that Mrs. O'Malley never has really loved anyone else.

MARRIED FOR EXPERIENCE.

"She married Professor O'Malley not for love, but as a matter of experience," said this sister. "She ran away with Hearin because she was driven to it. She never loved any man, and I don't believe she ever will."

"When Aline would go away on her summer vacations she was always made much of by the young men. After she got back to the convent she would receive letters by the dozen from admirers. Frequently she would not even read them through, but would say, 'Oh, this is from so and so,' and leave it lying on her desk to be thrown away by one of the sisters. She seemed to care nothing for the men and deliberately threw away several good opportunities."

WAS FOND OF SISTER.

"She had been here only a short time when she persuaded her father to send Bona to her. The child was not more than 5 or 6 years old, somewhat under the age limit, but we took her because Mr. Ellis seemed anxious that his daughters should be together."

"I have never seen a more beautiful devotion than Aline's affection for Bona. She was never happier than playing tennis or baseball with her. When their father would take them away in the summer Aline always begged to come back to St. Mary's again. To her mind romping with her sister was much better sport than flirting with young men."

"She was child-like in her amusements and rather religiously inclined. Both she and Bona became Catholics here and that was long before she met Professor O'Malley. Aline was not particularly fond of reading, but that included all kinds of literature good and bad."

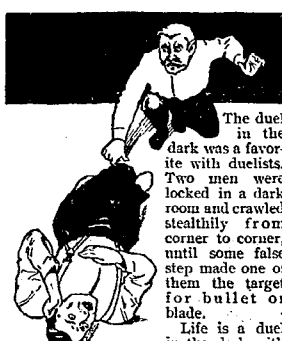

ALLEGED VULGARITY A SHOCK.

"We have made inquiries into the stories that she told vulgar stories and smoked cigarettes, but her most intimate school friends were as surprised to learn it as we were. You cannot conceive what a shock this has been to us. If you had asked me to pick out of all the students we were graduated in the 1899 the girl who would have been most unlikely to become immoral, I would have cited you to Aline Ellis."

"Although Aline virtually finished her course in 1897, she begged to be sent back to St. Mary's and to Bona and her father allowed her to return for a two years' post graduate course. Even after her marriage and up to the very day when she accompanied her husband to Philadelphia she visited the convent."

SISTERS OPPOSE MARRIAGE.

"Many of us were opposed to her marriage and so was her father. We

The duel in the dark was a favorite with duellists. Two men were locked in a dark room and crawled stealthily from corner to corner, until some false step made one of them the target for bullet or blade.

Life is a duel in the dark with disease. One false step, one mistake, and the attack comes swift and sudden. The mistake which commonly opens the way for an attack by disease is neglect of the symptoms of stomach trouble. When eating is followed by undue fullness, belchings, sour or bitter risings, etc., disease is attacking the stomach.

The best way to frustrate such an attack is to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and makes the body strong and healthy.

"I was suffering very much with my head and stomach," writes Mrs. W. C. Gill, of Weldon, Shelby Co., Ala. "My head was so dizzy when I would rise up in bed every night back. I could eat but very little, in fact scarcely anything, there seemed to be a heavy weight in my stomach so I could not rest. I had to belch very often and would vomit up nearly everything I ate. I was in a bad condition. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and five of his 'Favorite Prescription' and am now well and hearty. I feel like a new woman and give Dr. Pierce credit for it all. I have taken medicine from physicians without any benefit as I could see."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

did not see how it could be a happy one, not only on account of the disparity in their ages, but because her sentiment for him was entirely one of respect and veneration. I can easily understand her cold and insouciant manner—that is Aline's nature. Realizing that every one is against her, including the man with whom she was about to run away, she is become defiant. Approached in a spirit of kindness and sympathy she would melt. It is not our Aline who is in prison in Philadelphia. It is another woman—a woman who might have been and might still be saved if she had the proper surroundings and the proper companionship and care. We will never think unkindly of the girl who was here, no matter what the woman may be."

State's Attorney Clark is alleged to have telegraphed to the Philadelphia officers to hold Mrs. O'Malley at all hazards and without bail, if possible. It is thought from this that Clarke is preparing to have Mrs. O'Malley extradited from Pennsylvania to Indiana.

THE TRUTH OF IT.

(Indianapolis Sentinel.)
 Our always good-humored contemporary, the Fort Wayne Sentinel, says that "a few weeks ago The Indianapolis Sentinel administered what it good-naturedly was pleased to term a 'severe rebuke' to Mr. Bryan." Our Fort Wayne namesake is in error. The Indianapolis Sentinel, in the best temper in the world, administered to Brother Watterson what it was pleased to term "A Stern Rebuke," which, by the way, we regret to say, does not seem to have had the desired effect, for Mass Henri continues to be just as "sassy" as ever. But The Sentinel has never referred to its brotherly advice to Mr. Bryan as a "rebuke," "severe" or otherwise.

TREAT YOUR KIDNEYS FOR RHEUMATISM.

When you are suffering from rheumatism the kidneys must be attended to at once, so that they will eliminate the uric acid from the blood. Foley's Kidney Cure is the most effective remedy for this purpose. R. T. Hopkins, of Polar, Wis., says: "After unsuccessfully doctoring three years for rheumatism with the best doctors, I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and it cured me. I cannot speak too highly of this great medicine." Sold by Dreier & Bro. and Pells & Folster.

REMODELED AND IMPROVED

WEBER HOTEL TO UNDERGO EXTENSIVE ALTERATIONS.

Addition Will Be Built and Many Changes Will Be Made in Interior Arrangement.

The Weber hotel on South Calhoun street, immediately south of the Wabash depot, is to be extensively remodeled, and when the intended alterations are completed, the hostelry will be among the best in the city. The improvement plans involve the expenditure of thousands of dollars and Landlord Weber intends that his hotel shall have the very best appointments.

The interior arrangement of the ground floor will be considerably altered. An entrance will be built at the northwest corner of the building and the office and lobby will occupy that portion of the floor. The bar will be in the rear of the office and the dining room will occupy that portion of the building south of the corridor.

A two-story brick addition will be built in the rear, with laundry in the basement, kitchen on the first floor and bath rooms on the second floor. The arrangement of the bedrooms on the second and third floors will be materially changed and when the alterations are completed there will be accommodations for a largely increased number of guests. The hotel will be refurnished throughout.

The plans for the work are being made by Architect Henry Mayor and bids for the work will be received within two weeks. The contractors will begin work as soon as possible that the alterations can be completed by fall.

WILL RE-ASSESS RAILROADS.

County Assessor Eggemann this morning received a letter from the state board of equalization announcing that it had been decided by the board to re-assess all the railroad property in Allen county. The board named County Assessor Eggemann, M. V. Walsh, John Forbing and Herman Michael as the appraisers to re-assess the property.

POISONING THE SYSTEM.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. Meyer Bros. & Co.

RE-ENACT CUSTER MASSACRE

A THRILLING FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION THAT WAS HELD AT SHERIDAN, WYO.

Sheridan, Wyo., July 4.—With demoniac yell, at 2:30 this afternoon 2,000 Crow and Cheyenne Indians, stripped to the skin and wearing only a breech cloth, painted with black paint of the war path, each mounted on his wiry little mustang, swooped down on a band of 250 United States soldiers, and the sham reproduction of the famous Custer massacre was on, says a Sheridan (Wyo.) letter of the date of July 4th, to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

What American man or boy has not read of the bloody Custer massacre, the battle in which the brave Gen. Custer and his command of 267 men, rode into an ambush prepared by the wily old chief, Sitting Bull, and were killed, every man of them, after a fight lasting between half an hour and twice that time. Hundreds of thousands of middle aged men throughout this country will recall with what horror they read the details of this mysterious battle in the daily papers twenty-five years ago. That battle was reproduced in Sheridan today by all the braves of the Crow and Cheyenne tribes, 2,000 men, many of whom were engaged in the real battle, and by reason of their intimate knowledge of the true events the sham today was probably the most realistic mimic fight ever witnessed.

Many previous attempts have been made to induce these Indians to reproduce the scene enacted on the lonely Montana plains on June 25, 1876, but these attempts have been unavailing. The Indians have usually refused to even discuss the massacre, and only through the personal friendship of the chiefs of the tribe for Major O. P. Hanna, for many years a government scout attached to Custer's command, were they persuaded to participate in the events today.

For two weeks the plains surrounding Sheridan have been covered with Indian tepees. The reservation, fifty miles to the north, is practically deserted, and every buck who is able to travel, accompanied by his squaws, papooses, horses and dogs are here.

The plans for the sham battle were elaborately made and carried out. Rehearsals were held daily for two weeks, and every Indian was drilled into the part he was to play.

The inaccessibility of the Crow reservation has prevented many travelers from visiting them, and the scene of the Custer massacre is still unaltered by the march of civilization. Except for the monument erected in memory of the dead, and in the distant the line of telegraph poles denoting where the new line of the Burlington railroad, en route to the Pacific, passes, civilization might be 10,000 miles away. No one making the pilgrimage can come away with heart untouched.

The field upon which Custer fought and died is one of the small areas where "out west" still exists. Here the visitor needs no help from his imagination to make the story of the massacre vivid and real. The Crows and Cheyennes still live in tepees and brush shacks as did their fathers who planned and executed the massacre. It is the fear, not the love of the white man which keeps him even now from the war-path.

The battlefield itself bears witness to the complete victory of the red men. Near the summit of the hill upon the sides of which the tragedy occurred, is a large stone monument surrounded by an iron fence. Beneath this tribute to the dead, repose the bones of the troopers slain in the battle. Only a few yards down the hillside, and the little white grave stones erected by the government, just where each man fell, rear their silent heads. The same inscription, "U. S. Soldiers, Seventh Cavalry, Fell here June 25, 1876," is on each of the stones. Two hundred and sixty-seven men rode upon the ravine with Custer; 267 white stones dot the hillside; could any think speak plainer that the men did their duty? One large stone cross stands up from among the smaller stones. On it is inscribed, "Here Fell Custer, June 25, 1876." But the remains of "Yellow Hair," as Custer was known to the Indians, lie in Arlington cemetery, on the Potomac.

The spot where Kellogg, the newspaper correspondent, fell is marked with a headstone similar to the soldiers. His body was found near that of Custer. He fought and died with the soldiers.

Near the battlefield is an ancient Indian burying ground. The dead are in branches of trees, rolled up in blankets, once new, but now torn and tattered.

The ground upon which the sham battle was given is very similar to the real battle ground. Rolling and swelling up from a small stream, a number of shallow ravines lead out in different directions back from the river. In the battle today, the soldiers, led by Major Saunders, commander at Fort McKenzie, crossed the small river and saw a small band of Indians just breaking camp, the same sight which met Custer's eyes, after he had dispatched Major Reno and half his men to flank the main body of the savages which his scouts reported as near.

The Indians retreated up a ravine and Saunders pushed rapidly after them. A chase of half a mile and the fleeing Indians disappeared around the foot of a small hill. The soldiers rounded the same hill at a gallop and instead of discovering the small band of Indians, found themselves facing a thousand mounted Crows and Cheyennes, ready for the fray.

Without a pause Custer (Major Saunders) attacked. As he drew nearer the Indians fell back and drew the troops further up the ravine. Redskins appeared on both sides and in the rear, and the fight began. The firing, which up to that time had been scattering, now became general, and added to the war cries of the braves, created pandemonium. The sight was most appalling and created the greatest excitement among the crowds gathered on the adjoining hills. So realistic was the affair that with difficulty some of the cow boys were withheld from riding into the battle.

The Crows are the most excitable and emotional of all the western Indian tribes, and they entered very deeply into the spirit of the battle. On account of this extreme excitability and lack of control every man was thoroughly searched just before the battle. No knives or ball cartridges were allowed; nothing but Winchester and blanks. On the other hand, beneath his shirt every soldier wore a belt filled with fifty rounds of "Krag" ball cartridges, not for use, but for emergencies.

The original battle was probably the first engagement in the history of Indian warfare in which the Indian leader adopted the tactics of the whites. Sitting Bull was in command, but remained in the background and fought the battle on well-laid plans. Chief Gall was at the head of the fighting men and led his warriors recklessly. Sitting Bull was of a sullen, morose disposition, and a man of even fewer words than the average Indian. His great influence over the Sioux and other tribes was derived from his supposed ability to communicate with the "Great Spirit" by the aid of dead warriors. In civilization he would have been simply a spiritualistic medium. On the other hand, Gall was an exhorter, and before going into battle always made a speech to his men, which wrought them up to the highest pitch.

In the battle today Spotted Horse took the part of Gall and played it well. He led his warriors in person, and like Gall, was everywhere, exhorting his braves to press forward.

The soldiers divided into two parties and advanced on parallel lines, one on either side of the narrow valley. More warriors appeared and the hubbub increased, until a perfect bedlam prevailed. The war whoops and exultant yells of the Indians often drowned the noise made by the 2,000 rifles cracking, but the soldiers fought with seeming desperation, not a cheer being given. (This is in accordance with the story told by Gall, Rain-in-the-Face and others, who said the white man fought silently).

To add to the effect, dozens of packages of firecrackers were ignited by the soldiers, giving the effect of a greater number of guns being fired. The red tide, however, was irresistible, and carried everything before it. The soldiers gradually fell by ones and twos, and the circle of savages grew smaller. Some of the finest exhibitions of horsemanship ever seen transpired at this time. Hundreds of Indians on their swift ponies circled about the little band, firing from every conceivable position. A warrior would swing over his horse's side, holding onto the animal with his legs, aim his rifle beneath the neck and fire. Only a portion of one leg would be exposed to the fire of those within the circle. Others fired from above, while still others fired from beneath the horse's belly. This accounts in a large measure for the small number of Indians killed at the original battle. History puts this at forty-two, although nearly 5,000 Indians were engaged against first-class marksmen for probably forty-five minutes.

Finally, there were less than a dozen soldiers left standing. One of these was the yellow-haired commander, Custer. Near him stood his brother, Tom. Iron Thunder rushed in, as did Rain-in-the-Face at the true battle, shot Tom Custer, dragged the body a few yards, and in pantomime cut the heart of the soldier from the body and devoured it. Thus did he avenge his arrest and sentence to prison at the hands of the younger Custer.

And then Custer himself fell. The last to die was he.

Immediately the Indians closed in, and still quivering with excitement gave the war dance as probably never before viewed by white men. The spirit of the battle was on them, and for an hour their yells and war cries were blood-curdling. Perhaps not one spectator but was glad to know these painted red devils were without ball cartridges.

Among the chiefs taking part in the sham battle were Bull Weasel, Old Alligator, Bad Man, Jack Crows, Plenty Cues, Yellow Weasel, Wolf Lies Down, Three Fox Top, Pretty Eagle, Scolds the Bear, Good Luck, Old Dog, Medicine Crow, Old Crow, Spotted Horse, Iron Thunder, Red Tomahawk, Eagle Man, Stone Man, Swift Hawk, White Buffalo, Little Soldier, Spotted Thunder and a host of others.

After the battle, which ended so disastrously for Custer, Sitting Bull and his band rode like a whirlwind for the Canadian border and reached British soil before he could be intercepted. After spending several years in making raids across the border.

A HEAVY UNDERTAKING

This month Tennessee clubwomen inaugurate an extraordinary enterprise among the isolated and ignorant mountaineers of the state. It is really the beginning of a social settlement along novel lines, the spot selected being Walkers Valley where, besides Polygamistic Walker and his two wives, live 30 families whose sole inheritance is unspeakable shiftlessness. Only one member of the whole colony, in fact, is able to read.

The regeneration of this peculiarly retarded people is to be undertaken by the Tennessee Federation of Women's clubs, which has at its head Mrs. Charles A. Perkins, of Knoxville. Through the Social Settlement committee logs and nails were secured from one source, pictures and furniture from others, so that a cabin of two rooms is now in readiness and, with a competent teacher, these neglected natives are to have an opportunity to "learn," to use the vernacular of the neighborhood, says a writer in the Pilgrim.

The colossal ignorance of the Tennessee mountaineer who is a moonshiner by training if not instinct, who raises a little corn to grind by hand in a stone mill, while his spouse weaves a "kiver" at the loom, furnishes a rich field for the courageous clubwomen. Somewhat of the state of things may be gleaned from the remark of a little Walkers Valley girl who, displaying a row of six books, one of the traveling libraries sent out by the federation, proudly said to a visitor, "Reckon I has 'bout one of every kind that's made." Walkers Valley, moreover, is twenty-six miles from a railway and seven miles from Tuckaleechee Cove, which, it may be mentioned, is one of the jumping-off places in the Tennessee mountains.

So these are the people who are to be taught the rudiments at this social settlement. It is part of the plan that old and young alike shall be instructed in reading and writing, the women shown how to sew, cook and keep house—in short, how to live—while the cabin, cheaply out of taste, appointed, is intended to serve as an object lesson to those inmates of unkept homes.

Indeed, there is no doubt that this unique work will develop as successfully in Tennessee, backed as it is by the best women, as it has in the last three years in Kentucky under the auspices of the Kentucky Federation of Women's clubs.

THE GOOD OLD TIMES.

Cellar diggers on an old site at Battery place have unearthed "a brown stone jug about nine inches tall, which might have contained 'schnapps.'" Some of the tales they used to tell of life in the good old colony days when we lived under the king must be true.—New York World.

THE GENTLEMAN SNAKE

A Most Gallant Reptile Who Always Issues a Challenge Before He Fights.

The rattlesnake, probably the most deadly American snake, is really a gentleman, as snakes go. He never eats his own friends, as most other snakes do, and he always plays fair and gives warning before he strikes. In the early pioneer days west of the Rockies rattlers were frequently eaten by hard-pressed travelers, and their flesh is said to be as good as chicken. Great skill must be exercised in catching this snake if he is to be eaten, as he has a trick of biting himself when cornered and so committing suicide, and in this case his flesh is as deadly as his bite.

The malignant pig, who is known by those who properly understand him to be a really brave and intelligent little beast, regards rattlesnakes as the greatest luxury and attacks and kills them with absolute fearlessness. On a California ranch a certain field was so overrun with rattlers that it was practically useless. It was fenced in and a pair of young pigs turned into it. The pigs grew fat and sleek and in a short time they had gobbled up every last rattler. Piggivory has been known to attack the largest and most deadly snakes and come off victor in the fight.

Apologies of the well known fact that a rattler will bite himself and commit suicide rather than fall into the hands of his enemies, the tale is told by hundreds in the far west that a little bird, a native of the Rockies, is extremely interested in the extermination of the rattler. So far as is known, this bird does not feed upon the snake, but is actuated solely by motives of benevolence in ridding the world of these dangerous reptiles. Seeing a rattler asleep or sunning himself on a stone, this thoughtful and energetic little body flies off and returns with bits of very prickly cactus, which the bird places in a little circle around him. When the circle is quite complete the enterprising bird, eager to see the results of its toil, swoops down and runs its bill into the sleeping snake, which starts to move away, only to encounter the cactus, over which he cannot crawl. He turns about and strikes the cactus again. Finding himself unable to escape, he bites himself and dies by his own deadly weapon.

A rattlesnake never goes out of his way for a fight, but when he is attacked he fights desperately. A lad who was trout fishing in a country where rattlers abound slipped and fell. In falling he saw to his horror that he was coming down on the cold body of a large snake. He heard the rattle, which is the snake's war cry. He had the presence of mind in falling to grasp the snake close to the head and hold on like grim death. Like a flash the snake's body coiled around his arm and tightened in an effort to make him relax his hold. It moved its body so vigorously that in spite of holding with both hands he feared it would escape. Fortunately his companions came to his assistance and cut the snake from his arm before he was quite exhausted with the struggle.

Senator Hoar, of Massachusetts, is noted as a very economical man, not only as to his personal expenditures, but as to the use of every moment of his time, and many anecdotes of this virtue or failing, whichever it may be regarded, are told. One of his peculiar street car habits, which can be observed twice a day any day, is his seemingly unconscious desire to get a seat near the door where he is to get out. The other day he boarded a long F street car which was well filled. The venerable senator had to take a seat near the front end. As the car proceeded toward the capitol the passengers gradually got out. Every time a person next to the senator got out he promptly slid into the vacated place. By repeating this sliding operation a half dozen times the senator arrived at the seat next the door, which he held the balance of the journey.

FOUR WOMEN ON A FENCE.

A day or two ago Supt. Goulden, of the bureau of incumbrances, decided that a board fence extending across East Nineteenth street, near Cropsey avenue, and adjoining the Fort Lowrie hotel at Bath Beach, was maintained in opposition to the law, the street having been legally opened to Gravesend bay.

That was chapter one. Chapter two was provided yesterday when an inspector from the bureau, armed with all proper authority, and an ax, strode down with majestic steps to Bath Beach, with the intention of obeying orders and cutting away the objectionable fence. When he reached the scene of prospective action he halted in surprise. The sight which he saw was enough to make anybody halt. Astride the fence were four women, grim-looking and determined.

"So you're going to chop this fence down, are you?" said one of the quartet. "Well, before you begin, just listen to me. If you chop this fence down you've got to chop us down with it. Understand? It doesn't come down under any other conditions. You hear us, don't you?"

The inspector heard and, lifting up his feet, he departed.

"You can argue with a man," he reported at headquarters, "but you can't argue with four women on a fence top."

Supt. Goulden will go down there again soon, and next time the expedition will be accompanied by a policeman.—Brooklyn Eagle.

STREET PAVEMENTS.

Streets paved with glass are not by any means unknown. The famous Rue de la Republique, at Lyons, is a notable example. Here the pavement is laid in glass blocks, 8 inches square, which are so symmetrically fitted together as to prevent the possibility of water passing between the interstices. Compressed grass has been used in the construction of a Philadelphia street, with it, it is said, admirable results; and not long since a scheme for employing compressed paper for a like purpose was mooted in Russia, says Tit-Bits.

An Italian nobleman has lately had the courtyard of his palace paved with slabs of marble, granite and other stone, every one of which has been brought from a different land. Europe, Asia, Africa, America and Australia have all supplied materials for this curious mosaic, which is composed of over 500 pieces, each engraved with the name of the country or state from which it came.

On the occasion of his accession to the throne of Bavaria, Maximilian Emanuel had one of the roads leading to his palace paved with plates of burnished copper, which, gleaming in the sunshine, had the effect of the more precious metal, gold. Down this road it was his intention to proceed in royal pomp, but his purpose was unfortunately frustrated by a gang of robbers, who one night overpowered the guards and carried off much of the valuable paving.

Louis XIV. had one of the courts of his palace at Versailles paved with squares of silver, each of which recorded some triumph to the French arms. These surrounded a large tablet of gold, in the center of which the sun—the monarch's favorite emblem—was represented by a dazzling blaze of costly gems. Another court of this most sumptuous dwelling was paved with slabs of jasper, agate and other rare stones.

For the love of his youth, Louise de la Valliere, the same ruler caused to be constructed a lodge whereof the approach was paved with glass mirrors painted with an allegory representing the fervor and durability of his love.

Passing from the gorgeous to the fantastic, we may mention the strange fancy of a rich Berlin tradesman, who had the walks of the garden that was attached to his country villa laid down with a number of coffin lids, which he had been at considerable time and expense to collect. They were of all ages and conditions, from the wooden covering for the peasant to the most elaborate metal work designed for noble or prince. On his death some years back his son replaced them with ordinary gravel, and subsequently presented the most valuable to a local museum.

Tombstones are not infrequently employed in different parts of Nottinghamshire, Derbyshire, Lincolnshire and Leicestershire for the purpose of paving and a year or so back the inhabitants of the Vale of Belvoir raised a vehement protest against their being used for a path-way leading to the parish church. The local authorities, however, endeavored to excuse themselves on the ground that they had plenty of old gravestones on hand, which, if utilized, would assuredly save the ratepayers' pockets.

Even more gawdlike however, is the pavement at Gwandu, Africa, in the making of which over 12,000 human skulls are said to have been employed. The town, which is oval in shape, is girdled by a ring of lofty poles, on the summit of every one of which is placed a skull, while each of the six gates is led up to by a pavement of skulls, which from constant friction gleams like a way of polished ivory.

Often the over-taxed organs of digestion cry out for help by Dyspepsia's pains, Nausea, Dizziness, Headaches, Liver Complaints, Bowel Disorders. Such troubles call for prompt use of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are gentle, thorough and guaranteed to cure. 25c at Dr. King's or Bro.'s drug store.

A LAND AND RIVER OF DEATH

A FATAL PLACE IN SOUTH AMERICA FROM WHICH NO

WHITE MAN HAS EVER COME OUT ALIVE.

Gran Chaco, the most mysterious spot on the South American continent, has claimed another band of victims; again the Pilcomayo river has proved itself deserving of the title given to it by the natives of Paraguay, Argentina and Bolivia—River of Death. The last victims of the unknown place are the famous Italian explorer, Guido Boggiano, and his party. From Asuncion in Paraguay the news has reached American geographers that the party has been officially pronounced dead.

With the slaying of Boggiano, Gran Chaco, triumphantly keeping its secret, has successfully defied five nations—France, Spain, Germany, Italy and Paraguay. Each of them sent its best explorers and to none did their men return alive. Creveaux, of France; Ibarreta, of Spain; Lista, of Paraguay; Sirvept, of Germany, and Boggiano, of Italy, all started from the borders, dived into the primeval forests of El Gran Chaco, reached the Pilcomayo river and disappeared forever.

Look on the map of South America. Between the Tropics of Capricorn and latitude 30 south, and between longitude 58 and 65 west, is a patch that is left almost entirely blank. That patch contains more than seventy-five thousand square miles about which man knows nothing. It is the terra incognita of the Americas.

Five months ago Guido Baggiano started from Asuncion with an expedition of six Indians and a peon to follow the path that so many others had taken before him and that had led them to death. Friends had urged him to desist. Local officials had added their warnings without effect. Men heard from him only once after he had left civilization, as he passed through Puerto Casado. Then came a week of silence, broken by the arrival of two of the expedition. Even in that one week hardships and terrors had become too much for them, and they had fled toward settled country. They reported that the line of march had been through constant dangers and through constant mystery. Unseen enemies had attacked them by day and by night. Unseen animals had prowled on their trail. Unseen things had terrified the Indian helpers, so that even then Boggiano was finding it almost impossible to force them on.

That is the last that has been heard by man of Guido Boggiano and his party. A month ago an expedition under local officials started out from Puerto Casado to search for news of the lost men. It penetrated only a few miles into the unknown land—no far enough to find even a trail, but far enough to learn that there was no doubt that the entire expedition had been destroyed, presumably by the fierce, practically unknown Tobas Indians.

This makes the second expedition to vanish within a year. First to meet fate in Gran Chaco was Dr. Creveaux. He started into the interior in 1886 with a large and well armed party, of French and German men, strange wild beasts of huge size and a profusion of new orchids and other fantastic plants and creatures that he forced his way for several months through the wilderness along the Pilcomayo until he penetrated into the Tobas country, near the Bolivian boundary, where the expedition, worn and thinned, fell into the hands of the Indians, who suddenly appeared from all quarters and massacred all.

The fate of the Creveaux expedition only served to increase the eagerness of explorers to tear the veil that hid the unknown land. That eagerness next was to cost the life of one of the most successful and earnest and daring explorers that ever was in South America. He was Ramon Lista, to whom the world today owes much of its knowledge of Paraguay, Argentina and Patagonia. For many years he had lived almost constantly in the wildest parts of continent. He was the first man to send out from the depths of Patagonia the report of the possible existence there of a monstrous animal, the mylodon, a giant sloth as great as an ox, that still survived from prehistoric days. He reported subsequently that one evening he had even shot at some huge creature that might have been it. But its hide turned his bullet, and the gloom of the forest made pursuit impossible.

RAMON LISTA'S DOOM.

Ramon Lista, thus on the threshold, possibly, of an epochal discovery in modern world history, set his face toward El Gran Chaco. He passed beyond the uttermost frontier of human dwellers, and with canoe and men paddled away to reach the Pilcomayo river. And when he paddled thus away he passed out of human sight forever. For the River of Death has never given him up.

Fragments of his story have drifted

ed to the outer world, and from the stories told by boastful Indians and the scattered rumors brought to Bolivian and Paraguayan and Argentinian frontier posts, it is known that he forced his way far up the river, contending against nature and wild beasts and wild men alike, and, thoroughly worn out and sadly diminished in numbers, the expedition found itself cut off from either retreat or advance by the allied forces of human foes and hunger. For the Indians, rarely showing themselves, but constantly lurking around the party, not only picked off any members of the expedition who strayed even slightly from the main body, but prevented all hunting. At last the party was so reduced by privations that panic seized some and despair others. And then came annihilation, so that none returned. Lista himself, so men have learned since then, was one of the last to die. He was branded while he lay starving. And scattered over many miles of forest trails lie his companions, pursued and killed in fight.

IBARRETA SEEKS MYSTERY.

Rumors of Lista's loss had not more than begun to reach Europe and North America, and already another expedition was preparing to hew its way into the place of doom.

Colonel Enrique de Ibarreta, of Spain, was the man to lead it. He made his start from San Antonio in Bolivia with a party singularly well equipped—equipped, indeed, as if for conquest rather than for exploration. He had a flotilla of Indian canoes, each holding twelve men, and with him were six Argentine, two Bolivian and one Spanish companions, all well fitted by knowledge and experience for the work of carrying out the task of forcing the passage through the River of Death. The canoes were covered with heavy sails and skins, which were pierced with loop holes for rifles.

At Fort Creveaux, named in honor of Dr. Creveaux, he got additional force in the form of two friendly Pilagas Indians and an Indian boy, who proved invaluable through his knowledge of the many languages and dialects of the unknown tribes that were encountered during the voyage. Colonel Suarez, acting in command at the fort, provided this escort under orders from the Bolivian government, but personally begged Colonel Ibarreta to desist.

His arguments were vain, and early in June the party started down the Pilcomayo. And scarcely had they passed from the sight of the soldiers in the frontier fort before the forest was alive with dangers all around them. Men dared not leave their covered canoes, even in the daytime. Game vanished strangely before them. At first it seemed unaccountable, until they found that the Indians, invisible, but ever present, were driving it away to starve the explorers out, so that they should venture into the forests to hunt, when they could be killed easily.

When the expedition reached Laguna Pitano, less than 300 miles from the place where they had started, it was September. It had taken them more than three months to get there, and yet the mysterious land had scarcely been entered. And the men were then in such extremities that Ibarreta saw that they could not hope to get out alive unless help reached them. They were encamped by savages. Food was reduced to a minimum. In this crisis Colonel Ibarreta called for volunteers to break through the silent, hidden cordon of foes and try to reach Formosa, on the Paraguayan boundary, to get help.

DEVILS OF THE WOODS.

Of those eight men nothing has been learned to this day, with the exception of two, who were found wandering in the thickets with barely strength enough left to tell even the briefest story. They had been hunted headlong from mile to mile. The forests were instinct with death wherever they turned. Six of the fugitives were killed before a day had passed.

The two survivors said that they had left the Ibarreta party in dire need. Just before passing certain great waterfalls of the Pilcomayo river, the hitherto deserted banks of the gloomy stream suddenly were filled with tall men, hideously painted and armed with huge knotted clubs and with spears. Their faces, painted coal black, with circles of light blue over the cheekbones and three blue streaks radiating from the corners of their mouths, made them look, said the fugitives, like devils. Indeed, the Pilagas Indians—a friendly tribe living near the borders—affirm that these are devils and not men that haunt the dark, impenetrable forests of the River of Death.

The Indians made an attack in force on the expedition and were beaten off only after desperate effort.

WANTS BIBLE IN SCHOOLS

PRESIDENT BUTLER DELIVERS
NOTABLE ADDRESS.

Head of Columbia University Talks to the National Association of Teachers.

Minneapolis, July 9.—"Quarreling among the religious sects and the churches about interpretation has stricken the Bible from the reading of the American people. Sectarianism has brought about such a serious condition in this nation that the English Bible is no longer known as literature, and consequently the people cannot understand the basic elements of our civilization." This is what Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, told 8,000 persons last night at the general session of the National Educational association. He made an impassioned appeal for the restoration of the English Bible in the schools, not from a religious standpoint, but from that of a book which had been the foundation of Christian civilization and the inspiration of the best in English literature. His appeal was interrupted by tremendous applause from all points in the Exposition building. Dr. Butler spoke on "Some Pressing Problems in Education," and that of the Bible he considered to be of vital importance.

LOSE BEAUTIES OF POETRY.

"I am not talking about the Bible now in the sense of using it for religious instruction or for the promotion of theology," he said. "My thesis is that the neglect of the Bible caused by sectarianism has incapacitated the rising generation from knowing the beauties of the greater writers in the English language from Chaucer to Browning, and from understanding as well as placing them outside the pale of knowledge of their own civilization. Without knowledge of the Bible one cannot read and understand the glories of Milton and Shakespeare and Tennyson. I read the first twelve lines in 'Paradise Lost' to a group of college students one day and none of them could understand the reference to biblical history."

"When visiting Jerusalem I witnessed a disgraceful scene during a most solemn Christian ceremony. Christians were fighting and struggling among each other to see the procession, and the sneering Mohammedan soldiers, the miserable Turks, were pushing the unruly Christians back. This is a sample of what we have here. The Christians are fighting among themselves over their interpretations of the Bible and are gradually driving it out of mind."

IMPOVERISH LITERATURE.

The present condition is shameful. We have and are impoverishing life and literature by burying our treasure-house under the dust of theological discussion. The Bible is the inspiration on which the best English style has been built. Even the non-Christian has to read the Bible in order to understand history. You cannot understand oriental history without reading the Vedas, nor Grecian history without knowing something of Greek mythology."

ZANESVILLE GOES DRY.

(Bluffton News.)
Frank Bush, the only man who succeeded in getting license to run a saloon at Zanesville during the last ten years, was refused a license for another year when he applied to the Allen county commissioners this week. A remonstrance signed by three-fourths of the voters of Pleasant township, Allen county, was what knocked him out. He secured the license a year ago by advertising in a paper at Monroeville and the citizens of Zanesville knew nothing of it until after the license was granted. Zanesville is on the Wells and Allen county line.

DIDN'T READ IT RIGHT.

(Bluffton News.)
Mrs. John L. Robbins received a letter this morning from her sister, Mrs. George Saffen, in Fort Wayne, stating that Lo, her 11-year-old boy, had died. Through Mrs. Robbins' excitement she understood that it was her sister and for a while she was overcome with grief and excitement. When the neighbors ran in they found Mrs. Robbins almost prostrated. Mrs. Charley Mettler read the letter over and they found that it was her sister's boy instead of her sister.

MR. NIEZER ADMITTED.

Attorney Charles M. Niezer, of Fort Wayne, was last week admitted to membership in the Indiana Bar association at Indianapolis. Mr. Niezer is the junior member of the firm of Randall & Niezer.

WILL SOON SHIP ORE.

Owners in this city of stock in the Gold Cord mine, near Keller, Wash., expect soon to be receiving dividends. A dispatch from Spokane to the Daily Mining Record, published at Colorado Springs, Colo., says that work has now reached the point where shipments of ore will soon begin. Ore from the main ledge is assayed as high as $400 per ton, but the average is about $53. A profit of $35 per ton is expected in shipments. There are a number of stockholders in the Gold Cord mine resident in Fort Wayne.

SHY SISTERS LOSE CHARTER.

Crawfordsville, Ind., July 9.—"We have lost our charter, but still have our dignity," is the sign hanging on the lodge-room door of the Rathbone Sisters at New Richmond. The women of that lodge refused to take in any new members to see them ride the goat and a few days ago two men of that place came to this city and were admitted to the lodge-room. When they demanded the same privilege at New Richmond the women refused to allow them to enter the room and returned the charter.

WILL REFUND MUCH MONEY

FIRST ORDER ISSUED UNDER NEW PHILIPPINE LAW.

Internal Revenue Taxes Collected on Whisky, Beer and Wine to Be Paid Back.

Washington, July 9.—The treasury department today issued the first order under the new Philippine civil government act. That act provided that all taxes paid upon articles subject to internal revenue taxes shipped to the Philippines since November 15, 1901, under the decision of the secretary of the treasury of that date, shall be refunded to the parties who have paid the same under regulations to be prescribed by the secretary of the treasury. Those regulations have now been issued. They provide that:

"Claims shall be prepared upon form issued by the commissioner of internal revenue for the refunding of taxes, known as form 46, and shall be made under oath. The character of the goods shipped, the date of shipment, the amount of tax paid thereon, the name of the vessel and the name of the port to which shipped should be stated in the body of the claim. The claims should be supported, where possible, by clearance certificates and by an affidavit of the consignee, showing that the goods were actually received at a port of the Philippine islands. Where neither the clearance certificates nor the affidavit of the consignee can be obtained, it will be necessary for the claimant to obtain the affidavit of the master of the vessel upon which the goods were shipped, showing what disposition was made of the goods."

The principal articles upon which refund will be made are whiskeys, beer and other vinous, spirituous and malt liquors and tobacco. No estimate of the amount of money which will be refunded has been made at the treasury department but it is supposed that it will aggregate several millions.

DEATH OF A FAMOUS HORSE.

Omaha, July 9.—Linden Tree, the fine Arabian horse presented by the Sultan of Turkey to General Grant, died yesterday at the farm of General L. W. Colby, of Beatrice, Neb., aged 33 years. General Grant met the Sultan of Turkey during his tour around the world and on his return home the sultan sent him the finest specimen of the pure Arabian horse that was to be obtained. The horse later was purchased by General Colby, of Beatrice. He was used as a saddle animal for several years, but since he became too old to be of practical value has been tenderly cared for.

AN AUTOMOBILE RACE.

In connection with the Galedonian field sports to be held at the Huntington fair grounds Saturday, August 16, there will be an automobile race open to all classes of vehicles. Harry Meyer, of the Meyer Cycle company, is in charge of the bicycle and automobile events, and he has secured several entries for the latter among Fort Wayne and Huntington automobilists.

NOW IT'S A PUMP TRUST.

Toledo, O., July 9.—The United States Pump and Supply company has been incorporated under the laws of New Jersey and intends to consolidate the large pump factories of the country.

A CLEVER RAISE.

The total increase of assessed valuations as put on the duplicate tax review which concluded its sessions last Saturday was $162,650.

John Niedhart, a civil war veteran and pioneer South Bend citizen, died Tuesday. For nearly twenty-five years he and his wife had not spoken to each other, though living in the same house.

CHOATE FOR PRESIDENCY.

DON M. DICKINSON BOOMS THE AMBASSADOR.

Declares Such a Consummation to Be Very Near to the Hearts of the American People.

London, July 9.—Speaking at the annual dinner of the Hardwicke society in London last night, Don M. Dickinson, of Detroit, who was counsel for the United States before the international high commission on the Berings sea claims in 1897, referred to Joseph H. Choate, the United States ambassador, as a possible candidate for the presidency of the United States.

The company consisted of several hundred members of the English bar, lords and judges. The earl of Desart, director of public prosecutions; Sir Charles Tupper, formerly prime minister of Canada; Sir Edward George Clarke, formerly solicitor general; Justice Bartlett, of New York; Lord Hardwicke, under secretary for India, and other members of the government and a number of colonial judges were among the guests.

GUEST OF HONOR.

Mr. Dickinson took Mr. Choate's place as the guest of honor. He prefaced his proposal of a toast to the English bench by a tribute to Mr. Choate. "Mr. Choate does not belong," said Mr. Dickinson, "to my party or to my government, but it is very near the hearts of the American people that he shall go from the court of St. James to the presidential chair, and I wish he may get there."

Mr. Dickinson eloquently voiced the sympathetic joy of the American people at the certainty of the recovery of the "illustrious and beloved king of England. We rejoice," continued the speaker, "with you in your joys and sorrow with you in your griefs. That feeling has been expressed by no one more truly than by President Roosevelt, who is as close to the people of America as has been any president in the history of the republic."

Mr. Dickinson compared President Roosevelt, amid the enthusiastic cheers of those present, to Sir Philip Sydney, "sans peur et sans reproche."

INTERNATIONAL FEELING.

Dealing with international feeling Mr. Dickinson said:

"We of the United States have long since ceased to boast that we alone are the champions of liberty." He cited the recent dispatch of Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, declaring that the constitution of Cape Colony should not be suspended, as an instance of Great Britain's love of liberty. He declared that America deeply sympathized with Mr. Chamberlain in his recent accident and concluded by saying:

"Great Britain and the United States can make the world's freedom wider yet, not by warfare, but by an understanding that we, the English speaking nations, mean well by the rest of the world and that the other nations must not attack either one of us."

SAFE ROBBED IN DAYLIGHT.

Marion, Ind., July 9.—R. M. Vanatta, an attorney, left his office for a short time yesterday afternoon to go to a barber shop in the same building and when he returned his safe had been robbed of $600. The office is located on the fourth floor of the Glass block, where a large amount of business is transacted. A dentist office is on one side, in which two men were working. On another side is the office of the Marion Gas company, in which was half a dozen clerks. All along the passageway are offices, many of them with doors constantly open, and people were passing the door of the room in which the robbery was being committed. The safe was locked with a combination lock, which had been worked by the burglars. A diamond ring in an envelope and a $5 gold piece under the envelope were overlooked.

STRICKEN AT THE PHONE.

Anderson, Ind., July 9.—Winfield Scott, president of the Fall Creek Rural Telephone company and one of the most prominent and wealthy farmers of Madison county, was struck by lightning at 9 o'clock last evening at his home, four miles south of this city, while standing at his telephone talking to a neighbor. When the bolt came in on the line he was knocked from the phone and rendered unconscious. His entire left side was paralyzed, and it is believed that he is fatally injured.

WOULD KILL ALL THE REDS.

Canton, O., July 9.—George Fisher, a long-haired man, called on Mayor Robertson yesterday and unfolded his plans for wiping out the anarchists of the country. He said it is his mission to induce the people to take action so as to stamp out anarchy or the anarchists will get control of the government in this land. He declared that a price of $60,000 has been set on his head to be given to any man who kills him.

He predicted that President Roosevelt will be killed in a manner similar to McKinley. Fisher wrote a letter to Mrs. McKinley telling her he was coming here to see her. He wanted to enlist her aid in getting the national law makers to take action to drive out all anarchists. He failed to see her.

He had also written a letter to Senator Hanna along the same line, but was not given audience with the senator at Cleveland. He said he will continue to try to arouse public sentiment against anarchists in order to save the country from utter lawlessness.

LITTLE TOWN OF CORUNNA HAS A SENSATION.

Will Crawford Lodges a Bullet in Charles Wallace's Hip—Domestic Trouble Back of It.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Auburn, Ind., July 9.—The little town of Corunna, a few miles north of this place, is convulsed by a sensational shooting affray which occurred there Tuesday, when Will Crawford and Charles Wallace came together in a clash which ended in the latter receiving a bullet in his hip. The injured man will recover. Crawford and Wallace are both barbers, and are well known. The men met upon the street Tuesday, and it is alleged Crawford accused Wallace of being entirely too intimate with Mrs. Crawford, and warned Wallace to leave town.

Wallace asserted his innocence and declined to accept the invitation to skip. Thereupon Crawford drew a revolver from his pocket and fired, the bullet lodging in Wallace's hip. Persons near by heard the shot and rushing forward separated the men before further shots were fired. Wallace was carried home and is under the care of a physician. His wound is not considered as dangerous. Crawford is yet at liberty, but it is expected he will be arrested on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. Both men are married, and the affair has created a sensation of tremendous proportions in the usually quiet little village.

BIG GEYSER BREAKS OUT.

San Francisco, July 9.—Near Salina Cruz, on the Pacific side of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, a giant geyser has broken out as the result of heavy earthquakes occurring in that section since April 18 last. The column of water, rising to a height of about fifty feet, roars and hisses from among the rocks and is an object of great interest to the people and to passing vessels, being plainly visible from the sea. It was seen and admired by the passengers and crew of the steamer Newport, which has reached this port. The news is brought by the steamer that affairs in Guatemala are becoming normal again after the scare occasioned by the tremendous earthquakes. The havoc wrought by the disturbances will not interfere with harvesting of the coming crops, as at first anticipated.

SONS OF VETERANS ELECT.

Rising Sun, Ind., July 10.—Yesterday's session of the Sons of Veterans' encampment was the last of the meeting and one of hard work for the delegates. The officers elected were: Commander, George F. Ogden, Laketon; senior vice commander, W. T. Burns, Rising Sun; junior vice commander, Oral H. Jones, Shelbyville; delegate-at-large to national encampment, R. J. Bosworth; delegates to national encampment, Fred E. Matson, Indianapolis, and Charles Dehaven, Kokomo. Peru was selected as the place for holding the next encampment. The Ladies' Aid society auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans encampment, also in session here, elected the following officers: President Indiana division, Mrs. Fanny Rabb Green, Rising Sun; vice president, Mrs. Sid Conger, Shelbyville; treasurer, Miss Mary Vanosold, Rising Sun; secretary, Miss Stella Burns, Rising Sun.

KILLED UNDER A TREE.

Hartford City, July 10.—Bee and Charles Wentz, brothers, were struck by lightning while at work in the wheat field last evening and were instantly killed. Both are well known farmers. The two men had sought shelter from the storm under an oak tree and were just preparing to return to their work when stricken.

Mrs. Jacob Palmer, at Huntington, was trampled by a cow which she was milking Tuesday morning. Her injuries are painful.

The Fort Wayne and Muncie inter-urban people will send a man to Bluffton to confer with people there regarding the extension of the road to strike the Wells county capital.

Arthur Goines, 19 years old, had both hands caught between the rollers of a machine at the Goshen Rubber works. Two months ago James Murphy lost his arm in the same machine.

Mrs. Virginia Doolittle, of Muncie, died Tuesday, while sitting in her chair. Her children playing about her believed that mamma was asleep until a neighbor called and discovered the truth.

Mrs. L. Maynard, of Dunkirk, is at Huntington seeking the grave of her little child who died there while her husband, Rev. Maynard, was pastor of the M. E. church in Huntington forty years ago.

It is claimed that Mrs. Frank Judd, the Magley woman who recently attempted suicide, was driven insane by the receipt of an obscene letter, intended for her daughter, but which fell into her hands.

Bluffton lodge No. 796, B. P. O. Elks, was instituted Wednesday with a charter membership of seventy-three. District Deputy Bayard Gray was the instituting officer, and the Hartford City lodge did the work.

An unusual incident occurred a few days ago at Hartford City, when aunt and niece became brides at the same altar. Miss Anna Cain was married to Earl Smith, and Miss Mary Cain becoming the wife of Emil Schwei.

El Souder, Charles Flora and Dora Dittion, arrested by Sheriff Stout and his deputies near Fort Wayne for stealing a wagon load of lead pipe at Columbia City, have been held to the grand jury under bonds of $500 each. All are in jail, unable to give bond.

The Presbyterians and Methodists at Valparaiso have united in open air meetings, which will be held on the Methodist church lawn during the heated term. The lawn resembles a summer garden, having fountains and flower beds, with drinking water tanks and plenty of shade.

Frank Wiegand applied for license to operate a saloon directly opposite the M. E. church at Hartford City. Temperance people are aroused, and an effort is being made to prevent the granting of a license, though Pastor Neal was unsuccessful in securing the names of two-thirds of the voters of the ward to a remonstrance.

Mrs. Frank Judd, of Magley, was deliberately assassinated by the newspapers Saturday. The woman took carbolic acid with suicidal intent but after being unconscious for several hours she revived. In the meantime a Decatur newspaper rallied the relatives to the bedside, gave her an obituary notice and buried her with impressive ceremonies attended by a large concourse of friends. Mrs. Judd still lives but is said to be hopelessly insane.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Havelin, of Mt. Zion, Wells county, had planned a trip to Montpelier. Mrs. H. wanted to go one day, but the husband insisted that they should wait until the next. They quarreled. Mrs. Havelin bought ten cents worth of carbolic acid and threatened to drink it. "Drink it, d-n you," was the husband's response. She did so, and resisted the efforts of physicians to counteract the poison, dying two hours later. The couple had been married but three months.

A bear owned by Matthias Doyle, of Van Buren, escaped Tuesday night and created much alarm before it was brought down by a posse of men, after a wild chase of five miles. John L. Roussey has the credit of firing the shot which killed the animal.

It is claimed that a box of gold and silver coin weighing more than one hundred pounds was found secreted in the home of Jacob Sommers, who died in DeKalb county recently. Sommers was an eccentric character, 80 years of age, who never married, and lived alone.

A petition is being circulated in DeKalb county asking for the dredging of Cedar Creek from Waterloo to Stoner's Mill dam, near the Allen county line. The project will require the expenditure of thousands of dollars, but will reclaim hundreds of acres of land.

Rev. W. P. Pearce, pastor of the First Baptist church at Goshen, has created a furor by his recent sermon on "Intemperance and the Celebration of the Fourth." Rev. Pearce was fortified with facts and figures secured by himself in personal visits to the saloons which were doing business on the Fourth, and gave names of both proprietors and patrons with startling candor.

Mrs. Wakeman S. Matthews, wife of a Huntington county farmer, has sued for divorce, alleging among other things that on one occasion as they were driving home from town he stopped the team on a railroad track as a train was approaching, asking her if she were not ready to die, and declined to drive out of harm's way until compelled to do so by men who approached. Other cruelties and drunkenness are also charged.

HOPE TO BEGIN VERY SOON

ACTUAL WORK ON FORT WAYNE-DAYTON LINE.

Engineer Talks of the Plans—Recharging Plant at Poe and Power House Here.

Decatur, Ind., July 10.—C. M. Smith, in charge of the corps of engineers surveying the route for the Fort Wayne, Dayton and Cincinnati electric line, says his men will have completed the survey between Celina and Fort Wayne by Friday of this week, and states that it is the desire of his company to begin grading the road and laying ties inside of forty days.

In answer to the questions as to where the work would be started and which part would be put in first he said:

"The company wants to prepare this entire northern division for the rails by the first of January, 1903, but it is my opinion that they cannot do this, but I think the part of the road between Celina and Fort Wayne will be commenced first. One gang of workmen will probably start at Celina and work north and another will start at Fort Wayne and work south."

"Do you find much objection to the road along the line?"

"No. Only once in a while some farmer will say something against it, but when the advantages of the line are pointed out to him he seems satisfied."

"Will there be a power house both at Celina and Fort Wayne?"

"Yes, at both places, but the one at Celina will furnish the main power for the entire road from Dayton to Cincinnati. There will be a recharging station at Poe and the main sheeps will be located at Celina."

When asked concerning the speed of the trains he stated that there will be two through trains daily each way with a scheduled speed of sixty miles per hour. These, he said, would stop at the county seats only. He also said that the speed of the other cars and trains would be forty-five miles per hour.

A Land and River of Death.

forts. They withdrew then into the cover of the overhanging vegetation on the banks, but they never ceased harassing the explorers. To go ashore for food was out of the question. The only hope that was left when the men started for relief was to press on slowly to find a landing place in the open country, where the Indians might be at a disadvantage. The two men did not live to reach civilization, but died near where the friendly Indian hunters had found them. These carried the news to Colonel Carmelo Uriarte, who quickly formed a relief party and advanced toward the Pilcomayo. For twenty days he marched and paddled, and for all those twenty days he had to fight the savages who attacked him from every hiding place along the line. His Indian guides found friends who told them that the Ibarreta party was totally annihilated, and they led Uriarte and his men to the spot where Colonel Ibarreta, the last man to yield, had made his final fight.

The murderous Indians were members of the Chorotis and Orjude tribes, of whom little is known except that they live a life of constant warfare between themselves, sinking their differences only when strangers enter the country.

Uriarte's spies found the graves of various members of the Ibarreta party and returned with stories of touching courage and devotion. They learned how one member of the expedition after another had died, either from starvation or wounds, and how the survivors buried their comrades and planted a rude cross on each grave. At last there were left with Ibarreta only a single Indian and the boy. These three worked their way on, ever suffering more, until they were quite unable to wield either paddle or pole any more. Then they crawled out on the bank, and while they were plodding on shore, entirely exhausted, the Indians stole on them and killed them with axes, Ibarreta fighting till the last and not yielding until he was powerless to move.

STILL NEW VICTIMS.

And still El Gran Chaco was to have more victims. While Boggianno's fate was still unknown, Captain Sirvent, a German instructor in the Chilian army, started with his son to enter the Chaco country from the west. He expected to return in a month. But three passed and no sign came from the unknown land.

Now, according to news just received in America, Captain Rojas, of the Paraguayan army, who started from the east to search for him, has returned to Villa Hayes—named after President Hayes to commemorate his settlement of the Paraguay-Argentina boundary dispute—with the almost positive information that this expedition also has been destroyed. Captain Rojas found that it had approached the vicinity of the scene of Ibarreta's death, and there, on the banks of the Pilcomayo river, had perished, to prove anew that the River of Death still defies the world's efforts to dispel its mystery.

In the forests, great with centuries on centuries of unchecked growth, there is neither sunlight or freedom of winds or singing of birds. The waters roar sullenly. The air is heavy with moisture, and neither in the morning or the afternoon does daylight find its way through the enormous, fantastic masses of the eternal forest. Gloom and gloom again—never less than twilight in the brightest places and as black as night in the darkest—shrouds the path of the intruder.

A hush so great that it burdens the sense as with physical oppression reigns hour after hour, day after day, week after week. Like the terrifying hush before a great storm, it rests on the land and makes it a place of fear. The birds flit through it silently. Silently and like shadows the wild beasts creep.

Only now and again is that hush of dread broken. A terrible cry, a wail that rises and falls and floats away awfully, resounds through the dim aisles. Then the Indians hastily murmur incantations—for this, they believe, is the cry of a lost soul, wandering, wandering, in torment eternal through the land of the devils of the woods. It is vain for explorers to tell them that the cry is that of a bird fairly well known to science. It is a damned soul, so they are convinced.

So, too, they shudder when once in a while a sudden, tremendous cracking and splintering echoes with startling suddenness through this land of foreboding silence. Even white men, armored against superstitious fear, feel their nerves start when that silence of the grave is broken thus, though they believe it to be due only to the sudden hurrying downward of some ancient tree. But the Indians know it to be otherwise. "It is the devil of the woods," they say, with trembling lips. "The devil of the woods is uprooting a tree for a club to hunt with tonight."

And he is a well-steeled man who, surrounded by the unknown, surrounded by the terror of his living companions, does not, in spite of himself, feel the fear of the Land of Mystery steal over him and claim him for its own.

RE-ENACTED CUSTER MASSACRE

der into Montana whenever possible, he was induced to return and surrender, on the government's promise of immunity for past offenses. He was confined on the reservation in South Dakota, and originated the famous "ghost dance" and "Messiah craze" which brought on the Indian war of 1890, the culmination of which was the battle of Wounded Knee, where 300 Indians were killed. Two weeks previous to that battle, however, Sitting Bull was killed while resisting arrest by the Indian police. He exerted more influence for the bad over the Indians of the northwest than any Indian chieftain known. He was always known as "tricky" by the whites, and was never trusted.

Visitors at Standing Rock Agency, N. D., have their attention called to a tall old Indian with nothing to distinguish him from others of Uncle Sam's wards. The tourist is told in an undertone: "That's Chief Gull, the field commander of the battle in which Custer was massacred. No use to attempt to talk to him. He pretends that he can't understand English, but he can. Let him alone."

DEMENTED WOMAN IS HELD

STRANGE CONDUCT CAUSES HER ARREST.

Nora Parks Will Be Subject of a Lunacy Commission.

(From Friday's Daily.)

Last night at about 1:30 Officer Murphy was called to the residence of a Mrs. Braun on Wall street where a woman was acting very strangely, annoying the residents and frightening some of them. He found the woman industriously engaged in carrying a pail of water from one side of the lot to the other accompanying her movements with sundry and mysterious invocations, sometimes mixed with imprecations. The officer took her in charge and found her attire as strange as her conduct. Her clothing she wore just reversed. Everything was either inside out or upside down, and by everything, everything is meant, because the officer knows; he made her dress like a Christian before the wagon came. The woman when taken to the station was found to be Nora Parks, an unfortunate once adjudged insane and sent to the hospital at Richmond from which institution she was returned as cured.

The demented woman was cared for until this morning when she was arranged in police court. She could give no coherent account of herself whereupon Judge Dreibeiss continued her case and sent her to the hospital ward of the jail for safe keeping and meanwhile a commission of lunacy will be instituted and some permanent disposition of the pitiable case will be made.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.

Lesson for Sunday, July 20, 1902.

Topic—"The Ten Commandments—Duties to Men."

Text—Exodus xx., 12-17.

Golden Text—"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thy self."—Matt. xix., 19.

THE LESSON ILLUSTRATED.

The first commandment of this second table is most important to the young. It is recorded that, during the confusion and terror caused by an eruption of Mt. Aetna, while every one was carrying away what he esteemed most precious, two sons thought first of their infirm father and mother, and amid all the grief and anxiety concerning valuable property, said: "What treasure have we more precious than our parents?" Acting on this filial sentiment, they took up their beloved burden, and, one bearing the father and the other the mother, escaped through the smoke and flames to a place of safety.

A gentleman questioned concerning the wonderful exhibits at the World's fair, described many, then said: "But the most beautiful sight that greeted my eyes during my wanderings there was a strong, noble looking young man with smiling face pushing his invalid mother in a chair."

A little boy was tempted to pick some cherries from a tree which his father had forbidden him to touch. "You need not be afraid," said his companion, for if your father should find it out he is too good to hurt you." "Yes," said the brave little fellow, "I know that, and it's the very reason why I won't take any. He wouldn't hurt me, but it would hurt him to know I didn't mind him."

Do not forget or repudiate the debt you owe your parents. I heard a young man say: "I can boast that I don't owe any one in this world anything, and I am free to do as I please." Yet for six years that young man's mother had denied herself almost the necessities of life and had struggled daily with poverty, in order to give him an education. This debt he had repudiated by leaving home and never writing to that aged and heartbroken mother.

I have just returned from a hospital where a mother eighty-four years old suffering intensely from a fractured hip, said: "I could forget all my other pains, if only my son would come to see me."

In connection with the eighth commandment I noticed that a boy was caught in the act of robbing a money drawer in a grocery store. He was taken to a police station and a card was found in his coat pocket upon which were printed the ten commandments which he was memorizing to repeat to his teacher. "Thou shalt not steal" must be written upon our hearts as well as upon our minds.

A little boy to whom was quoted this commandment, excused himself by saying: "But I didn't do much that was bad. I only took a penny." Show the error of this reasoning.

With older classes it may be wise to consider different kinds of stealing, as stealing a person's good name or reputation, misrepresenting goods, taking hold of technical legal points and taking advantage of another's helpless position to advance one's interests and increase one's bank account. Then, too, we often steal from God—especially do we steal the time that belongs to him by bringing other duties into the Lord's day, or by making Saturday a day of such inordinate excitement that it steals all of our Sunday vitality.

The ninth commandment may be impressed by an incident that is connected with a woman who went to a priest and confessed that she had slandered her neighbors and that she was much addicted to this sin. This penance was prescribed: "Go to the nearest market and purchase a fowl with the feathers on. Then return, but pluck off the feathers as you walk, and when you bring me the clean plucked fowl, I will tell you what more to do." The penitent obeyed the instructions to the letter, but when she brought back the clean plucked fowl, to her dismay she was ordered to go back and gather up all the feathers. We cannot get back the false words that we speak.

The last commandment suggests what underlies the breaking of all the others—the spirit of covetousness. I used to wonder why the Bible so strongly emphasized this sin; but two incidents within my personal observation removed all question. I knew a boy who again and again said, "I wish that I had a boat like Frank's." He frequently went to the creek and sat and looked at that boat until, somehow, the devil led him to think that it was not right for one boy to have such a boat to the exclusion of others. One day the boat was found full of water and a number of holes bored in the bottom and the act was traced to the covetous boy. A farmer in the neighborhood of my home envied a neighbor his beautiful wheat field. Careless and lazy, he himself had but one-third of a crop. He was several times overheard saying to himself, "I ought to have that field of wheat on the other side of the road."

Two weeks after the wheat was harvested and placed under a shed it was burned at midnight, and a year later that man confessed the crime and attributed it to his own covetousness. Beware of this dominant sin.

STRIKES A RICH GOLD LEAD.

Guthrie, Ok., July 12.—The statement comes from Anadarko that Judge Henry Scott, who was Cleveland's appointee to the Oklahoma supreme bench and who has enjoyed a varied existence in the southwest, has discovered a rich find of gold in the Wichita mountains. He is backed by New York capitalists. Scott recently started out afoot through the mountains and was absent several weeks securing many samples of ore. He obtained a lease on 800 acres of mining lands, 280 of which have been platted into a town site near his town. A $100,000 smelter is being erected, ore sheds are already up and a host of miners and business men is on the border waiting for the opening.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; also cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ALCOHOL RESPONSIBLE.

Disasters of Various Kinds Which Are Traceable to Drunk-He-Fuddled Brains.

Many of the most serious railroad and steamboat accidents have been found in the final analysis to be due to the bad reasoning and faulty senses of the responsible persons in charge. When these accidents are studied they are traceable to distinct physical causes, among which the use of alcohol is most prominent. Thus the engineer who, tired and worn, takes a drink of spirits, which all unconsciously depresses the acuteness of his senses and dulls his reasoning power. Later the train orders are confused and the danger signals are not correctly seen, and a frightful accident follows, in which he perishes. No one realizes that all this was due to the glass of spirits taken to relieve his wearied state. The captain of a great steamship used spirits to keep warm while on the bridge, and a few hours after made a terrible blunder. No one recognized the connection between the spirits taken and the accident, and yet it was simply cause and effect. His usual mental clearness was dulled and his judgment impaired. An architect planned a great block of buildings which collapsed, and he was punished as dishonest and fraudulent. In reality it was the alcoholized brain of a man who drank daily, and yet his friends saw no connection between the faulty plans and the accident which followed. An engineer who drank at night and in so-called moderation decided that a reservoir dam was safe and would bear any pressure. Later it burst and many lives and immense property was destroyed. Here the same mistake was made, in trusting to the faulty reasoning of the engineer. This list of disasters and losses might be extended almost indefinitely, and only recently is there any suspicion that the use of alcohol was an active predisposing cause. The delusion that alcohol used in small quantities never impairs the integrity of the senses and reasoning is contradicted by daily experience. A still greater delusion exists in supposing the inebriate to be simply a moral victim, not discerned. It is this error that crowds the criminal courts with victims, who are crushed out in the efforts to restore them. Scientists are teaching the great lesson of prevention, which insists that all responsible men, holding positions of trust, should be total abstainers.—Journal of Inebriety.

CAN DO WITHOUT SALOONS.

Santa Monica, Cal., Times Experiment with Success Beyond Expectation.

Santa Monica, Cal., nearly a year ago decreed the closing of the saloons. To do so was predicted would ruin the city. How the city had been ruined, read what the California Voice says:

First, a very notable increase in the number and character of the population and visitors to the beach. Second, business men say that since closing the saloons in May there is a decided improvement in business, some going so far as to say that their business has almost doubled. The merchants say that they are now getting more cash in hand for goods than ever before, and that what formerly went to saloons now goes into the legitimate channels of trade. An example or two will show the trend of business under prohibition.

The bank deposits in the Santa Monica bank for the three months of June, July and August, 1900, under prohibition, were $46,000 more than they were for the corresponding months of 1899 with open saloons. Moody's delicacy store for the month of June, July and August, 1900, under prohibition, took in actual cash for June, $232.50; for July, $584.83; for August, $427.23, in excess of the cash receipts for the three corresponding months of 1899, when they had saloons.

In May, 1899, there were 14 arrests for drunkenness; in May, 1900, only four, and all other cases traceable to saloons have fallen correspondingly. So that summing it all up, Santa Monica can very well afford to do without saloons, and the good people of Santa Monica say that they can never again afford to have another saloon in their little city by the sea.

A BAD BARGAIN.

How One Man Was Brought to See the Folly of Beer Drinking.

"Wouldn't you like to buy some kindling wood, mister?" asked an unkempt and unpleasant-looking man. "It's the only way I have to make a living, and the price is not high."

Happening to need what he had to sell, I engaged a load. When he came in for his money he said, apologetically:

"I am a poor man, and I have a pretty hard time to get along. I would like to attend your religious meetings and go to church with my wife and children, but we are too poor. But I mean to come around anyway."

do not care to mortgage upon your private affairs, but you are a drinking man—

"Oh, no, I'm not," he said, cutting me off short.

"But your breath smells of liquor," I insisted. "You've been drinking to-day."

"Well, yes, I just had a glass of beer, but I'm not a regular drinker."

I had heard such men talk before, so I ventured to press the matter home.

"Let me see," said I, "do you suppose

"YOU'VE BEEN DRINKING TO-DAY?"

you drink a glass of beer a day?"

"No, indeed, I don't. I only drink occasionally."

"But you had a glass to-day?"

"Yes."

"And a glass yesterday?"

"Yes."

"And a glass the day before?"

"Yes, I think so."

"And on Sunday," I said, "you usually drink two glasses?"

"Yes, I suppose I do."

"Well, then, let me see; how much do you pay for a glass of beer?"

"I pay five cents a glass."

"Five cents a glass! Have you ever figured up how much your drink costs you a year?"

I took out a pencil and my notebook and figured the problem before him, saying: "Now, you say you average a glass of beer each day. That is five cents a day, or 35 cents a week. On Sunday you drink at least two glasses. We will say then that your beer costs you 40 cents a week, but I presume you drink more than that, don't you? Haven't you had two drinks to-day?"

"Yes, I have. I presume I drink on the average two glasses a day."

He had become interested in my figuring by this time and was quite communicative.

"Never mind that now," I said, "let us figure up the cost as you stated it at first. Forty cents a week is $1.60 a month, or a little over $19 a year. Now, you say you drink just twice that amount, so we may say every year you drink $38 worth of beer! But I'm not through yet. You have been a drinking man for several years, haven't you? How many years have you been in this sort of business?"

With shamefacedness he confessed that for seven years he had been such a drinker. "My dear sir," I said, "you tell me you are poor, that your wife hasn't had a new dress for years, and your children are barefooted even in this cool weather, and yet—and yet, you stand here and tell me that you have for the last seven years systematically put down your own throat over $260 worth of beer! Where has that money gone? Does your saloon keeper dress in rags as do you? Does the saloon keeper's wife ever wear the same ragged clothes for years? Do their children go hungry and barefooted, as yours do? But why not? Whose money pays for their clothing, their plush carpets, their coal and food? Man! your money has helped do it. Yours, and every other drinking man's!"

By this time the kindling-wood man had his eyes and his mouth wide open in astonishment. He acknowledged that what I said was true, and that he was a foolish man. It was a bad bargain, and he saw it, as many another man has seen it before, and with tears in his eyes he faltered out—and I believe he was sincere—"I never thought of it in that way before. I'll never drink another drop!"

Oh, how many men there are who are wasting their money on drink, ruining themselves, cheating their families out of house and home, and are, at the same time, cursing God and the evil times that keep them poor and in disgrace. God grant that such deluded men may be made to see their folly!—Rev. E. A. King, in Union Signal.

Prohibition in Maine.

Mrs. Katharine Lente Stevenson, president of Massachusetts W. C. T. U., has just completed a trip of nearly two weeks in the state of Maine, and says she is prepared to speak with greater authority than ever before on the subject of prohibition on its native heath. While she unquestionably found towns where the law was violated she also found towns where it was as perfectly enforced as any other law upon the statute book.

In one place the president of the union said to her: "If we were to see a man staggering upon our streets we should be much more likely to think he was sick than that he was intoxicated. It is a sight we never see." In another place the minister said: "We do not need the law here in this village; it enforces itself; there would be no liquor selling and no drunkenness in the community if there were no law. The years have done their work and a prohibition community is the result."

ZIP AND NANCY.

True Story of the Lifelong Friendship of a Cat and a Dog.

Zip was a pug dog, with eyes as green as emeralds. His constant companion was a cat called Nancy. They had been sincere friends for over twelve years. Zip was growing deaf, and his eyesight was beginning to fail him, while Nancy had lost the majority of her teeth, and a few gray hairs were becoming noticeable in her soft black fur.

When a very small kitten, Nancy was carried about by the dog, he gripping her firmly at the back of the neck. In return she would wash him as he lay before the fire, stroking him with her little tongue. They ate from the same dish at mealtime, and whatever Nancy had she willingly surrendered to the dog.

Zip always ran after the cats, and if in mistake he chased Nancy he would run into the house thoroughly ashamed of himself. One day a half starved looking cat appeared on the fence. Mrs. Webster, the lady owning Zip and Nancy, loved animals very much, and she took pity on the starved cat. As the day was Friday she had some fish in the house, which she gave to the cat. He greedily gulped it down and looked for more, which he received. When he was at last satisfied, he realized that he had found a good home and refused to go away. Mrs. Webster felt sorry for the cat and decided to keep him. She had now two cats and a dog. The strange cat was called Tom.

It was an ever to be remembered day when Tom entered that peaceful family. Quarrels followed, and poor Zip generally had a scratch on his nose given by the ever ready claw of Tom. The dog was very much afraid of this new cat and avoided him whenever it was possible. At last Zip died from old age. He went to his cozy little bed one night and never woke again. Tom seemed glad to be rid of the dog, but poor Nancy worried all the time. She would eat nothing and was slowly dying from sorrow. A little grave was dug in the back of the yard, and Zip was laid there to rest. Nancy often stole out and lay down beside the little mound.

One day Mrs. Webster could not find Nancy in the house and went into the back yard to look for her. There, by Zip's resting place, Nancy had stretched herself and died. That day another little grave was dug for Nancy, and there she and Zip rest together. Tom seems very much satisfied and is monarch of the household.—Josephine Church in New York Herald.

A BOX OF GATORS.

Story of the Strange Eggs Little Clay Found on the Beach.

Little Clay Reess lived in Florida, and he had fine times on the beach near his home. One day he was digging in the sand, when up came a queer little object. It was long and narrow and had a tough shell that bent and dented in Clay's fingers. He could not make out what it was. So he ran to Clinda, his black nurse, and showed it to her. Clinda laughed.

"Lawdy, honey," she said, "that air am er gator's aigg. Dig erway, an' yer'll done fin' er heap mo'."

So Clay dug away lustily, and, sure enough, up came more eggs with every shovel of sand. Five times he filled his little bucket and carried them home to his mother until twenty-five eggs lay in the box she gave him to put them in. That night when Clay was in his white "nightie" and having his "loving time" with his mother he asked, "How came the eggs in the sand?"

"The mother gator hid them there," answered his mother as she rocked and cuddled her little boy.

"Doesn't the mother gator cuddle her eggs like the mother hen?" asked Clay.

"No, dear. She leaves them in the sand for the hot sun to hatch out."

"Well, I think the mother gator is a very selfish thing," cried Clay, sitting up in his indignation.

"Oh, no," said his mother, smiling. "That is her way of taking care of them, the way God taught her. She can't cuddle her eggs like the mother hen. She has no soft feathers, and her hard skin would break the eggs if she sat on them. The nice warm sand cuddles them, and the sun helps to hatch them out. She takes good care of them. She often comes to look after her babies, and when they hatch out she finds food for them and will not let anything hurt them."

"Will she go to look at her eggs to-morrow day?" asked Clay.

"I think she will," said his mother. "Then I'll take them all back," murmured the sleepy little fellow.

The box of eggs was put in a closet, and neither Clay nor his mother thought of them again. A week later Clay went to the closet for some toys and heard a strange, rustling noise.

He looked up and saw a box on a shelf, with the cover dancing up and down.

"Oh, mother," cried Clay, dancing up and down himself in excitement, "come here, quick! Here is a box—all alive!"

His mother came running in, and there were a dozen tiny black snouts peeping under the box cover. Before she could even scream out popped a swarm of baby alligators and dropped down to the floor, where they scampered off in every direction. All the eggs had hatched, for the closet was behind a stove and the box in a warm place.

Such a time as there was! Clay jumped up and down, screaming with glee, but his mother climbed on top of a table to get out of the way of the alligators, who went running about as if in a hurry to investigate this new, strange world in which they found themselves. Black Clinda came running in to see what was the matter.

Then for a hunt! The baby alligators hid under the furniture and burrowed under the carpets, popping out of every hole and corner. It was nearly a week before the last one was caught. Father Reess shook three out of his boot one morning, and Mother Reess pulled on her stocking and found one in the toe.

Clay thought they were the cunningest playfellows and begged hard to keep them. But when his mother told him that the mother gator would want her babies he consented to have them taken to the beach. His father let him keep six and made a pen for them in the back yard, with a small tank of water in it. Here Clay played with them, and they became very tame and seemed to know their little master. He was often seen with the whole lot swarming all over him. His mother could not bear to touch the creatures, though Clay assured her that their way of running up his arm and poking their black snouts into his face was their way of loving him. He kept his pets for a year. Then sharp white teeth began to come in their big mouths, and his father thought they might become dangerous playfellows, so one night they all disappeared, and Clay never saw them again. If he had been on the beach next day, he might have seen six young alligators scampering about as if they did not know what to make of their strange surroundings. I wonder if their mother knew them.—Congregationalist.

THE C. O. D. MAN'S WOES

MONEY HE EARNS GETS HIM INTO A HEAP OF TROUBLE.

He Is Taken For a Millionaire. Escapes Too Much Attention and Subscribes to Improve a Village. He Suffers For It.

[Copyright, 1902, by C. B. Lewis.]

"I AM no kicker," said the C. O. D. man as he pocketed the quarter extended to him and hitched along to make room on the park bench, "but when a dilapidated gentleman is driven too far he must turn and maintain his dignity. I was making a highway map of Wisconsin one summer when I ran across a village with a new town hall.

"There was some trouble with the painters, and I stepped in and handled a brush for fifteen days at $2 a day. I had tramped on for about thirty miles when a farmer who had had an old watch stolen from his vest hanging on a tree in a field had me arrested as the thief. I was rushed to the nearest village, asked a few questions by a justice of the peace and sent to the county jail for ninety days. In jail I was searched and the $30 found on me. This was grounds for 'suspicion,' and I was immediately haled before another justice, who tucked sixty days to the original sentence and held my cash to await a claimant. I took a week to think things over and then got word to a village lawyer, and when we had consulted together the fun began.

"Our first move was to begin a suit for damages against the farmer who had charged me with theft, and we had him badly scared within twenty-four hours. Then we went for the constable for arresting me without a warrant. We followed this with charges against the justice, who had refused me counsel, and more No. 4 was against the sheriff for not supplying his prisoners with provisions demanded by law. One of the turnkeys of the jail had slammed me around because I had refused to saw wood, and we gave him a suit for assault and battery. A writ of habeas corpus took me out of jail, and the excitement in that county beat all the circuses for twenty years. If the lawyer hadn't been taken with typhoid fever and died, we might have eventually upset the whole state government, and I would have been sure of a place in a dime museum for life. But his death called a halt. After the funeral I was waited upon by a committee, and the result was that I took a night train out of town and never stopped for 200 miles. I took with me $250 in cash and the best wishes of a thriving community, and I suppose those suits have been dropped from the docket ere this. As I said, I am no kicker, but it's well to let people know that even a tramp has rights in law."

"And did you use your money to make a new start in life?" was asked as the story seemed to be ended.

"In a way I did," smiled the C. O. D. man, "but it only brought me fresh trouble. I struck a town I rather fancied, and I bought me some clothes, engaged a front room at the inn and settled down to take a few baths at the mineral springs for my rheumatism. I hadn't put in over three days when the story got around that I was a multi-millionaire taking a quiet lay off, and individuals and committees began to call. The subscriptions I was asked to put down for churches, mill dams, railroads, schoolhouses, asylums and so on footed up tens of thousands. I could have stood these off, but the band came to serenade me every night, social parties were given in my honor, and a widow with a good deal of push to her recognized me as her long looked for affinity at first sight. She was a firm believer in the theory that matches are made in heaven, and she figured it out to a dot that the angels had killed off her husband and brought me around through the swamps and underbrush that I might take his place. I never was any good at arguing against a widow, and so I solved the matter by taking a ship. It was a mysterious disappearance on my part, and I heard afterward that they dragged the river and hunted through the swamps for my body and that the widow put on rubber boots and was foremost in the search.

"I had a few dollars of the money left, and I was not happy. Raw turnips don't taste good to a man who is financially able to buy roast beef and fried chicken, and it didn't seem to be quite the fair thing by other dilapidated gentlemen. While in this state of mind I struck a village which had six mudholes on its half mile of main street. There were wagons stuck in three of these holes as I jogged into town, and the others were occupied by stray hogs. I asked for the president of the village, who was a grocer, and when I reached his store I asked:

"How long have you lived in this town?"

"Forty-five years," he replied.

"How old are those six mudholes out there?"

"Well, I used to paddle around in 'em forty years ago."

"And hasn't the town ever made any move to fill 'em up?"

"It never has. No, them six mudholes have grown up with us and shared our joys and our sorrows, and I suppose they will continue on for another half century."

"But they must be a big nuisance," says I.

"They surely are."

"How much would it cost to fill them up with gravel?"

"Just exactly $14. I've figured it out a thousand times."

"And won't the town vote the money?"

"Never in this world."

"Would it object to my doing it?"

"I don't think so; but what's your object?"

"Just to get rid of them. Here's the money, and I'm going to hang around and see the work done."

"Well, it was done," said the C. O. D. man, "but I got into trouble over it. When those holes had been filled up there was no longer any place for the stray hogs to wallow in, and that made all the hog owners mad. There was no longer any excitement over teams getting stuck, and that hurt the feelings of others. A third party couldn't understand why a tramp should take it upon himself to do such a piece of work, and it was finally decided that I was either a lunatic or a suspicious character. They run me into the engine house, and two doctors and a committee of citizens took me in hand. The doctors probed for evidences of lunacy, and when they had finished they differed in their reports. One of them reported:

"He talks as sane as any man I ever heard, and it may simply be a case of hereditary aversion to mudholes."

"The report of the other was:

"I don't like his talk. He uses more or less Latin, and when asked what lunatic asylum he escaped from a cunning expression came to his eyes. He may not be dangerous, but it would be as well to keep an eye on him."

"The committee of townsmen fired questions at me for three straight hours," said the dilapidated, "and it ended by their solemnly shaking their heads and declaring that a tramp who had $14 to pay for filling up six mudholes in a strange town must be planning the murder of at least a dozen citizens. I was shoved into the lockup over night, and next morning a constable led me forth by the arm and saw me a mile or so on my way toward the next town. As we walked up the street I saw that all the gravel had been thrown out of those mudholes during the night and that the glad hogs had returned to their wallows. There are some things in this world you can't beat, and one of 'em is a pastoral village with hogs and mudholes picturesquely scattered about."

IS DRAGGED BY HER HORSE

ETHEL ROOSEVELT HAS FELL FROM HER SADDLE.

Clings to the Stirrup and Rescued Without Injury—Girl Cool Despite Danger.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 11.—There was almost a tragedy in the Roosevelt family yesterday. Little Ethel, out galloping with her older brothers, fell from her horse because the saddle girth slipped. She was dragged fifteen feet in the mud, and the few who witnessed the accident thought she would be killed. But her own pluck and horsemanship saved her. She got up unhurt and finished her ride with the boys.

All the Roosevelts save Baby Quentin were ready for the ride when the grooms brought up the horses after breakfast. It was pouring torrents, but nobody backed out.

"So long, see you later," yelled Teddy, Jr., to his father and mother, followed by the rest of the youngsters as they dashed into the woods at a breakneck pace.

Suddenly the girl on little Ethel's saddle slipped. Down into the mud she tumbled, clinging gamely to the reins and commanding "whoa" to her mount. The pony brought up as quickly as he could.

She fell on her right side, but so skillfully did she manage that she was not hurt. Two men were driving by and sprang out of their trap to help her just as her brother Archie dismounted, but they were all too late.

"Oh, I'm all right," laughed Ethel, brushing the mud from her habit. Archie tightened the saddle girth and Ethel mounted again and galloped off for a ten-mile run.

"Oh, look at Ethel," laughed the boys when they again met their father. "she can't ride at all!"

When he heard of the accident he looked seriously at his little girl, and when he reached home reprimanded the hostlers for sending out the horse improperly saddled. Everybody was drenched to the skin, but there was a merry luncheon for the family, and quite a color, too, in the cheeks of Mrs. Roosevelt, who has been very pale since her arrival at Oyster Bay.

PLAN BIG APARTMENT-HOUSE.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 11.—Plans have been drawn for an immense apartment-house, shops and pleasure grounds to be established on the crest of the hill near Fourth street and Bunker Hill avenue, the total cost of which is expected to reach $4,000,000. The structure is intended for wealthy tourists who do not care to pass the season at the hotels.

It is proposed to erect an immense building in Egyptian style. The rooms will be divided into suites. The corners are square and protruding and large enough to include several rooms, which will give the corners the effect of towers.

JURY CUT OFF ITS FEES.

Elkhart, Ind., July 11.—In the city court yesterday a jury heard evidence against Gustav Ludwig, accused of assaulting the wife of his brother, Alvin Ludwig, during a family quarrel arising from the act of their mother in deeding property to Gustav. The jury gave the following verdict: "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty, and recommend that he be assessed $1 fine, provided no jurors' fees are charged against him."

Though technically illegal, Judge Blake accepted the verdict, there being no protest from the defendant's attorney, and Ludwig paid the fine and costs, the latter, minus the jurors' fees, amounting to $12.70. Though all jurymen conceded that Ludwig was technically guilty, the foreman and another juror held out for the provisional verdict on the ground that Ludwig's offense was not serious enough to justify mulcting him to the full extent of the court costs.

LEAVES THE JAIL TO MARRY.

Louisville, Ky., July 11.—Albert German, under sentence of seven years in the penitentiary for embezzling from the Third National bank, was allowed to leave the jail Wednesday and marry his secretary, Miss L. Leonard Lee. When Jailer Pfanz heard of it he sent a deputy posthaste after him. The deputy broke open the door and found Rev. John K. Mason half way through the ceremony. He seized German by the arm and dragged him out of the room. Dr. Mason followed and finished the ceremony as German was being pulled out of the door. The federal judge has had the jailer arrested for contempt of court.

SHOT HIS WIFE AND HIMSELF.

Rising Sun, Ind., July 11.—George Bradford shot his wife and himself on Main street, last night, in the presence of hundreds of persons in town to attend the Sons of Veterans' camp. Mrs. Bradford's wounds are in the breast and hip. Her husband put the muzzle of his revolver at his head and fired. He was instantly killed. Mrs. Bradford is in a critical condition. Her husband's funeral will be held tomorrow morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Cornelius R. Harris. He drank heavily and recently his wife filed a suit for divorce. They had been married twenty-five years.

MONKEYED WITH THEIR GUNS

RIVER MATE TOOK ALARM AND SHOT BOTH DEAD.

Two Long-Haired Medicine Venders Pose as "Bad Men" and are Killed on Steamboat.

Davenport, Iowa, July 11.—A shooting affray on the Diamond Jo liner Dubuque, running between St. Louis and St. Paul, resulted yesterday in the death of two patent medicine sellers, who called themselves "Christopher Leonides & Son, the Long-Haired Medicine Men."

The men boarded the boat at Rock Island wearing sombreros, guns and bowties, and were soon quarreling with the crew, and finally clashed with Mate Dan Breen. The strangers wore marksmen's medals, and are said to have given shooting exhibitions, but the mate's gun was first out, and before the others got the range they were down, the older man with a bullet in the groin that came out at his back. Both died almost instantly.

QUEER LOOKING PAIR.

The men had been selling medicines in Rock Island and took passage for MacGregor, Iowa. They were a peculiar looking pair, long braided hair hanging over their shoulders, the father wearing a tawny beard. Besides their revolvers and knives each carried a blacksnake whip, with which they struck at the negro roustabouts when they came near. The passengers gave them a wide berth.

Their bullying manners led Mate Breen to suggest that they take off their belts and leave their arms with the clerk. This request brought out profane replies and motions toward their weapons that led the mate to draw and shoot. At the first shot the younger man clasped his hand to his side. "Father, let up," he cried, "I'm shot." By this time the mate's bullets had found the older man, who fell to the deck with two holes through him.

Breen was arrested, but was exonerated by a coroner's jury and released after four hours' detention. He is a veteran river man, about 55 years of age, and has a family at Dubuque.

PLEADS SELF-DEFENSE.

"It was my life or theirs," he said, after his release. "They were bad men, had been bullying the crew, called down the captain and were after me. I knew it was kill or be killed. They wanted to run the boat and we couldn't let them."

The men had been in Rock Island about three days selling their preparations, the principal one an alleged hair restorer. A license signed by Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, showed that they were in that city from May 18 to June 18 this year. A memorandum in the pocket of one of them said:

"April 9, 1902.—We are at and live at 439 Wabash avenue. We are known as Leonides & Son, the Long-Haired Medicine Men, and our main address is Central City, Colorado."

GIVES HIS WIFE TO ANOTHER.

Evansville, Ind., July 11.—After twelve years of married life, Mrs. Fred L. Ruehlmann asked her husband to permit her to join Alexander Edmondson, a railroad fireman, with whom, she said, she had fallen in love. In addition she asked for several thousand dollars as her share of her husband's estate. Failing to dissuade her, Ruehlmann told her she might go, gave her $75 and promised to sell some property and send to her the proceeds. Last night he stood in the shadow of a building and watched her and Edmondson board a train. Today Ruehlmann said he would sue for divorce. His wife and Edmondson have gone to Terre Haute.

Ruehlmann is thirty-five years old, his wife thirty and Edmondson thirty. Ruehlmann is said to be worth $30,000, and he and his wife never had a quarrel.

PERU STORY IS PREMATURE

REV. MEISSNER'S SUCCESSOR IS NOT YET CHOSEN.

Must Follow Prescribed Course in Selection—Other Diocesan News Notes.

A Peru newspaper comes forward with the announcement that Very Rev. J. H. Guendling, formerly vicar general and during the illness of Bishop Rademacher administrator of the Fort Wayne diocese, is to be appointed to succeed the late Rev. Father Meissner as pastor of the Catholic church at Peru. To a reporter for The Sentinel today Bishop Alerding stated that any such announcement was premature, though he would not deny that there was a possibility that the choice might fall upon Father Guendling.

Peru is one of the irremovable rectories of the diocese, and the mode of procedure in filling a vacancy in points of this kind differs materially from that at other points. Probably on Tuesday next the bishop will send out to the clergy the official notice of Father Meissner's death and the announcement that a vacancy exists there. No priest can be appointed to an irremovable rectory who has not been in the priesthood at least ten years, and he must have been in charge of a parish at least three years.

Within the twenty days following the bishop's notice, priests who are eligible and desire the appointment at Peru will file with the chancellor of the diocese their application, which entitles them to enter concursus. At the end of the twenty days a date is fixed for the examinations, when candidates for the place must present themselves before the diocesan examiners of the clergy, who are Rev. E. J. Heuser, D. D., of Huntington; Rev. J. H. Oechtering, of Fort Wayne, and Rev. B. Wiedau, of New Haven.

MAY ADD OTHERS.

At present there are but seven irremovable rectories in the Fort Wayne diocese—Peru, St. Mary's, Fort Wayne; Lafayette, Decatur, Mishawaka, St. Vincent's, at Logansport, and St. Peter and Paul, Huntington. The third council of Baltimore decreed that 10 per cent. of the parishes of a diocese could be promoted to irremovable rectories, and this would make it possible for four additional stations of this kind to be created in the Fort Wayne diocese, and Bishop Alerding said today that this might be done later. It is probable that the synod he held next year will take up the matter.

PARSONAGE IS BURNED.

Rev. Father Zumbulte, the veteran pastor at Hanover Center, Lake county, today notified Bishop Alerding that his parsonage was struck by lightning Wednesday evening and entirely destroyed by fire, together with all its contents, including records, library, clothing and considerable church property. Arrangements are already under way to rebuild a better home for the pastor.

The chancellor, Rev. Father Batho, who has been making a tour of Europe, writes that he will sail for home either July 26 or July 29.

The biennial retreat of the clergy of the diocese will be held at Notre Dame from August 18 to August 21, in Sorin hall.

A very excellent life-size portrait of the late Bishop Dwenger, handsomely done in oil by one of the Sisters of Providence connected with St. Augustine's academy, has just been hung in the bishop's residence.

HOMES WANTED FOR BOYS.

Humane Officer Schlaudroff is anxious to find homes in the country for three boys ranging in age from 9 to 12 years. Two of the boys are children of parents too poor to properly care for them and the other is the son of a widowed mother who cannot give him support. The boys are bright little fellows, Officer Schlaudroff says, and such as would make useful members of some farm household where they would receive kind treatment and proper rearing. Inquiries addressed to L. C. Schlaudroff, Humane officer, 82 Clinton street, this city, will receive attention.

HAD A LITTLE STRIKE.

Ten section men employed by the Fort Wayne and Southwestern on the extension west of Huntington went on strike Thursday. They object to a foreman, who, they say, works them too hard. The wage question does not enter into the difficulty.

STORY MAY BE "FAKE."

A correspondent at Marion, Ind., sends out the following interesting story: "For some time Marlon men have considered the establishment of an automobile route from this city to Huntington. For years an old stage wagon has run from here to Banquo, one of the principal towns on the road to Huntington. While the traffic on the stage route has never been large, it has always been a paying investment. Of late the business of the line has been steadily increasing, as Banquo is becoming a prosperous little town. The distance from Marion to Huntington is about thirty miles. C. A. Kurtz, of Fort Wayne, was in Marion today conferring with local men interested in the enterprise. The autos contemplated will carry fifty persons and will be operated by gasoline. Baggage wagons also will be operated." A search through the city directory reveals the existence of only one person of the name of Kurtz in Fort Wayne, and that one is a woman employed as a domestic at the Hayes hotel.

BRYAN WILL NOT BE INVITED

STATE COMMITTEE NOT TO ASK HIM TO SPEAK.

Democratic Organization Disposed to Let Him Alone—Others May Invite Him.

Indianapolis, July 11.—A member of the democratic state committee, who did not care to have his name mentioned, said yesterday that William Jennings Bryan will not be invited by the organization to make speeches in Indiana this year. This course has not been fully determined, but he said that a majority of the district chairmen are in favor of letting Bryan severely alone. If the former leader takes part in the state campaign, the chances are that the organization will not be sponsor for it.

Members of the organization have been debating among themselves whether or not Bryan ought to be invited, but since he has shown his displeasure over the platform and the endorsement of Cleveland's speech by certain Indiana leaders, a sentiment that he ought to be ignored has grown up.

The member who said the organization would not include Bryan in its list of spellbinders this year said it was possible that Bryan might be asked by some of his admirers to make a few speeches in the Second district, where he still has considerable following.

BAD SHAPE OF THE SECOND.

The Second is in so bad shape because of the bitter three-cornered fight among Miers, Davis and Wellman for congress, and the refusal of the congressional delegation to endorse Bryanism, that the party leaders will hardly be surprised at anything that is done there.

Efforts are being made to harmonize the Second, which is one of the strongest democratic districts of the state, but it is admitted that it will be difficult in three or four counties to bring the party workers together.

The state committee will have a meeting some time within the next month at which the list of speakers for the campaign will be considered. It is understood that a majority of the candidates have protested against paying any further attention to Bryan or inviting any one to make speeches who is likely to expound Bryanistic theories.

TO GRACE.

Five years ago today, dear Grace, Since thou hast faded from our sight;

Thy sunny smile, thy happy face And loving nature, kind and bright,

Are treasures in our memories. And, though unseen, we feel the thrill

Of thy sweet presence, like the breeze That brings the rose's message still;

Although the rose itself is gone— Death freed its soul. So with mankind;

God gives a human soul at dawn, As hostage, bound to earth, confined Within the body till the hour That death shall come and bring release,

And when, dear Grace, that mighty power Brought thine, we said farewells

And peace; But thou wert listening, rapt, enthralled,

To loving hosts that welcomed thee To realms above. So I, when called,

Believe my child will welcome me. —L. O. HULL.

FIVE CASES OF SMALLPOX

THESE ARE ECHOES OF THE FUELLING CASE.

All of the Patients are Children and None is in Serious State From Disease.

(From Friday's Daily.)

Five more cases of smallpox were uncovered to the health department last evening. None of the cases are serious and at least two of them are nearly recovered. Amelia, aged 5, and Emma, aged 9, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roessner, of 1108 Stophlet street, are down with mild types of the disease. The outbreak is readily traceable to the William Fuelling case, the gentleman who was married with a well developed case in stock and who was entertained at the Roessner home several Sundays ago, the entertainment being rudely interrupted by the health officer who insisted on vaccinating everybody in sight.

In the double house at 451 and 453 West Williams street three other cases were found. Eliza, aged 10, and Lester, aged 7, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Klingman are down at No. 453. The girl is just getting into the case well but the boy who has been sick over a week, is nearly completely recovered.

Robert Barbar, aged 8, living in the other end of the house is practically over the disease. In none of the latter cases was a physician called until last night when Dr. Wnslen was called to treat the Klingman girl who is quite ill. The parents of the children did not know and did not even suspect that they were suffering from smallpox.

As stated, none of the cases is serious.

Quarantine was today raised on the home of Miss Shujaker, at the corner of Main and Lafayette streets, the young woman being entirely recovered. Francis Chanton, who has been at the isolation hospital for several weeks is far enough recovered to be discharged today and will be brought to the city and installed as nurse at the Labbe residence on Madison street, where two cases were discovered yesterday.

HORSES KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

A fine team of horses, belonging to Henry Dobbins, of Sheldon, was killed by lightning during the severe storm on Wednesday afternoon. When the storm came up Mr. Dobbins made haste to get his team under shelter in the barn and had left the building but a few minutes when a lightning bolt came through the roof, badly damaging the barn and instantly killing the horses. A large barn on the Blackhawk farm, northwest of the city, was also struck during the storm, and a herd of about 100 cows was badly shocked, some of the animals being thrown to the ground. When milked a short time afterward only a few quarts of milk were secured from the entire herd.

REUNION OF COLLEGE CIRCLE.

Six of the original twelve members of the M. E. Circle of Correspondence, organized years ago in the old M. E. college, attended the reunion given Thursday at the Randall hotel. They were W. H. Turner, of Detroit, a son of Harvey K. Turner, of this county; Mrs. Dr. J. W. Cartwright, of Payne, O.; Mrs. D. A. Walmer and J. W. Goodyear, of Bluffton; Dr. J. T. Dickes, of Fortland, and Mrs. M. A. Mason, of this city. When the Circle was formed twenty years ago the members adopted a plan to keep in touch with one another in the years to come. One member was to write a letter on one sheet of paper and forward it to another member, who was to add a sheet and send it on and to continue the Circle until the letters came back to the first sender, who detached his sheet and sent the others on until all had read the letters of the Circle, and reunions are held every two years, the next being held in Bluffton. Several members of the Circle were accompanied by members of their family and fourteen sat down to the banquet.

CANADA GREATLY SURPRISED

COMPLAINT OF THE UNITED STATES UNFOUNDED.

Cases of Gaynor and Greene Delayed Only So Far as the Law Makes it Possible.

Toronto, Ont., July 11.—A dispatch to the Globe, government organ, from Ottawa, says:

Surprise is expressed here at the complaint by a legal representative of the United States that vexatious delays have occurred in connection with the extradition of Messrs. Gaynor and Greene, and the reported intention of the Washington authorities to complain to the imperial government is scarcely credited. The case is in the courts, and if counsel for the prisoners take advantage of the technicalities in the interest of their clients delays are unavoidable. But for this, perhaps, the federal authorities are not to be held responsible. The law clearly sets forth the course to be followed in an extradition case. Judgment must be rendered in accordance with the facts brought out. Should the evidence justify a commitment for extradition the judge or extradition commissioner forwards the evidence to the department of justice at Ottawa, together with his report, when the latter issues a warrant for extradition. The department has no right to intervene unless the offence for which extradition is sought is a political one. If sufficient grounds for the extradition of the accused can be established the two men will be handed over in due course.

JUDGE OLDS SAYS IT'S BOSH

QUEER STORY COMES FROM INDIANAPOLIS.

Reply in Lawsuit Says Southwestern is Figuring on Lighting Plant Here.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Indianapolis, Ind., July 11.—In the plaintiff's reply filed today in the case of Townsend, Reed & Co., vs. the Fort Wayne and Southwestern Traction company, the terms of sale and agreement are given under which the constructing company sold the road to its present owners. It is alleged as a part of the agreement that the Fort Wayne and Southwestern company figures on building lines to Marion and Lafayette, and to also operate an electric lighting plant at Fort Wayne.

General Manager Nelson was out of the city this afternoon, but when a reporter for The Sentinel submitted the above telegram to Judge Walter Olds, one of the attorneys for the Southwestern, Judge Olds pronounced the electric lighting idea all bosh. The suit of Townsend, Reed & Co. is for a sum of money alleged to be due them for completing the line to Huntington after its sale to the McKinley syndicate. The idea of building a line to Marion has long been under consideration.
